BIOGRAPHIES OF GENERAL OFFICERS.

LOUIS ANNIN AMES,

PRESIDENT GENERAL.

LOUIS ANNIN AMES, New York City, N. Y., elected President General at the Rochester, N. Y., Congress, was born on the Island of St. Helena, South Carolina, September 5, 1866. He was the only child of Jacob Meech and Phebe Annin Ames. Compatriot Ames' early ancestors on his paternal side left Baintree, England, and settled in Preston, Conn., in 1629, and on his maternal side left Annan, Scotland, and settled at Annin Corners (now Liberty Corners), New Jersey, in 1732. His membership in the Society is claimed by service of Caleb Tyler Ames, who enlisted at the Lexington Alarm, and Joshua Meech, who enlisted at the Lexington Alarm in the Sixth Connecticut regiment, marched to Boston, and served until wounded in April, 1777, and William Annin, a member of the Provincial Congress and Council of Safety of the State of New Jersey, 1775. His membership in the Sons of the American Revolution dates from August 21, 1896, when he became a member of the New Jersey Society. In the latter part of 1906 he joined the Empire State Society, was for 10 years on its Board of Managers, served two years as Secretary, two years as Vice-President, and is now serving his sixth term as President of that Society.

His interest in patriotic organizations is not confined alone to the Sons of the American Revolution. Mr. Ames has been Secretary General of the General Court of the Order of the Founders and Patriots of America and served as a Councillor and on committees of the New York Society of the Order of the Founders and Patriots of America. He is also a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the Washington Continental Guard, Sons of the Revolution, Society of American Wars, an Associate of the Grand Army of the Republic, a member of the Society of Real Americans, Vice-President of the American Flag Association, Director of the Betsy Ross Home and Memorial Association, and a member of the Union Society of the Civil War. Mr. Ames is also a member of the St. Andrews', St. Nicholas', and New York Historical societies. He is active in the National Marine League, Navy League, a Director of the American Institute of Civics, a member of the American Scenic and Historical Society, Commissioner of the Naval and Marine Scouts, a member of the National Security League, and the American Defense Society.

In civic matters he was the Vice-President of the Hudson-Fulton celebration, Vice-President of the New York Tercentenary celebration, and for eight years was Chairman of the Manhattan Safe and Sane

Fourth of July celebrations. He was appointed by the Governor of New York State as its representative to the Star Spangled Banner Centennial, in Baltimore, in 1914. Mr. Ames is on the Executive Committee of the New York Americanization Committee and is a member of the Mayor's Defense Committee.

He has taken a deep interest in religious movements. He is a Trustee of the Universalist General Convention, former President and now a Trustee of the New York State Convention of Universalists, served four terms as President of the Universalist Club of New York and of the Sunday School Institution of New York State, and was for five years President of the National Young People's Christian Union. He is Chairman of the Trustees of the Volunteer Hospital and a Trustee of the Brevoort Mission.

Mr. Ames is actively engaged in business as President of Annin & Company, flag manufacturers, New York, and President of the Old Glory Realty Company.

He is a member of many commercial bodies, including the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' Association, Downtown League, and Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen. He is also a member of the Army and Navy, Fulton, National Arts, Universalist, Cosmos, Essex Falls Country, and Twilight clubs, the Motor Boat Club of America, and Kane Lodge, No. 454, F. A. A. M.

Mrs. Ames is also active in patriotic societies, being a member of the Committee of Safety of the Daughters of the American Revolution and is on the Board of the Patriotic Women of America.

CHARLES FRENCH READ,

Vice-President General for New England District.

Charles French Read, of Brookline, Mass., elected Vice-President General for the District of New England at the Rochester Congress, was born in Boston, Mass., September 17, 1853. He is the fourth son of William Read (A. B., Dartmouth, 1839; M. D., Harvard, 1842) and Sarah A. F. (McLellan) Read. His ancestry is from the early Puritan and Scotch-Irish settlers of New England.

He became a member of the Massachusetts Society in 1900; was Historian from 1907 to 1909, Vice-President from 1915 to 1918, and was elected President on April 19, 1918. His membership is derived as a great-grandson of William Read (1754-1834), of Amherst, N. H., present as a Corporal at Bunker Hill; as a great-grandson of Alexander McLellan (1742-1779), of Gorham, Maine, Captain of the Gorham Company in the ill-fated Bagaduce Expedition; Captain McLellan's death was caused by exposure in the retreat with his company to Gorham; and as a great-grandson of William Hull (1753-1825), of Derby, Conn., and Newton, Mass., Captain of the Derby Company which marched to Cambridge in 1775. Throughout the Revolution Captain McLellan's services were constant and valuable, and at its close he commanded, as

Mr. Read was educated in the Boston public schools and at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. After being engaged in business for a number of years, he became, in 1899, Secretary and Treasurer of the Bostonian Society, which has its home in the historic Old State House.

Mr. Read is a director or member of many patriotic and historical societies. He married on October 24, 1887, Mary B. Comer, daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth (Bickerstaff) Comer. They have two children, Harold C. Read, a member of the Massachusetts Society, S. A. R., and Edith B. Read. A grandson, Robert S. Read, is a member of the Washington Guard, S. A. R.

THOMAS WRIGHT WILLIAMS,

VICE-PRESIDENT GENERAL FOR MIDDLE AND COAST DISTRICT.

THOMAS WRIGHT WILLIAMS, of East Orange, N. J., elected Vice-President General at the Newark Congress in 1916 and re-elected at Rochester in 1918, was born at Princeton, N. J., January 31, 1854, a son of George Washington and Amy Olden (Wright) Williams. He joined the New Jersey Society May 20, 1893, through the services of his great-grandfather, John Van Tassel, of Tarrytown, N. Y., a private in Col. James Hammond's Regiment of New York Militia.

Thomas Wright Williams received his education in Grammar School No. 35, New York City (the famous Thomas Hunter School), and entered the College of the City of New York in 1870. He then engaged in commercial business in New York City, and in 1878 assisted in organizing the Bissell Carpet Sweeper Company, of Grand Rapids, Mich., of which company he is Vice-President, Eastern and Foreign Manager, with offices in New York City.

Mr. Williams served on the National Executive Committee in 1912 and 1914. He was Trustee to the National Society from New Jersey in 1913; Vice-President of the New Jersey Society in 1909, 1910, 1911, and 1912, and President of the Orange Chapter in 1905. He served on the National Committee of Fifteen on the Celebration of Washington's Journey from Philadelphia to Cambridge, 1775. Mr. Williams is a member of the Council of the New Jersey Society of the Colonial Wars, member of the New Jersey Historical Society, member of the Board of Managers of the New England Society of Orange, and of the Board of Managers of the Thomas Hunter Association of New York City; member of the Hardware Club of New York City and of the Republican Club of Orange.

Mr. Williams's son, Thomas Wright Williams, Jr., and his sons-in-law, Graham King and Philip Osborne, became members of the Society in 1911.

ALBERT McKEE HENRY,

VICE-PRESIDENT GENERAL FOR MISSISSIPPI VALLEY—EAST DISTRICT.

ALBERT MCKEE HENRY, of Detroit, Mich., elected Vice-President General at Rochester Congress on May 21, 1918, was born in Grand Rapids, Mich., September 20, 1845. Graduated at the University of Michigan (B. S., 1867; M. S., 1870). Admitted to the bar at Omaha, Nebr., where he practiced from 1869 to 1875, when he removed to Detroit, Mich.

He is a great-grandson of Eli Brownson, Lieutenant in Vermont Militia, and was admitted to this Society October 25, 1895; was elected Delegate to the Annual Congress in 1906 and every Congress since that time; Chairman of Committee on Arrangements for the Twenty-eighth Annual Congress, 1917; Chairman of Committee on Organization (Mississippi Valley—East), 1915-1916; member of Executive Committee, 1914 to date; member of Board of Trustees of the National Society, 1910 to date; member of Credentials Committee, 1912; member of Committee on Finance, 1911; Chairman of Committee on Arrangements for the Twenty-ninth Annual Congress, 1918; Chairman of Committee on Resolutions for the Twenty-ninth Annual Congress; Vice-President General for the Mississippi Valley, East District, 1918; Chairman of Committee on Arrangements for the Thirtieth Congress, 1919. He was Vice-President of the Michigan Society in 1909 and President of that Society from 1913 to 1916.

Mr. Henry married, in 1875, Frances Mary Burns, of Detroit, Mich., who deceased in 1879. He has two children, Burns Henry, who is a member of this Society, and Edith Henry, who married Edwin S. Barbour, a member of this Society.

FRANK W. RAWLES,

VICE-PRESIDENT GENERAL FOR MISSISSIPPI VALLEY—WEST DISTRICT.

Frank W. Rawles, of Little Rock, Ark., lawyer, was elected Vice-President General for Mississippi Valley, West District, by the National Executive Committee in place of C. Robt. Churchill, elected by the Rochester Congress but did not accept the office. Mr. Rawles was born in Lima, Ind., October 30, 1856, and became a member of the Sons of the American Revolution in 1901 as great-great-grandson of Samuel Hitchcock, private in Col. John Brewer's and other Mass. Regts. He has been President of the Arkansas Society since 1907.

THOMAS ALLEN PERKINS,

VICE-PRESIDENT GENERAL, FOR MOUNTAIN AND PACIFIC DISTRICT.

THOMAS ALLEN PERKINS, of San Francisco, Cal., elected Vice-President General at the Rochester Congress, was born in Wells, York County, Maine, son of Samuel Hanscom and Sarah (Allen) Perkins.

He was educated in the public schools of Maine and New Hampshire, graduated from Berwick Academy, Dartmouth College, University of California, and Hastings College of the Law. Removed to California in 1892, was admitted to the California bar in 1894, and has since practiced law in San Francisco.

He is a Royal Arch Mason, thirty-second degree Scottish Rite Mason, member of the Mystic Shrine and Masonic Club and College fraternities of Alpha Delta Phi and Phi Delta Phi.

He became a member of the California Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in 1896 and has held all offices in the Society except Treasurer; is now Secretary and Registrar and National Trustee from the State.

His Revolutionary ancestor was Jacob Allen, who served one year and eight months in New Hampshire troops, Continental Army, and was wounded in service. His father and mother were Quakers; he was reared in the Quaker Church, and after the war returned and married a prominent member of the church.

Among his Puritan ancestors were Sergeant John Perkins, of Ipswich, Mass., through whom he became a member of the Society of Colonial Wars; Rev. John Cotton, Judge Thomas Bradbury, Major Robert Pike, Deputy Governor George Cleeves, first settler of Portland in 1630; Governor Thomas Roberts, of New Hampshire. Twenty of his ancestors served in the colonial wars; they were among the first settlers in the Massachusetts Colony and New Hampshire.

A. HOWARD CLARK,

Secretary General and Registrar General.

A. Howard Clark became a member of the District of Columbia Society at its organization, in 1890, was elected Assistant Registrar May 5, 1890, and was one of its Secretaries from 1891 to 1893. He was Secretary General of the National Society in 1892, and has been Registrar General since 1893. Since 1904 he has also served as Secretary General.

He was born in Boston April 13, 1850. His ancestors in the Revolution were Enoch Clark, Enoch Hall, Captain Thomas Jenner Carnes, and Maj. Edward Carnes, of the Massachusetts Militia and Continental Army.

Chester Morrow Clark, his older son, is also a member of the Society; and his younger son, Howard Sears Perry Clark, is a member of The Washington Guard. His wife, Alice Morrow Clark, was one of the eighteen original organizers of the Daughters of the American Revolution, October 11, 1890; its Registrar General, 1890-1892; Corresponding Secretary General, 1893; Vice-President General, 1894, and in 1895 was elected Honorary Vice-President General for life.

Mr. Clark was of the class of 1881 at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., and that university gave him the honorary degree of Master of Arts in 1906.

He engaged in commercial business in New York City from 1867 to 1875; in 1879 was assistant on the United States Fish Commission and later expert on the Tenth Census. Since 1881 he has been connected with the Smithsonian Institution as Curator of the Division of History in the National Museum and as editor of the publications of the Institution. In 1883 he served on the Executive Staff of the United States Commission at the International Fisheries Exposition in London, and was United States Expert Commissioner to the Paris Exposition of 1889, by appointment of President Cleveland, when he was honored by order of President Carnot with the decoration of Officier du Mérite Agricole of France. He was a member of the International Geographical Congress at Paris in 1889.

He is Herald of the Baronial Order of Runnymede (descendants of sureties of the Magna Charta), Archivist General of the National Society of Americans of Royal Descent, Governor of the Society of Mayflower Descendants in the District of Columbia, member of the Society of Colonial Wars, corresponding member of the California Genealogical Society, and a member of The Cosmos Club at Washington; from 1889 to 1908 was Secretary, and is now Curator, of the American Historical Association.

JOHN HARRIS BURROUGHS,

Treasurer General.

John Harris Burroughs was born at Trenton, N. J., April 17, 1849, son of Charles Burroughs, who served as mayor of Trenton for fifteen consecutive years—from 1832 until 1847—who was also judge of the Court of Common Pleas for Mercer County, N. J., for sixteen years. John Burroughs, the grandfather of the subject of this sketch, was active in the Revolutionary War from the latter part of 1776 until the surrender of Cornwallis at the battle of Yorktown, in 1781. Mr. Burroughs is descended from John Burroughs, who settled in Newtown, Long Island, in 1653, with other English colonists. In the capacity of Treasurer, Vice-President, and President, he has served the Union League Club, Brooklyn, N Y., in which city he has resided since 1865. He was President of the Empire State Society in 1910 and 1911. He has associated with him his son, Harris S. Burroughs, dealing in commercial paper and bank stocks in New York City, in which business Mr. Burroughs has been engaged since 1874.

He was elected Treasurer General at the Baltimore Congress, in 1909, and re-elected at each succeeding Congress.

LIEUT. GEORGE CARPENTER ARNOLD,

Historian General.

George Carpenter Arnold, of Providence, R. I., First Lieutenant, Company C, 1st Regiment of Infantry, Rhode Island Militia, elected Historian General at the Rochester Congress May 21, 1918, was born at Providence July 31, 1868, son of William Rhodes and Sarah Hill (Carpenter) Arnold. His ancestry runs without break back to the Puritan immigration, William Arnold, the emigrant, being mentioned in Lincoln's history of Hingham, Mass. In 1635 William Arnold and family left Somersetshire, England, and came to New England. After residing a short time at Hingham, he became associated, in 1636, with Roger Williams and others in the purchase from the Indian Sachems, Conanicus and Miantonomi, of land at Mooshausic, afterward called Providence, and received grants of land from Williams. His initials, "W. A.," are second on the famous Indian deed of Roger Williams. His real estate was mostly in Providence, Pawtuxet, and Warwick, R. I. One hundred and twenty acres of the original grant (including a 27-acre lake) at Warwick, R. I., is now owned by the subject of this sketch, the ancestral home, built in 1771 (by his great^2-grandfather, George Arnold), being used by him as a summer residence.

Lieutenant Arnold became a charter member of the Rhode Island Society, S. A. R., February 1, 1890, his eligibility in the Society being derived from the following ancestors: Great^3-grandson of James Arnold, of Providence, First Lieutenant, 1776, Captain-Lieutenant, 1778, of Kent County, Rhode Island Militia, member of Council of War, signer of the Declaration of Independence of Rhode Island, 1776. Great^2-grandson of Robert Rhodes, of Pawtuxet, R. I., recruiting officer for town of Warwick, 1777; in 1778-1779 Captain of Warwick Alarm Company. Great^3-grandson of James Rhodes, of Warwick, Deputy in General Assembly, 1760, 1766, 1770 to 1773, and 1777. Great^2-grandson of Joseph Carpenter, of Uxbridge, Mass., private, Lieut. James Chapman's Company of Minute Men (Capt. Jos. Chapin), which marched on the Alarm of April 19, 1775; enlisted again in Colonel Wade's regiment, Capt. Edw. Seagraves's Company, June 19, 1778, Rhode Island Alarm; discharged July 19, 1778. Great^2-grandson of Josiah Wood, of Northbridge, Mass., Captain in Lexington Alarm, April 19, 1775; commissioned Captain of the 7th Company, Col. Ezra Wood's (3d Worcester County) regiment of Massachusetts Militia, July 9, 1776. Great^3-grandson of Jeremiah Finney, Bristol, R. I., private, Capt. Ezra Ormsbee's Company, May 28, 1778; Bristol County Alarm Company, October, 1779; Senior Class Company, Bristol County, July 30, 1780.

Lieutenant Arnold received his education in the schools of his native city and at the Episcopal Military Academy of Cheshire, Conn., class of 1887.

In November, 1887, he joined Company C, 1st Regiment of Infantry, Rhode Island Militia; was elected Corporal, 1889; Second Lieutenant, 1890; First Lieutenant, 1891, 1892, 1893, and 1894. For nearly a quarter of a century he was engaged in the worsted yarn business. He is President and Treasurer of the Possnegansett Ice Company; Treasurer and Director of the Arnold Real Estate Company; Treasurer of the Arnold Numismatic Company; Director of the Central Real Estate Company and of the Providence Realty Company; Treasurer of the Motor League of Rhode Island; Treasurer of the Society of Descendants of the Founders of Providence Plantations. He is the author of several books—one treating on Numismatics (of which he is an authority)—and publisher of the "Genealogical Tree of the Arnold Family, embracing nearly thirty generations, from 1100 A. D."

He married Flora Etta Richards December 14, 1892, by whom he has three sons: Lincoln Richards Arnold, Brown University, Class of 1916; Philip Rhodes Arnold, Amherst College, Class of 1918, and George Carpenter Arnold, Jr., Dartmouth College, Class of 1918.

LEE S. McCOLLESTER, D. D.,

Chaplain General.

Lee S. McCollester, D. D., elected Chaplain General at the Rochester Congress in 1918, was born in Westmoreland, N. H., on the Connecticut River, in 1859. He is the son of Rev. S. H. McCollester, D. D., minister, college president, traveler, and author. His mother was Fanny Sophia Knight, of Windham County, Vermont, a descendant of a loyal colonial family. Dr. McCollester traces his lineage from Capt. Isaac MacAllister, who was one of the first settlers of Cheshire County, N. H., and an officer in the colonial wars.

Dr. McCollester was educated in the city schools of Nashua, N. H.; Buchtel College, Akron, Ohio, and Tufts College, Massachusetts. He graduated from Tufts College in 1881 and from the Theological School in 1884. He has traveled extensively and studied abroad and has been active in religious and educational affairs. His first pastorate was in Claremont, N. H., of three years, where he married Miss Lizzie S. Parker, daughter of ex-Congressman Hosea W. Parker. In 1889 he took the pastorate of the Church of Our Father, Detroit, Mich., and remained there twenty-four years, becoming a leader in the religious, educational, and civic interests of the city and State. He was a thirty-second degree Mason, a member of Detroit Commandery, No. 1, Knights Templar, and for ten years its prelate. He held successively the offices of Chaplain, Vice-President, and President of the State Society, S. A. R., of Michigan, and was also at the time of his leaving Michigan the Chaplain of the Society of Colonial Wars. In 1912 he left Detroit to become the Dean of Crane Theological School, Tufts College. He is now serving a second term of two years as the President of the Universalist General Convention, and for several years has been chairman of its Board of Trustees He is still a member of the Michigan Society S. A. R., and also of the Massachusetts Society, and an honorary member of the Essex Chapter of Lynn.

Joslin, of Rhode Island; John Paul Earnest, of Washington, District of Columbia; A. S. Hubbard, of California, and all such other persons as may from time to time be associated with them, and their successors, are hereby constituted a body corporate and politic, in the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, by the name of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

SEC. 2. That the purposes and objects of said corporation are declared to be patriotic, historical, and educational, and shall include those intended or designed to perpetuate the memory of the men who, by their services or sacrifices during the war of the American Revolution, achieved the independence of the American people; to unite and promote fellowship among their descendants; to inspire them and the community at large with a more profound reverence for the principles of the government founded by our forefathers; to encourage historical research in relation to the American Revolution; to acquire and preserve the records of the individual services of the patriots of the war, as well as documents, relics, and landmarks; to mark the scenes of the Revolution by appropriate memorials; to celebrate the anniversaries of the prominent events of the war and of the Revolutionary period; to foster true patriotism; to maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom, and to carry out the purposes expressed in the preamble to the Constitution of our country and the injunctions of Washington in his farewell address to the American people.

SEC. 3. That said corporation shall have power to receive, purchase, hold, sell, and convey real and personal estate, so far only as may be necessary or convenient for its lawful purposes, to an amount not exceeding at any one time in the aggregate five hundred thousand dollars; to sue and be sued, complain and defend in any court; to adopt a common seal, and to alter the same at pleasure; to make and adopt a constitution, by-laws, rules, and regulations for admission, government, suspension, and expulsion of its members, and from time to time to alter and repeal such constitution, by-laws, rules, and regulations, and to adopt others in their places; to provide for the election of its officers and to define their duties; to provide for State Societies or Chapters with rules for their conduct, and to regulate and provide for the management, safe-keeping, and protection of its property and funds: Provided always, That such constitution, by-laws, rules, and regulations be not inconsistent with the laws of the United States or any of the States thereof.

SEC. 4. That the property and affairs of said corporation shall be managed by not more than sixty nor less than forty trustees, who shall be elected annually at such time as shall be fixed in the by-laws, and at least one trustee shall be elected annually from a list of nominees to be made by each of the State Societies and submitted to this Society at least thirty days before the annual meeting, in accordance with general provisions regulating such nominations as may be adopted by this Society.

SEC. 5. That the first meeting of this corporation shall be held on a call issued by any fifteen of the above-named corporators by a written notice signed by them, stating the time and place of meeting, addressed to each of the corporators personally named herein and deposited in the post-office at least five days before the day of meeting.

SEC. 6. That this charter shall take effect upon its being accepted by a majority vote of the corporators named herein who shall be present at said meeting, or at any other meeting specially called for that purpose; and notice of such acceptance shall be given by said corporation by causing a certificate to that effect signed by its President and Secretary to be filed in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 7. That Congress reserves the right to alter, amend, or repeal this act.

J. G. CANNON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
CHAS. W. FAIRBANKS,
Vice-President of the United States and President of the Senate.

Approved June 9, 1906.

CONSTITUTION

OF

The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution

(Adopted at the Denver Congress, June 3, 1907; amended at Toledo Congress, May 2, 1910; at Louisville Congress, May 2, 1911; and at Rochester Congress, May 20, 1918.)

Article I.—Name.

The name of this organization shall be "The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution."

Article II.—Purposes and Objects.

The purposes and objects of this Society are declared to be patriotic, historical, and educational, and shall include those intended or designed to perpetuate the memory of the men who, by their services or sacrifices during the war of the American Revolution, achieved the independence of the American people; to unite and promote fellowship among their descendants; to inspire them and the community at large with a more profound reverence for the principles of the government founded by our forefathers; to encourage historical research in relation to the American Revolution; to acquire and preserve the records of the individual services of the patriots of the war, as well as documents, relics, and landmarks; to mark the scenes of the Revolution by appropriate memorials; to celebrate the anniversaries of the prominent events of the war and of the Revolutionary period; to foster true patriotism; to maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom, and to carry out the purposes expressed in the preamble of the Constitution of our country and the injunctions of Washington in his farewell address to the American people.

Article III.—Membership.

Section 1. Any man shall be eligible to membership in the Society who, being of the age of twenty-one years or over, and a citizen of good repute in the community, is the lineal descendant of an ancestor who was at all times unfailing in his loyalty to, and rendered active service in, the cause of American Independence, either as an officer, soldier, seaman, marine, militiaman, or minute man, in the armed forces of the Continental Congress, or of any one of the several Colonies or States, or as a signer of the Declaration of Independence; or as a member of a Committee of Safety or Correspondence; or as a member of any Continental, Provincial, or Colonial Congress or Legislature; or as a recognized patriot who performed actual service by overt acts of resistance to the authority of Great Britain.

SECTION 2. No one shall be entitled to membership in any State Society who has previously been a member of any other State Society and dropped for the non-payment of dues, until the indebtedness of such individual to the first Society shall have been adjusted.

SECTION 3. Applications for membership shall be made to any State Society, in duplicate, upon blank forms prescribed by the Board of Trustees, and shall in each case set forth the name, occupation, and residence of the applicant, line of descent, and the name, residence, and services of his ancestor or ancestors in the Revolution, from whom he derives eligibility.

The applicant shall make oath that the statements of his application are true, to the best of his knowledge and belief.

Upon the approval of an application by the State Society to which it is made, one copy shall be transmitted to the Registrar General of the National Society, who shall examine further the eligibility of the applicant. If satisfied that the member is not eligible, he shall return the application for correction.

Until the State Society shall satisfy the Registrar General of the eligibility of such applicant, his name shall not be placed on the roll of membership.

SECTION 4. The official designation of the members of The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution shall be "Compatriots."

ARTICLE IV.—NATIONAL AND STATE SOCIETIES.

SECTION 1. The National Society shall embrace all the members of the State Societies of the Sons of the American Revolution now existing or which may hereafter be established under this Constitution.

SECTION 2. Whenever in any State or Territory in which a State Society does not exist, or in which a State Society has become inactive, or failed for two years to pay its annual dues to the National Society, fifteen or more persons duly qualified for membership in this Society may associate themselves as a State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and organize in accordance with this Constitution, they may be admitted by the Board of Trustees to the National Society as "The —— Society of the Sons of the American Revolution," and shall thereafter have exclusive local jurisdiction in the State or Territory or in the District in which they are organized, subject to the provisions of this Constitution, but this provision shall not be construed so as to exclude the admission of candidates residing in other States.

SECTION 3. Each State Society shall judge of the qualifications of its members and of those proposed for membership, subject to the provisions of this Constitution, and shall regulate all matters pertaining to its own affairs. It shall have authority to establish local Chapters within its own jurisdiction, and to endow the Chapters with such power as it may deem proper, not inconsistent with the charter of the National Society or with this Constitution. It shall have authority, after due notice and impartial trial, to expel any member who, by conduct unbecoming a gentleman, shall render himself unworthy to remain a member of the Society.

SECTION 4. Each State Society shall submit to the Annual Congress of the National Society a report, setting forth by name the additions, transfers and deaths, and any other changes in the membership, and the progress of the State Society during the preceding year, and making such suggestions as it shall deem proper for the promotion of the objects of the National Society.

SECTION 5. Whenever a member in good standing in his Society shall change his residence from the jurisdiction of the State Society of which he is a member to that of another, he shall be entitled, if he so elects, to a certificate of honorable demission from his own State Society, in order that he may be transferred to the State Society to whose jurisdiction he shall have changed his residence: Provided, That his membership shall continue in the former until he shall have been elected a member of the latter.

Each State Society shall, however, retain full control of the admission of members by transfer.

SECTION 6. Whenever the word "State" occurs in this Constitution, it shall be held to include within its meaning the District of Columbia and the Territories of the United States.

SECTION 7. A Society may be formed in any foreign country by fifteen or more persons who are eligible to membership under this Constitution, which shall bear the same relation to the national organization as the State Society, subject to the provisions of this Constitution.

ARTICLE V.—OFFICERS AND TRUSTEES.

SECTION 1. The General Officers of the National Society shall be a President General, five Vice-Presidents General, a Secretary General, Treasurer General, Registrar General, Historian General, and Chaplain General, who shall be elected by ballot by a vote of a majority of the members present and entitled to vote at the annual meeting of the Congress of the National Society, and shall hold office for one year and until their successors shall be elected and qualified.

In case of the death or disability of any of the above officers, the Executive Committee is empowered to elect a successor to fill the unexpired term.

In the election of the five Vice-Presidents General one shall be chosen from each of five districts, as follows:

(1) New England District: (Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut).

(2) Middle and Coast District: (New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida).

(3) Mississippi Valley, East District: (Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi).

(4) Mississippi Valley, West District: (Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas).

(5) Mountain and Pacific District: (Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Oregon, Washington, California, Hawaii, Philippines).

The boundaries of the said districts may be changed by vote of the Executive Committee.

SECTION 2. The General Officers provided for in section 1, together with one member from each State Society, shall constitute the Board of Trustees of the National Society. Such Trustees from each of the several State Societies shall be elected annually at the Congress of the National Society, upon the nomination, or from a list of nominees, to be made by each of the State Societies and submitted to the National Society by the filing thereof with the Secretary of the National Society at least thirty days before the meeting of the Annual Congress of the National Society. And in the event that any one or more of the State Societies shall omit or neglect to make such nominations or submit said list of nominees, by the time herein required, then the President of the State Society so in default shall, virtute officii, be chosen as and become the representative of his State Society upon said Board.

SECTION 3. The Board of Trustees shall have charge of, and be charged with the care and custody of, all property belonging to the National Society, and to that end shall be vested with the powers conferred by section 3 of the Act of Incorporation of the National Society: Provided, however, That it shall not have the power to sell, convey, or in anywise encumber any real estate belonging to the Society without the assent of three-fourths of the members of said Board. The Board of Trustees shall also have authority to adopt and promulgate the By-Laws of the National Society, to prescribe the duties of the General Officers, to provide the seal, to designate and make regulations for the issue of the insignia, and to transact the general business of the National Society during the intervals between the sessions of the Congress.

Meetings of the Board of Trustees may be held at the call of the President General. Meetings shall be called at the request of seven members. At such meetings seven shall constitute a quorum.

SECTION 4. An executive committee of seven, consisting of the President General as chairman, and six members to be nominated by him and approved by the Board of Trustees, shall, in the interim between the meetings of the Board, transact such business as may be delegated to it by a Congress of the Society or the Board of Trustees.

ARTICLE VI.—DUES.

Each State Society shall pay annually to the Treasurer General, to defray the expenses of the National Society, fifty cents for each active member thereof, unless intermitted by the National Congress.

All such dues shall be paid on or before the first day of April in each year for the ensuing year, in order to secure representation in the Congress of the National Society.

Article VII.—Meetings and Elections.

Section 1. The Annual Congress of the National Society for the election of the General Officers and for the transaction of business shall be held on the third Monday of May in each year. The place of such meeting shall be designated by the Board of Trustees.

Section 2. Special meetings of the Congress may be called by the President General, and shall be called by him when directed so to do by the Board of Trustees, or whenever requested in writing so to do by at least five State Societies, on giving thirty days' notice, specifying the time and place of such meeting and the business to be transacted.

Section 3. The following shall be members of all such annual or special meetings of the Congress, and shall be entitled to vote therein:

(1) All the General Officers and the ex-Presidents General of the National Society.

(2) The members of the Board of Trustees and the President or Senior Vice-President of each State Society.

(3) One delegate at large from each State Society.

(4) One delegate from every fifty members of the Society within a State and for a fraction of twenty-five or over.

Section 4. After the adjournment of the Eighteenth Annual Congress of this Society, State Societies shall be represented at meetings of the National Society only by members of their own State Society, either duly elected, or who in the absence of regularly elected delegates, may be chosen by the regularly elected attending delegates of such State Society from the members of such State Society who may be present at any meeting of the National Society.

Article VIII.—Permanent Fund.

Section 1. There shall be created and maintained a Permanent Fund of the Society, the income or interest from which shall be covered into the general treasury of the Society and available for the general purposes of the Society, but the principal of which shall be maintained intact, and shall only be used or diminished upon the unanimous recommendation of the Executive Committee, approved by the Board of Trustees, and ratified by a four-fifths vote of the delegates present at the annual or special Congress to which such recommendation of the Executive Committee shall be reported.

Section 2. The Permanent Fund shall be composed of all legacies or donations to the Society, where no other application of the funds is designated by the testator or donor, all commissions received from the sales of badges, rosettes and ribbon, and such sum or sums as may from time to time by the Executive Committee be transferred to such fund from the general funds of the Society.

SECTION 3. The permanent fund shall be invested in securities authorized to be held by Savings Banks in Massachusetts, Connecticut, or New York, and any premium paid in purchasing such securities shall be repaid from the first income received.

ARTICLE IX.—AMENDMENTS.

This Constitution may be altered or amended at any meeting of the Congress of the National Society: Provided, That sixty days' notice of the proposed alterations or amendments, which shall first have been recommended by a State Society, or by a prior Congress, or by the Board of Trustees, or by the Executive Committee of the National Society, shall be sent by the Secretary General to the President of each State Society.

A vote of two-thirds of those present shall be necessary to their adoption.

ARTICLE X.

This Constitution shall take effect upon its adoption.

BY-LAWS

OF

The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution

(Adopted at Denver Congress, June 3, 1907; amended at Boston Congress, May 20-22, 1912; at Portland Congress, July 20, 1915; and at Rochester Congress, 1918.)

Article I.—Election of Officers.

All nominations of General Officers shall be made from the floor, and the election shall be by ballot. A majority shall elect. The nominations may be acted upon directly or may be referred to a committee to examine and report.

Article II.—Officers.

The duties of the General Officers shall be such as usually appertain to their offices, and they shall have such other duties as are hereinafter imposed or shall be delegated to them by an annual Congress or by the Board of Trustees.

They shall report at the annual meeting, and at such other times as they may be required to do so by the Board of Trustees.

Article III.—President General.

Section 1. The President General, in addition to his general duties, shall be ex officio chairman of the Board of Trustees, and of the Executive Committee, and a member of every other committee.

Section 2. He shall appoint the following committees:

Committee on Auditing and Finance.
Committee on Credentials.
Committee on Resolutions.
Memorial Committee.
Committee on Organization.
Committee on Education.

The duties of the above committees shall be such as usually pertain to committees of like character. He may also appoint such other committees as in his judgment may be deemed necessary or advisable.

Article IV.—Vice-Presidents General.

The Vice-Presidents General shall, in each of their respective districts, seek in every manner to promote the interest and activities of the National Society and of the State Societies within their jurisdiction; encourage the formation of new chapters and the enrollment of new members. They shall represent the National Society in the absence of the President General on any proper occasion, but acting at all times under his direction and control.

Article V.—Secretary General.

The Secretary General, in addition to his general duties, shall have charge of the seal, and give due notice of all meetings of the National Society or Board of Trustees. He shall give due notice to all General Officers and State Societies of all votes, orders, and proceedings affecting or appertaining to their duties. He shall distribute all pamphlets, circulars, rosettes, and supplies, as directed by the Board of Trustees.

Article VI.—Treasurer General.

Section 1. The Treasurer General shall collect and receive the funds and securities of the National Society. He shall deposit the same to the credit of the "Society of the Sons of the American Revolution," and shall draw them thence for the use of the National Society, as directed by it or by the Board of Trustees, upon the order of the President General, countersigned by the Secretary General. His accounts shall be audited by a committee to be appointed at the Annual Meeting.

Section 2. He shall give bond for the safe custody and application of the funds, the cost of such bond to be borne by the National Society.

Article VII.—Registrar General.

The Registrar General shall keep a register of the names and dates of the election, resignation, or death of all members of the several State Societies, and shall have the care and custody of all duplicate applications for membership. He shall issue upon the requisition of the Secretary or Registrar of the several State Societies certificates of membership and insignia to every member entitled thereto, through such Secretary or Registrar.

Article VIII.—Historian General.

The Historian General shall have the custody of all the historical and biographical collections of which the National Society may become possessed and shall catalogue and arrange the same, and shall place the same in a fireproof repository for preservation.

Article IX.—Chaplain General.

The Chaplain General shall be a regularly ordained minister, and shall open and close all general meetings of the National Society with the services usual and proper on such occasions.

Article X.—State Societies.

Each State Society shall—

(1) Notify the Secretary General of the election and appointment of all officers, nominees for Board of Trustees, and delegates.

(2) Pay to the Treasurer General on the first day of March or within thirty days thereafter, the sum of fifty cents for each active member thereof.

(3) Transmit to the Registrar General duplicate applications of all accepted members, and notify him of the resignation or death of all members thereof.

Article XI.—Board of Trustees.

Section 1. The Board of Trustees shall prepare and carry out plans for promoting the objects and growth of the Society; shall generally superintend its interests, and shall execute such other duties as shall be committed to it at any meeting of the National Society. It shall have charge of the printing of the Diploma and the manufacturing of the Insignia, and shall determine the price at which the same shall be issued.

Section 2. It shall have the authority to admit or reorganize as a State Society any association of fifteen or more persons duly qualified for membership in the Society.

Section 3. It shall have authority to make, alter, and amend the By-Laws as hereinafter provided.

Section 4. The President General may call meetings of the Board of Trustees at any time he may deem necessary, and shall call such meetings upon the written request of any five members thereof, provided that of any meeting, other than such as may be called during the session or immediately upon the adjournment of an annual or special Congress of the National Society, not less than five days' notice of the time and place of such meeting shall be given.

Article XII.—Executive Committee.

A meeting of the Executive Committee may be called at any time by the President General, and such meeting shall be called upon the written request of three members thereof. It shall be the duty of the Executive Committee to exercise the powers and perform the duties committed to it by any annual or special Congress or by the Board of Trustees; to control and supervise all arrangements for the holding of the annual or any special Congress, and the social and other functions connected therewith; it shall, upon the request of the proper committee of the National Society or of the Board of Trustees, assist in the organization of new State Societies, and increasing the membership of weak State Societies, and for these purposes may incur its necessary expenses, limited to such amounts as may be in the Treasury unappropriated, and not required for the current expenses of the National Society during the year.

Article XIII.—Seal.

The seal of the Society shall be two and three-eighths of an inch in diameter, charged with the figure of a minute man grasping a musket in his right hand and surrounded by a constellation of thirteen stars, who shall be depicted in the habit of a husbandman of the period of the American Revolution, and as in the act of deserting the plough for the service of his country; the whole encircled by a band three-eighths of an inch wide, within which shall appear the legend, "National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, organized April 30, 1889."

Article XIV.—Certificates.

All members of this Society, wherever admitted, shall be entitled to a certificate of membership duly attested by the President General, Secretary General, and Registrar General, countersigned by the President, Secretary, and Registrar of the State Society to which such member shall have been admitted.

Article XV.—Insignia.

The insignia of the Society shall comprise (1) a cross surmounted by an eagle in gold, (2) a rosette.

Section 1. The cross shall be of silver, with four arms, covered with white enamel and eight gold points, same size as a Chevalier's Cross of the Legion of Honor of France, with a gold medallion in the center bearing on the obverse a bust of Washington in profile, and on the reverse the figure of a minute man, surrounded by a ribbon enameled blue, with the motto "Libertas et Patria" on the obverse, and the legend "Sons of the American Revolution" on the reverse, both in letters of gold. The cross shall be surmounted by an eagle in gold and the whole decoration suspended from a ring of gold by a ribbon of deep blue, with white and buff edges, and may be worn by any member of the Society on ceremonial occasions only, and shall be carried on the left breast, or at the collar if an officer or Past President General of the National Society, or the President, active or past, of a State Society.

The President General, during his term of office and while acting in that capacity on official and ceremonial occasions, shall wear the distinctive badge of his office. It may be carried at the left breast or suspended from the neck ribbon. In full dress he shall wear a sash of the Society colors, three and one-half inches in width, extending from the right shoulder to the left hip, with the badge pendant at the crossing of the sash over the hip.

Section 2. The rosette shall be seven-sixteenths of an inch in diameter, of usual pattern, displaying the colors of the Society—blue, white, and buff—and may be worn by all members at discretion in the upper left-hand buttonhole of the coat.

Section 3. The badge of the Society may be purchased by members in accordance with the following agreement, to be signed by the purchasing member before delivery of same:

In purchasing the badge of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, I hereby agree that it will be worn or used in accordance with the regulations of the Society; that I will not pledge, part with, or transfer the same except with the written authority of the Society. It is further agreed for myself, heirs, executors, administrators, and any and all persons asserting any claim through me that upon demand of the Society and tender of the purchase price of said badge, or other regalia, the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution shall be entitled to immediate possession thereof.

Article XVI.—Indebtedness.

No debts shall be contracted on behalf of the National Society. Every obligation for the payment of money, except checks drawn against deposits, executed in the name or on behalf of the National Society shall be null and void.

Article XVII.—Order of Business of the Annual Congress.

1. Calling the Congress to order by the President General.
2. Opening prayer by the Chaplain General.
3. Appointment of a Committee on Credentials.
4. Remarks by the President General on condition and needs of the Society.
5. Report of Committee on Credentials.
6. Reading of minutes of the last Congress.
7. Report of Board of Trustees.
8. Reports of General Officers.

(Extract from Local Committee's Leaflet.)

As announced by the National Committee of Arrangements: "The dominant note of the Congress will be Americanism and the imperative need of its finest and noblest interpretation during the present world crisis. The call for sacrifice is as insistent at this moment as it was in the days of the Revolution, and neither the soul of America nor the destiny of this Western Continent will be satisfied longer by material development and worldly prosperity. It is believed the Twenty-ninth Annual Congress of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution will have a very definite and ringing message to give to the nation in this respect."

In Annual Congress assembled we remind ourselves that the responsibility of winning the war is personal. Upon every man, woman, and child in our land rests the issue.

The posters displayed on the streets state the case accurately in the declaration: "When we win this war there will be just two kinds of people—those who did help and those who did not help." This is the acid test of the great judgment day.

The events of the next six months will be of transcendent importance. This period is likely to be the most critical half-year in the world's history.

Today in America no organization has any reason for existence unless of use to humanity in this fearful crisis. The Sons of the American Revolution have a peculiar privilege and opportunity for service in stirring the historic imagination of the people. Success to America on land and sea will come only as our leaders reincarnate the spirit of Capt. John Parker on Lexington Green and of Capt. John Paul Jones on the Bon Homme Richard and of countless other heroes of our glorious past.

The imperative duty of S. A. R. is to aid in translating our great national feeling into present-day action. The salvation of our cause lies in the intelligent application of the historic sense, which is the perceiving gift of appreciation applied to the great personalities and events which have made and preserved us a nation.

With full realization that in this solemn hour the clock of destiny is striking-in a thousand years of either good or evil, S. A. R., and all other patriotic organizations, should become more vital. Our Americanism must pass from a theory into a principle of life.

Finally, let every member of the Sons of the American Revolution cherish with reverence the service flags floating proudly all over our broad land, remembering that every star stands for a living soul devoted to the principle: "The time has come to conquer or submit. For us there is but one choice—we have made it."

PROCEEDINGS OF THE TWENTY-NINTH ANNUAL CONGRESS

OF

HELD AT THE HOTEL SENACA
ROCHESTER, N. Y., MAY 20 AND 21, 1918

The Congress was called to order at 9.30 a. m. by the President General, Elmer Marston Wentworth.

The PRESIDENT GENERAL: Compatriots, the Twenty-ninth Annual Congress of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution is now regularly convened. We will open with an invocation to the Ruler of all things by our Chaplain General.

Chaplain General FOSTER: Great God, before whom all nations bow and acknowledge Thee as the Sovereign, we come asking that Thou wilt direct our deliberations; that we may be furnished with the Truth; that we may be Thy children to do that which is well pleasing in Thy sight. We pray Thy blessing upon our work; may it not be in vain, but in all things begun and continued, may we honor Thee in our lives. Let Thy blessing be upon our loved ones while we are absent from them. Preserve them, we pray Thee, and especially we pray for those in the foreign lands fighting our battles for us. God bless the dear boys. May they be returned to us again; may the Spirit of God be in their hearts. Bless the Commander of our forces and the Commanders of our allies. Lord God of Hosts, give us victory. Give us strength from Heaven. Give us to understand that life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness is the heritage of man. Be with us while we sojourn and bring us safely to Thy Kingdom through Christ. Amen.

Gen. PHILIP READE (Mass.): The flag of the United States of America; thirteen stripes, equal, parallel, and horizontal; seven red, six white; beginning at the fourth red stripe in the upper left-hand corner, a blue field; forty-eight five-pointed white stars, emblematical of this Republic and its number of States. When the flag approaches you within six paces, raise your hand to a position of salute; when the flag has passed you six paces, drop the hand and remain standing until the flag and its companion flag have been placed upon the platform. Please advance with the national flag.

[The members remained standing until the flags were placed in position.]

The CHAIR: Will the Past Presidents General, who are present, Past President Generals Beardsley and Woodworth, take seats on the platform? I assume that there is no necessity of introducing to any gathering or any Congress of the Sons of the American Revolution, and there should be no necessity of introducing any compatriot of the S. A. R. to two men of such distinguished service in the cause of the National Society as have been the case and records of Past President Generals Beardsley and Woodworth. (Applause.) It is a source of great regret to us all that matters beyond the control of the other Past Presidents General prevent their presence with us at this Congress. It is hoped, however, that one more, Mr. Pugsley, may arrive later in the day. Before the day is over, and I think of no more appropriate time than this moment, at the opening of our exercises, for us all to rise and bow our heads in silent prayer and sympathy for Judge Henry Stockbridge, than whom no abler man ever presided over your organization, who is burying his mother today, and it prevents his presence with you. Compatriots, let us rise and, in sympathetic silence, try to communicate our sympathy to our Past President General.

Judge BEARDSLEY: Today is the eighty-sixth birthday anniversary of another Past President General, Gen. Edwin S. Greeley. General Greeley is in feeble health and can only be with us in spirit today, and I move that the congratulations and hearty wishes of this Congress be telegraphed to General Greeley.

(Motion seconded.)

The CHAIR: Compatriots, you have heard the motion. We all know and all love and all sympathize with that grand old man, our Past President General, Gen. Edwin S. Greeley. All those in favor of the motion will manifest it by rising. It is unanimously carried and so ordered. These informalities should be the formalities of the occasion; but we will now proceed to the regular order of business. I recognize Compatriot Ogden, President of the Rochester Chapter. (Applause.)

GREETING BY PRESIDENT CHARLES E. OGDEN.

President OGDEN: I am present here this morning in a dual capacity, to represent the Mayor of this municipality, who, like the distinguished compatriot who was just spoken of, is burying his mother this morning—a very saint in Israel. I am here, too, to represent the Rochester Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution in the happiest moment of all its existence, when it welcomes here such a body of men representing the various States of this Union of ours, but, above all, representing the whole nation united as it has not been united in a century, New York striking hands with California, Maine striking hands with Louisiana, in the one great thing before us now, national unity for national purposes, the winning of a war for humanity which shall put America as the leading light for democracy all over the whole world. (Applause.) It is sometimes difficult to appear for the Mayor. He is a perpetual Mayor of Rochester, and he is so loved by every one here that it is sort of embarrassing for one to try to live up to the standard which he has raised for us not only in good fellowship, but in good government for our city. I recall once going down to a Sunday-school session in the northern section of the city to represent the Mayor, and the gentleman who introduced me floundered around a bit, and, desiring to introduce me as the official representative of our beautiful city, before he got through with it introduced me as the beautiful representative (laughter); and I had to stand up there and demonstrate that a Sunday-school man could stray far away from the truth. But it is a joy to every Rochesterian to feel this, that you men are with us, representing as you do the loftiest sentiment known to mankind. Now we are proud of our buildings; we are proud of our great enterprises; we are proud of our educational and philanthropic institutions, but proudest of all are we of the sentiment that underlies the building of the institutions, for after all stone and brick and mortar are but the expression of thought and belief and the things which we dream of and finally work out in material results. We are proud as can be of this city, but we are proud to think that such a body of men as this gathers together with the vivid idea of promulgating lofty sentiment. It is not in the great meetings; it is not in the enormous gatherings where thousands applaud that the real things of the nation are worked out; it is where thinking men get together. You have stood in this organization for sentiment, national unity, the keeping alive of the patriotic spirit. Is there anything more worthy than that? And so we welcome you with a double sense of the responsibility that we have in front of us to make your lives contented and happy while you are here. We offer you the keys of the city, wherever they are or whatever they are; but we offer you this, too, a certain sense of glorification in the results of what Rochester has done in this matter of having this Congress, for we are so proud to think that the Congress did not go over another year, but that Rochester had the privilege to come to the front and say to you gentlemen "Come, yes, don't let this thing go by the boards; we are just as important now as we ever were, and the psychological moment is present when we can translate from the days of '76 the spirit that comes down to 1918 and speaks as the boys spoke back in 1776 for democracy throughout the world." (Applause.) The one thing that strikes me is that every man here that I have met, almost, says, "Yes, my boy is over there or is going over there." You men have kept alive the spirit of patriotism; you show it because your boys are inheriting the goodly heritage of devotion to the land. I went into one of our theaters on our Liberty Loan drive; one of Pershing's lieutenants came out on the platform—he was not a lieutenant; he was a corporal—he said, "The spirit of the boys is fine over there." And he waited a moment, and he said, "The spirit of the boys is fine over there." A few minutes more, he said, "The spirit of the boys is fine over there," and I wondered if he was ever going to get any further in that speech; and then he said, "The boys are in the trenches; they are up to the waist, some of them, in mud and mire; I wish I was with them; I don't want to be over here; I want to be back there with the boys. Yes, I want to be here; I want to see my mother"; and his voice broke and he walked off the stage. When he came up through the audience with the cards for subscriptions, almost every person in that great crowded theater was crying. Why? Because that boy had spoken, without saying hardly a word, the sentiment that the boys are teaching us all over this continent, that they have understood, perhaps some of them ahead of us, what the duty of the present hour is; and you are doing that, our Sons of the American Revolution are doing that. How could we help but welcome you here in Rochester? We are in the midst of a great drive now on our war chest. I am going to leave this place to go into the factories. I am proud of it. I would hate to sing the glories of Jerusalem without saying anything of the glory of Rochester. I would hate to sing of the glory of the ancient days, even of the glory of Lexington, and not take up the fight right now in front of us, the one great thing in the world, that we must win this war for democracy. (Applause.) So you are welcome to Rochester, and you are going to do us, as we know, a tremendous amount of good and give us a splendid uplift—the Rochester Chapter and the whole city—and we want you to make the city your very own. (Applause.)

RESPONSE BY PRESIDENT GENERAL.

The CHAIR: Compatriots, your President General recalls the very beginning of affairs in this nation of ours, and in the presentation of the speakers who deliver the official and formal addresses of welcome he goes back to the beginning. Our Anglo-Saxon civilization with our New England leaven started with the home and passed on through the church to the state. We are starting in our procedure this morning with the home Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution and with the acting official representative of the city of Rochester. We will now listen to an address from the President of the Empire State Society, who is also acting at the request of our Compatriot Charles S. Whitman, Governor of the State of New York, to tender the formal welcome to this State, on behalf of the Empire State Society and the Commonwealth of the State of New York; President Louis Annin Ames, of the Empire State Society and the representative of our Compatriot, Governor Charles S. Whitman, will now address you. (Applause.)

WELCOME BY LOUIS ANNIN AMES, PRESIDENT OF EMPIRE STATE SOCIETY.

Mr. AMES: Mr. President General, Past Presidents General, Compatriots, I am very glad that our beloved Compatriot Ogden has no advantage over me; I also am here in a dual capacity. Had the invitation reached Governor Whitman one day sooner he would have been here; but having made an engagement for this day and this hour elsewhere he has asked me to extend to you the official greeting of New York State and I bring that to you, and also the greeting of the Empire State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and I can assure you that this would not be a patriotic meeting; it would not be a Congress of the Sons of the American Revolution; it would not meet in the Empire State unless the greeting was sincere and intense. As President Ogden has spoken of the glories of Rochester, I would say that the glories of Rochester are the glories of the Empire State. (Applause.) New York is the gateway to the great Republic, and, like any State or nation or any society, she welcomes all who come here to be helped and to help. Myriads of the poor, the oppressed, and the downtrodden of other lands have come here and have found life better and sweeter and have gone to their graves thanking God that their children will find in this land, in this State, opportunities that never could be found elsewhere on the face of the globe. New York, as Rochester typifies it, and the cities at the east and the cities at the western end of the State and through all the cities and villages of this great State is the home of culture and refinement. Its cities are great treasure marts, but, compatriots, the Empire State and the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution lay more stress upon the deep things of the heart and soul than upon the material wealth of the Commonwealth. We know that all the grandeur and wealth of the State is only safe when we are true to those ideals and those principles for which our Revolutionary forefathers staked their all, and the Empire State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in welcoming the compatriots of the National Society greet you here today, knowing that you will bring new inspiration for those ideals of 1776, you will strengthen the Empire State Society and all of its Chapters to go on and do better and stronger work, so that we may win this war, and that the Empire State will stand with the other State Societies in saying that the Sons of the American Revolution have been true to the ideals of their forefathers, and we will do what all patriotic societies ought to do to hold up high the standards of the nation and to be true to the flag of our Republic. (Applause.)

RESPONSE BY PRESIDENT GENERAL.

The Chair: Compatriots Ames and Ogden, in behalf of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, I wish to thank you for the very hearty welcome which you have given us in behalf of the Mayor of the city, the Governor of the State, the local Chapter, and the State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. We appreciate your courtesy, your hospitality, your loyalty, and your welcome. We know something of what it means to meet in the city of Rochester. There is something inspiring in the name, because Rochester cut a big figure in the history of England and the preservation of the liberties which our Anglo-Saxon forebears struggled for so strongly. We appreciate this welcome to the State of New York. The earlier inhabitants of the country, of which the most of us, at least, are descendants, were Puritan or Cavalier; they came from New England or from below the Potomac River, but here, as a nucleus and as a foundation, as the beginning of the amalgamation of the races which sought our shores, came the Holland Dutch, and a finer type of citizenship I, as a descendant of Pilgrim and Puritan, desire to say, has never sought our shores. We are glad to be here and commingle with you, and we trust that when we go away the inspiration that we carry with us to our several State Societies, to our homes and our communities, will be one that we shall never forget, and that the whole nation will profit by this Congress having met here. (Applause.) Next in order is the report of the Committee on Credentials. Is the Committee on Credentials ready to report? I recognize its chairman, Compatriot Teunis D. Huntting.

REPORT OF CREDENTIAL COMMITTEE.

Mr. HUNTTING: The committee reports the presence of 105 accredited delegates at this time and asks authority to receive credentials of members not yet arrived.

The CHAIR: If there is no objection, the preliminary report of the Committee on Credentials will be accepted and the committee authorized to sit until further notice to receive and register the credentials of the incoming delegates.

(The final report included the names of 127 delegates, as follows:)

The CHAIR: At this particular time the President General desires to name a Resolutions Committee, which will act upon whatsoever in the nature of resolutions or other matters are presented to this Congress, and on that committee I will appoint Past President General Judge Morris B. Beardsley, of Connecticut; our Chaplain General, representing the general officers of the National Society, Rev. John Onesimus Foster, of Seattle, Wash.; and Hon. Albert M. Henry, of Michigan, of the Executive Committee.

Judge REMINGTON, N. Y.: I would move that all resolutions be referred to the Committee on Resolutions without debate.

(The motion was seconded and adopted.)

The CHAIR: At this particular time, compatriots, it is customary for your President General to briefly address you.

ANNUAL ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT GENERAL.

Compatriots, Article II of our Constitution recites the purposes and objects of this Society to be as follows:

The purposes and objects of this Society are declared to be patriotic, historical, and educational, and shall include those intended or designed to perpetuate the memory of the men who, by their services or sacrifices during the war of the American Revolution, achieved the independence of the American people; to unite and promote fellowship among their descendants; to inspire them and the community at large with a more profound reverence for the principles of the government founded by our forefathers; to encourage historical research in relation to the American Revolution; to acquire and preserve the records of the individual services of the patriots of the war, as well as documents, relics, and landmarks; to mark the scenes of the Revolution by appropriate memorials; to celebrate the anniversaries of the prominent events of the war and of the Revolutionary period; to foster true patriotism; to maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom, and to carry out the purposes expressed in the preamble of the Constitution of our country and the injunctions of Washington in his farewell address to the American people.

It is a duty, compatriots, which gives your President General great pleasure to report that the rank and file of our membership are true to their inheritance; loyal to the purposes and objects of this Society, as enumerated in the II Article of our Constitution, which I have just read.

You and I trace our ancestry back to the beginning of things in this nation of ours, and we take honest pride in every effort "designed to perpetuate the memory of the men who, by their services or sacrifices during the war of the American Revolution, achieved the independence of the American people."

We admit the inspiration and accept the obligations of such inheritance. Search history for its parallel. Each step in the organization of the American people as a nation—the Committees of Safety, the war of the American Revolution, the Declaration of American Independence, the Articles of Confederation, and its crowning achievement, the Constitution of the United States—it is a significant fact no measure nor movement was proposed in the interest of any person or party, but all predicated upon that vital principle—the common welfare of society.

"The war which rent away the North American colonies was commenced and carried on in iniquity and folly and it was concluded in disaster and shame," writes Creasy, adding, "But the contemplation of it cannot be evaded nor can any event be said to have exercised a more important influence upon the future fortunes of mankind."

"The temper of the colonists," notes Green, "was in the main that of the bulk of the English statesmen, and when the English nation realized the nature of the struggle it refused to carry it on."

The spirit of Cromwell, Hampton, and Milton animated our Revolutionary sires. They were as apt at organization and as quick to act as their forefathers, who had preserved their institutions at the cost of the Crown. They spoke to conviction as well as to sentiment. "Their doctrines of liberty was the ancient tradition of the colonies, and seemed native to the very air." "The people had a self-reliance, nurtured in true Anglo-Saxon fashion and justified by experience, in facing emergencies."

In old England neither party was blind to the constitutional crisis. Pitt, Burke, Fox, Barre, Rockingham, Shelburne and other friends of the colonists in their struggle to preserve Anglo-Saxon institutions were helpless. The delighted King saw his Cabinet degraded to a level with those so-called cabinets of absolute monarchies, which were his model and objective. Green declared, "The shame for the darkest hour in English history lies wholly at his door."—Fox.

"It is intolerable to think that it should be in the power of one blockhead to do so much mischief," and Chatham's denunciations of the "Traffic and barter with every little German prince that sells and sends his subjects to the shambles," sunk deep into the heart of every lover of liberty.

Time will not permit a synopsis, even though the subject is as timely and interesting today as in '76, of the evolution of English democracy into its fairest flower, American democracy, safeguarded by a written Constitution.

The Great Charter recognized and acknowledged certain vested rights, to which as Englishmen and the sons of Englishmen they were entitled. In defense of those rights and liberties against usurped and autocratic power they finally appealed to arms.

The issue was clearly drawn. On the one hand, the attempt of George III, a German King on the English throne, to force the Teutonic theory of government upon the British colonies in North America; upon the other, the determination of our forefathers to recover, reconstruct, and restore to political society that broad basis of equal rights for person, property, and representation, which underlies Anglo-Saxon institutions. The years preceding the American Revolution did not belong to an era of written Constitutions and exact statement of principles or ideals, so that when the doctrines upon which the Government of the United States was founded were put forth in the Declaration as "self-evident truths" that the inalienable rights of men were the source and function of government, then for the first time in history, man, the individual, the human personality, was recognized as the chief factor and concern of government, and that governments are valued by their ability to protect the individual and promote the common welfare of its citizenship. As we look back to those years, how hopeless seemed their struggle, how far from fruition their ambitions. But enshrined in their hearts, dominating their lives, was a mighty aspiration and an invincible courage which justified the sacrifice, ennobled the service.

The Secretary and Registrar General Clark will advise you how well the Society has succeeded in its efforts "to unite and promote fellowship among their descendants" in his most interesting and valuable reports.

The pressure of other duties prevented my visiting all of our State Societies, but it has been my good fortune to speak at 122 meetings under the auspices of the S. A. R. outside of Iowa; 4 joint meetings of S. A. R. and D. A. R., 7 State meetings, and 12 Chapters of the D. A. R. I have also represented our Society at a number of meetings and conferences called "to maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom." With few exceptions, I have found a fine spirit of loyalty animating our people, and the desire on the part of our members to do their very best in the task of protecting our institutions. I would urge more frequent meetings by Chapters and State Societies to co-ordinate activities and take the individual leadership for which our inheritance so fully fits us. I recommend individual effort "to encourage historical research in relation to the American Revolution" through the general use of the National Society Medal. I must heartily commend the work being done by various State Societies, than which none are more interesting or effective than Idaho.

At this time and in this connection I urge each compatriot to interest himself in the text-books used in the schools in his community, particularly those on United States history. Our hero tales should be taught our children both at home and in the early days of their school life; they should be inspired and encouraged by instruction and discussion in the class-room to deeper research into the events leading up to the American Revolution that prompted the Declaration and culminated in the organization of their liberties under the Constitution.

Why did our citizenship hesitate for the long and weary months in choosing its ideal between Anglo-Saxon ideals and Teutonic theories, between Washington and Wilhelm? Why for months has America been listening to the Lenine propagandists, who would substitute his political formulas for the liberties preserved by Lincoln? It is largely because of our failure to teach American history as Washington and Lincoln made American history. The failure of "the melting pot" to fuse the race hatreds, class prejudices, and national antagonisms is due as much to our educational as to our social conditions. One-sixth of our population uses its native alien tongue in its social, business, and religious intercourse, depends upon its alien language periodicals for its information as to our history, ideals, and institutions. Millions, who enjoy the blessings of American opportunity, are living in an environment as alien as their native land. They are here from choice, and I can conceive no injustice if we require such familiarity with the official language of this nation that would permit us to make its use obligatory in general intercourses and essential to citizenship. In short, as evolution is essential to Americanization it must be made the basis of naturalization and should be compulsory. If prejudice or poverty handicap the parents, the public must take the responsibility and provide the normal child that equality of care, support, and opportunity the sub-normal are given.

There can be no more of a compromise between intelligence and ignorance than between loyalty and disloyalty or autocracy and democracy. The future of the Republic depends upon a trained, intelligent citizenship—American in thought, tongue, and tradition.

And right here let me inject this thought, that wherever the leaven of lineage flows in the veins of any descendant of our colonial forebears there should rest the initiative to take the leadership in every patriotic activity in the community (applause), not for the glory of the Chapter, the State Society, or the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, but to fulfill the obligations of that inheritance and for the glory of this nation which you have inherited. (Applause.) There has been some criticism; there has been some thought expressed in various parts of the country. I have received letters from various compatriots who have read what other organizations are doing, like the National Security League and the Red Cross and the National Council of Defense, etc., and why don't we do that? And my answer has been this, almost invariably: We are doing a greater work than either one of those organizations; we are doing a labor of love in the individual communities in which we live in holding high the torch of Liberty. We have done more than that; no other organization in this nation can point with the same pride and the same degree of pride that this organization can to the fact that one in twelve, approximately, of its total membership have rallied and responded to the call to the colors, and are wearing the uniform of the military or naval service of this nation in defense of those liberties and in the promotion of a world-wide citizenship that shall have the liberty of thought, of action, of representation and defense of their lives and their properties. (Applause.) Our Secretary General said I could have only ten minutes. I don't know when I started, and my manuscript is in long-hand and was written on the train and it is mighty hard to read at any time.

And without criticising, because I hold that the loyal efforts of every Son of the American Revolution—he should be the best judge of the direction of his efforts—but I do wish, compatriots, that each and every one of you and each and every Society, when you offer a medal for historical research of that nature, would offer the bronze medal rather than one made of the more precious metals, carrying with it a more commercialized idea. The bronze medal that ornaments the lapel of my old friend and these G. A. R. patriots—the bronze, the enduring bronze.

I trust that the Historian General has some of the literature that they are sending out for the work. It was the pleasure of your President General to speak in Idaho two or three times, and I offered in behalf of your Society medals for work there. One of them was won by the son of an Italian; one of the most patriotic, one of the most inspiring letters I ever received came from a boy, the descendant of a miner, the son of a miner, up in northern Idaho, who had won one of these medals. In the school in Spokane, Wash., I offered one, and a girl, a descendant of the first generation in this country, won the medal, and it was one of the pleasantest letters I shall always desire to keep, and which I feel that my children's children, even longer possibly than that, will delight to know that the work of the S. A. R. has been appreciated in that way. At this time, in this connection, I urge each compatriot to interest himself in the text-books. I regard this as very important, for each compatriot to interest himself in the text-books used in schools in his community.

Your committees in their various reports will cover the broad field which is usually covered in synopsis by the President General. His address, I fear, has been altogether too long and may have wearied you. I want to express my appreciation and my obligations to the compatriots in the different State Societies and Chapters for the opportunities that have been given me to meet with them face to face as they gather around and discuss the great principles upon which this organization is founded, the principles upon which this nation must live if it is to be preserved. We have a greater duty to perform today than we have had at any particular time in our history. I thank God and our forebears that we accepted the responsibility, and we are ready to respond to the calls of duty in the line of local and better citizenship as cheerfully as our sons and compatriots have responded to the call to the colors to defend the principles for which our forebears fought on foreign battlefields. It has been a pleasure; it has been a source of pride; it has been a source of deep gratification to think God gave me the strength, handicapping me perhaps in other ways from performing the duties to which you elected me; but such as they have been, I thank you most heartily for giving me the opportunity to do my bit, and I trust that when the records are written that the S. A. R. will show that they have not only been true to their inheritance, but they have assumed and achieved the leadership in all things that are good, to perpetuate not only the principles and the life of this nation, but to broaden them and send them across the seas. (Applause.)

Colonel VROOMAN (N. Y.): Mr. President General and Compatriots, it is the custom in deliberative bodies to refer the address of the President or of the Governor to a special committee or to the committee of the whole. There is scarce time to do that in reference to the address to which we have just listened. I move you that this address be referred to the Committee on Resolutions, with a request that from it they prepare some brief resolutions covering that most excellent address, which will give us the opportunity to formally place ourselves upon record as favoring what our President General has so well expressed.

The CHAIR: That relieves the President of the embarrassment of putting the motion, and gives him at the same time an opportunity to thank the National Society, in Congress assembled, for their very kindly expression. It will not be forgotten. It is deeply appreciated. At this particular time, and in view of the fact that the Red Cross drive is starting today—I have been too busy trying to keep track of what the Sons of the American Revolution are doing to make note of what other organizations are about—I have waited, as I presume the majority of you have, for the collector to come around. I have signed the slips and written the checks, and I did not know until I was advised, to be absolutely and perfectly frank, that today was the beginning of the Red Cross drive. We will listen to Mr. Du Bois, of the District of Columbia Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, for a five-minutes address on the American Red Cross. (Applause.)

ADDRESS ON THE AMERICAN RED CROSS, BY MR. DU BOIS.

Mr. Du Bois (D. C.): Mr. President General and Past Presidents General and Compatriots, I am very grateful for this opportunity to say just a few words. I am here also in rather a dual capacity. In the first place, I am pleased to say that I am here as a delegate from the District of Columbia and also as an agent of the National Red Cross Society. Now, one thing is certain at this opening of the great Red Cross drive today, and it is that the nation that puts up the last dollar is going to win the war, and the American people have got to win the war and they are going to win it, because Pershing has said, "Germany can be beaten. Germany must be beaten. Germany will be beaten." And, my friends, the way we are to beat it is to make this great Red Cross drive that opens today a tremendous and glorious success. Some time ago Will Crooks, a member of the British Parliament, while passing down one of the streets in London, met a British soldier and a civilian who was an old friend of theirs, and the soldier said to him, "Burt, you are not in khaki; haven't you joined the army yet?" And Burt, with a supercilious air, replied, "No; am not such a bloody fool as that." And the soldier passed on with a smile of contentment upon his lips, but Will Crooks remained, and he said, "Burt, let me tell you of the scene in a Belgian railway station; the train is loaded with 800 young women who have been dragged from their homes by a brutal Prussian soldiery; with tears upon their faces and with outstretched arms they are crying, 'Where are we going? For God's sake tell us where we are going'; and with that pitiful cry upon their lips they were hustled off to Prussian servitude and shame. Now, Burt, are you such a fool as to refuse to defend our women and children from such a fate as that?" It was unnecessary for Will Crooks to say another word. Fifty strong, sturdy, British women had gathered about them and they cried out, "Leave that man to us, Bill Crooks; leave that man to us," and Bill Crooks left that man to those women, knowing that God alone could help him in that hour. And so it is, compatriots, with all red-blooded American women, and especially the women of the Red Cross and the D. A. R.; they hate the slacker. They want peace, but they do not want peace until the power of the German Kaiser to repeat such infamous deeds as that is broken forever and forever. (Applause.) Now, the best way for us to help break that power is to make this great Red Cross drive a triumph and a success. President Wilson, who is working 18 hours a day to save this nation, does not ask you to do this thing for him; he asks you to do it for that flag which this great patriotic organization has been saving for years from desecration and wrong. That is your flag, gentlemen, and you yourselves are the flag itself. As Secretary Lane has beautifully said, you are the sponsors for that flag, the life of it, the hope of it. That is your flag and it represents your government and therefore it represents you, because you yourselves are the government itself. Gentlemen, without you and without the American people back of it that flag would simply be a piece of colored cloth. With you it is the Constitution and the courts, the statutes and the statute-makers, the army and the navy, the soldiers and the dreadnaughts, the woman at the reel and the man at the wheel, the woman behind the home and the man behind the harvest. Without you, my friends, that flag is simply an inanimate and helpless thing; with you, with the American people back of it, it is the most potent and glorious emblem on the face of this earth. Sometimes you know that flag, strong with pride as it was, when our glorious American mother went to Washington at Valley Forge with her five boys and said, "Washington, here are my five sons; take them; they are all that I have, and if I had only known 25 years ago that you were going to fight for freedom I would have given you twice as many more." (Laughter and applause.) Sometimes that flag gleams like a glorious halo in the skies, as it did when our brave sailor boys put that flag at full mast when their great warship was sinking in that terrible hurricane off the island of Samoa, and as the great ship went down they stood at attention and saluted that flag and sang "My Country 'tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty, of Thee we Sing." Sometimes, Mr. President, that flag droops in shame as it does when the yellow-streaked pacifist and the German propagandist and the disloyal citizen talk sedition, when human freedom is at stake and heroes are dying, and I believe that I strike a responsive chord in the hearts of every one of you when I say that today upon the breast of every one of these yellow-streaked pacifists, upon every one of these German propagandists, should be nailed the tin cross of the German Kaiser, and they should be compelled to bear that cross as a brand of their disloyalty so long as a merciful God allows them to tread the free soil of this great Republic where man is law and law is king and God alone is great. (Applause.) So, my friends, I want to say just one word more to you. We are in this great drive now and are going to fight this peculiar system of German propaganda. Today in the United States there are 200,000 agents, paid and subsidized by the German government, who are being sent here for the last 40 years, since the Franco-Prussian war, for the express purpose of being ready when this great world war began, and we have today 50,000 of them under surveillance, and we are going to have the other 150,000 before this war is over. (Applause.) I do not want to influence this Society or any of our people in this great drive that is opening today. Watch those men and mark them; brand that enemy while he waits at your door to learn your ways; brand and drive him from your gates, for he'll harm you if he stays. Brand him well upon his brow; set the stigma there. Scar and sear and brand him now, and do it well. Brand that traitor while he waits at our gates. Brand him while the Red Cross voice is calling. Brand him while valiant heroes are falling. Be he brother, stranger, friend, bring this menace to an end. Brand that traitor's guilty brow; scar and scar, and do it now. Thank you very much. (Applause.)

The CHAIR: The President General desires to apologize to the Congress, and particularly to those men who have so loyally worked with him during the past two years, for not formally during his address mentioning his obligations to them. No more loyal body of men ever lived and no more helpful bunch of men have ever lived than your National Officers, the National Executive Committee in their work, the Advisory Committee, and all of the other committees, and every individual compatriot, insofar as I came in touch or correspondence with him. There has been no criticism of your administration that has reached the ear of any of its officials, insofar as it has been reported to me. That splendid spirit of loyalty should be acknowledged as broadly and as publicly as my power will permit, and I thank you, and through the Congress, every one who has aided and assisted in carrying on the great work of the Society. We will now proceed with the regular order of business.

(Colonel Vrooman here introduced a resolution calling upon Rev. Dr. Cherry to furnish a copy of his address at the patriotic meeting on Sunday evening for publication in the National Year Book. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Resolutions, was later favorably reported, and was adopted.)

The CHAIR: It is not proper, I think, for a presiding officer to criticise anything that has been said, but it is very proper to criticise the presiding officer. I know of none, how big or how small, how exalted his station, or how menial the capacity in which he may be presiding, that does not do things that should be criticised and the criticism should come hot. With that preliminary remark, I would like to substitute one word in this splendidly eloquent address of Compatriot Du Bois when he referred to a merciful God permitting pro-German propagandists, these pacifists, and these slackers to remain on earth. It should be, I think, a pitiless God. I think they should stay here to be exorcised. I think they should stay here to be taught and be subjected to all the indignities that can possibly be heaped upon them, and if there is a just God they are going to get what is coming to them, either here or hereafter (laughter and applause); and the sooner they start the happier I shall be. (Laughter.) Next in the regular order of business is the reading of the minutes of the Twenty-seventh Congress. The Chair will entertain a motion, in view of the fact that the minutes of the Twenty-seventh Congress have been printed in the National Year Book, that the same be adopted and approved. Do I hear such a motion?

(It was moved and seconded that the minutes of the Twenty-seventh Annual Congress be approved as printed. Motion carried.)

The CHAIR: Now, compatriots, you will listen to the reading of the minutes of the Twenty-eighth Congress.

PROCEEDINGS OF TWENTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

The Twenty-eighth Congress of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution was called to order, at Nashville, Tenn., on May 21, 1917, by President General Wentworth.

Present were: Elmer M. Wentworth, President General; R. C. Ballard Thruston, member of the Advisory Committee; Past President General William K. Boardman, Vice-President General; State President Rawles, of the Arkansas Society; State President Hume, of the Tennessee Society; Professor Sioussat, John De Witt, Carey Folk, delegates of the Tennessee Society.

The President General appointed William K. Boardman as Secretary pro tem. of the meeting.

The following resolutions were submitted by R. C. Ballard Thruston, were seconded by State President Rawles, of the Arkansas Society, and were unanimously carried:

The Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, true to its principles, has so imbued its members and their families with the spirit of patriotic service that when our country entered into the present conflict to preserve the principles of democracy the response to the President's call was practically unanimous. Those of military age rallied to the colors. The older members engaged in the varied patriotic activities which are equally essential to place this nation in position to do its duty to humanity.

Recognizing that attendance at the Annual Congress of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution called to convene at Nashville, Tenn., May 21, 1917, would interfere with the performance by delegates of their higher duty of national service and of preparation for such service, the National Executive Committee recommended to the President General that the Congress should be postponed, and notice thereof was sent to all officers and delegates entitled to representation therein; and

WHEREAS the Twenty-eighth Congress of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, duly assembled in the city of Nashville this 21st day of May, 1917, is without the requisite number of delegates to constitute a Congress of the said Society for the transaction of business; therefore

Be it resolved, That this Congress do now adjourn to meet in the city of Nashville, State of Tennessee, upon the call of the President General, on the giving of at least three weeks' notice by the Secretary General of this Society of the time designated by the President General.

Adjournment was then taken.

WILLIAM K. BOARDMAN,
Secretary pro tem.

Approved:

E. M. WENTWORTH,
President General.

NASHVILLE, TENN., May 21, 1917.

The SECRETARY GENERAL: The President General deemed it unwise to convene the Congress again during the year 1917, and the period for holding the Twenty-eighth Congress expired with December 31, 1917.

The CHAIR: Gentlemen, you have heard the reading of the minutes of the Twenty-eighth Annual Congress; what action do you wish to take upon them.

(It was moved and carried that the minutes be approved as read.)

The CHAIR: Possibly some of the delegates to the Congress do not fully understand the conditions in connection with the work down there, but there is a tremendous amount of work being done by our compatriots in the South. There is no place in the country, permit me to add, where the individual membership in this Society is more potent in all things that tend toward patriotism and leadership in every patriotic effort than among your membership in the Southern States. The members are few in number, but they are choice in quality and high in every attribute of patriotism, and they have naturally accepted the responsibility and the carrying on of the work. I know that you feel disappointed to think that such distinguished members of this Society as Past President General Thruston and Judge Reifsnider, former President of the Maryland Society, and a number of others, are not with you today; Compatriot Boardman, of Tennessee, also, and others without enumerating the men. It is due simply and solely to the fact that they are putting in not merely the eighteen hours a day that was referred to by our compatriot from the District of Columbia, but all their time into this great cause for human liberty and the carrying of the thing through. (Applause.) I have wondered when they ever slept, for I have been down there and, to be perfectly frank about it, the hospitality of Baltimore, the hospitality and the work of the compatriots in the Maryland Society, has been the work of the compatriots throughout the South. I think when I was in Baltimore they let me sleep two hours and a half in the twenty-four, and the maximum that they allowed was four hours, with seven hours or such matter for the entire period of the three days' stay that I had in their community. Next in order is the report of the Board of Trustees. The Secretary General will read that report.

The SECRETARY GENERAL: What am I going to do, Mr. President General, for here I have the report of the Executive Committee, the report of the Secretary General, the report of the Registrar General, and since the Treasurer General is absent I have his report as well. I am afraid you will tire if I read them all and will therefore abbreviate them somewhat to save time.

The CHAIR: If the Secretary General was not working all the time he would not be happy, and we will just let him work all the time because we want him happy. (Laughter.)

The SECRETARY GENERAL: If the members will stop me when they tire I will be happy.

REPORT OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES AND EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The Board of Trustees met at Newark, N. J., on May 16, 1916, and passed necessary votes for conducting the activities of the Society and approved the nomination of members of an Executive Committee by the President General. "It was voted that the Executive Committee be, and is hereby, empowered to act on such matters referred to the Board of Trustees by the Congress or such new business as in the judgment of the President General may not require the action of a meeting of the Board."

That committee has accordingly conducted affairs of the Society since the above date, and the proceedings of its several meetings are recorded in the OFFICIAL BULLETIN. On May 24, 1917, the committee met in New York City and received the annual reports of the General Officers and National Committees, as prepared for the Congress at Nashvile, and made provision for carrying on the business and activities during the year. On November 14, 1917, the committee met at Bridgeport, Conn., and acted on various matters. There was accepted from the estate of former President General Moses Greeley Parker, M. D., a bequest of the net income from $5,000 of a trust fund held by the executors. A committee was appointed to prepare a tribute to the memory of Dr. Parker to be presented at the Annual Congress.

The committee called attention to the importance of compelling aliens to learn English. It was urged that all papers published in foreign tongues print also in English such editorials as apply to Federal matters in order that readers may become familiar with English equivalents on questions of national importance. It was also recommended that where church services are usually conducted in foreign languages part of the service at least be given in English.

The committee has acted on a number of questions through correspondence. A bequest of $2,000 from the estate of Compatriot Zebina Moses was authorized to be invested in bonds of the Third Liberty Loan.

The committee authorized the presentation of a bar bearing the badge ribbon of the Society to all compatriots in the Army or Navy of the United States.

The Tennessee Society finding it impracticable to entertain the Twenty-ninth Annual Congress, of 1918, the Executive Committee acting under authority granted by the Board of Trustees in May, 1916, as cited above, accepted an invitation from the Rochester, N. Y., Chapter to hold the 1918 Congress at Rochester.

The Connecticut Society and the National Executive Committee recommend to the Board of Trustees the amendment of the By-Laws of the National Society, under the provisions of Article XVIII of said By-Laws, as follows:

Amend Article IV so as to read:

The Vice-Presidents General shall, in each of their respective districts, seek in every manner to promote the interest and activities of the National Society and of the State Societies within their jurisdiction; encourage the formation of new Chapters and the enrollment of new members. They shall represent the National Society in the absence of the President General on any proper occasion, but acting at all times under his direction and control.

Amend Article XI by eliminating present Section 3 and renumbering present Sections 4 and 5.

The above amendments will therefore come before the tomorrow's meeting of the new Board of Trustees to be elected by this Congress.

At a conference of the committee on May 19, 1918, of which the final decisions were formally ratified at a meeting this morning, various matters to come before the Congress were discussed and committees were appointed to present certain resolutions for action. These included a possible provision, recommended by some of the State Societies, whereby young men between the age of 18 and 21 years may become connected with the Sons of the American Revolution. A committee was also appointed to present the question of eliminating the study of German in schools.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees, just prior to the opening of this Congress, all action by the Executive Committee during the year was ratified. There was given notice of a proposed amendment to the By Laws on the duties of the Vice-Presidents General for action at the next meeting of the Board as above cited.

The Chair: Compatriots, you have heard the report of the Board of Trustees and Executive Committee, what action do you wish to take upon it?

(It was moved and carried that the report be received and approved.)

The Chair: Next is the report of the Secretary General. Compatriots, I have the pleasure of presenting to you the Secretary General of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. (Applause.)

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY GENERAL.

Compatriots: Your Secretary General has the honor to report that the general activities of the National Society and of the State Societies and Chapters have been intensely stimulated by the entrance of our country into the world war. Sentiment has given place to practical work. Every member seeks for some particular line of duty best suited to his ability. Every one is nerved to the highest pitch in an effort to do what he knows his ancestors of the Revolutionary War would have him do in the present crisis. The State Societies have in some cases organized special committees for war work, and all have co-operated fully in the official national organizations, the Red Cross, the war council of the Young Men's Christian Association, and the National Council of Defense.

In the December OFFICIAL BULLETIN there was inserted a blank calling upon every member to report what he had done or is doing for his country. The returns from this request for information indicate that all over the country they are doing their best in every patriotic direction. More than a thousand compatriots are serving in the army or navy; those at home are helping to care for the men at the front by service on committees, by purchase of Liberty Bonds.

By authority of the Executive Committee there has been issued to compatriots in the Army or Navy of the United States, during the present war, a service bar bearing the badge ribbon, to be worn on service uniforms, when the ceremonial badge would not be permissible under military regulations. The badge is authorized under the U. S. Revised Statutes of the United States, but can be worn only on full-dress uniforms.

About one thousand of these bars have so far been presented to compatriots in the service, and it is proposed that a list of these soldiers and sailors shall be published in the National Year Book. Many of the Societies have already submitted rolls of compatriots in the war, from which it appears the Empire State Society has 156 members in service and 84 sons of members; Massachusetts, 144 members fighting for their country; New Jersey, 97; Michigan, 50; Wisconsin, 50; Iowa, 46; Connecticut, 44, and other States in like proportion. The Rochester Chapter has 5 members in service and 16 sons of members, including 4 sons of our compatriot, Judge Remington.

The Secretary General has prepared four issues of the OFFICIAL BULLETIN in June, October, and December, 1917, and March, 1918, which have been distributed to every one of the members. Those four issues, containing 214 pages, give official information as to the activities of the National Society and of the State Societies and Chapters and is believed to be an important source of information regarding the organization. The cost of the publication during the year has been $2,887.46, or an average of about 20 cents per capita. In view of the necessity of present economy in every direction, it is recommended that the Executive Committee consider the advisability of omitting issues of the October BULLETIN, at least during the war, and limit the publication to the numbers for June, December, and March. [This proposition was subsequently found to be impractical under Postal Regulations covering second class matter which require at least four issues a year.]

The National Year Book for 1917 was omitted, but it is recommended that the Executive Committee authorize the Year Book for 1918 to contain the proceedings of the present Congress together with the pedigrees of members enrolled since May 1, 1916, and that on account of the greatly increased cost of publication the free distribution of the book be curtailed as the Executive Committee may deem wise. It is estimated that the 1918 book, to contain from 475 to 500 pages, will cost about $2 each for an edition of 800 copies.

The National Society, State Societies, and Chapters have largely invested their funds in the Liberty Loan, and the subscriptions of individual members throughout the country aggregated many millions of dollars. Members of the Empire State Society also have subscribed $52,000,000 on the Third Liberty Loan. Contributions to the American Red Cross and to war relief work in other directions have been gladly made as befitting men of Revolutionary ancestry.

The activities of State Societies and Chapters have been recorded in the OFFICIAL BULLETIN and need not here be reviewed further than to call attention to a few important matters that may come before the present Congress for consideration. Perhaps one of the most noticeable subjects is the successful efforts of the Maryland Society in the elimination of the study of German in the graded schools of Baltimore, and that on the coming Fourth of July there will be a bonfire in a public park for the destruction of all German text-books. The Wisconsin Society has also been active in the same direction.

The Florida Society strongly urges the early erection of a government building in Washington for the preservation of the public archives of great historical value now being stored in unavailable places, pushed aside to make room for war needs. There should be adequate housing facilities for the constantly increasing archives of the present day.

The Louisiana Society again calls attention to the need of preserving the original records of the Galvez campaign in 1779, 1780, and 1781, and calls upon the National Society to aid in securing a roster of about 1,500 men who served in the Louisiana Militia in that campaign and whose descendants are eligible to membership in this Society, a considerable number already having been enrolled.

Attention has been called to the present importance of legislation to provide for the taking of the oath of allegiance by every man before he shall have the privilege of suffrage. At the Newark Congress the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS when an alien becomes a citizen of our country his wife and minor children, if residing in the United States, become automatically citizens; and

WHEREAS the alien in becoming a citizen is obliged to take the oath of allegiance, but there is no provision of law obliging his minor children to take such oath upon their arriving at the voting age and desiring to cast their first vote; and

WHEREAS we now have a large body of automatic citizens voting each year who have not taken the oath of allegiance; Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of this the National Congress of the Sons of the American Revolution that all citizens should be obliged to take the oath of allegiance before casting their first vote.

In June, 1916, Compatriot Dillingham introduced in the Senate a bill (S. 6288) to amend Sec. 2172 of the Revised Statutes so as to cover in part the above resolution, but no action has been taken thereon.

The Secretary General calls attention to the following proposed amendments to the Constitution of the National Society, announced in general form by Mr. Lewis B. Curtis at the Newark Congress, which have been recommended by the Connecticut Society and by the National Executive Committee, and are now in order for action at this Congress, as provided by Article IX of the Constitution:

Amend Article V, Section 1, of the Constitution, so as to read as follows:

SECTION 1. The General Officers of the National Society shall be a President General, five Vice-Presidents General, a Secretary General, Treasurer General, Registrar General, Historian General, and Chaplain General, who shall be elected by ballot by a vote of a majority of the members present and entitled to vote at the annual meeting of the Congress of the National Society, and shall hold office for one year and until their successors shall be elected and qualified.

In case of the death or disability of any of the above officers, the Executive Committee is empowered to elect a successor to fill the unexpired term.

In the election of the five Vice-Presidents General one shall be chosen from each of five districts as follows:

(1) New England District: (Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut).

(2) Middle and Coast District: (New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida).

(3) Mississippi Valley, East District: (Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi).

(4) Mississippi Valley, West District: (Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas).

(5) Mountain and Pacific District: (Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Oregon, Washington, California, Hawaii, Philippines).

The boundaries of the said districts may be changed by vote of the Executive Committee.

Amend Article V, Section 3, second paragraph, second and third lines, by eliminating the words, "or in case of his absence or inability, at the call of the Senior Vice-President General, certified by the Secretary General."

VICE-PRESIDENTIAL DISTRICTS.

A MEMBER: I move right now, while it is fresh in our minds, that the proposed amendments be adopted.

(Motion seconded.)

A MEMBER: May I ask if any provision is made for the Society in France?

The CHAIR: The Society in France is a department or Chapter of the Empire State Society and working under the jurisdiction of the Empire State Society. They were courteously and gladly, as far as that was concerned—there was considerable expense connected with the carrying on of the Society in France, and your Past President General, Gen. Horace Porter, retired, financed it during the period of his activities, and after that it threatened to become quite an expense to the National Society and the Empire State Society took it over; and in view of the fact that the largest number of its compatriots over there had been members of the Empire State Society, they have been carrying the burden of keeping it alive, and the exercises that have been taken and carried on have been primarily and actually as a Chapter of the Empire State Society, although we carry it still on our list as the Society in France. Now, gentlemen, you have heard the motion that the proposed amendments to the Constitution be adopted.

Mr. CURTIS (Conn.): As this question of Vice-Presidents General has been my baby for several years, I just want in a very few words to tell you how it came about. I yield to no man in my admiration of our Constitution. It was written by Judge Beardsley and Judge Stockbridge, and it is a remarkable and a splendid paper; but when they wrote it I think they themselves were just a little bit embarrassed to know what to do with the Vice-Presidents General. As you know, we elect five Vice-Presidents; they are probably some of the best men that we have. They establish their precedents by drawing lots, and then they disappear from the surface. They have no function, no duties; they are not members of the Executive Committee; in fact they are, if the gentlemen will excuse me, I will say pigeon-holed. Now here are some of the very best brains we have going to waste. To me that means that we waste a lot of material we ought to use. They could be elected from certain districts, so as to scatter them properly over the country, and then they ought to be made use of in the work of the Society in those sections. I consulted with the authors of our Constitution and suggested to them that we make use of them in some way, and this resolution which you have heard read has been written with the consent and approval of the authors of our Constitution. In fact, I may say further, that Judge Beardsley is largely responsible for the wording of it. Mr. Clark is largely responsible for the division of the districts, but the districts are only put in there arbitrarily so that we can elect under this plan this year—something to start on. We could not elect our five Vice Presidents, so we made up this tentative scheme of the districts, but it can be changed at any time by the committee. It may be for some reason that certain districts want to enlarge and others may want to contract, but the whole idea is to take these five Vice-Presidents from these different districts and then make them the Vice-Regents, as you may say, or the assistant Presidents, in their particular districts, under the control and direction of the President General at all times. Now it is physically impossible, even if you are endowed with the strength of our President General, for the President General to get everywhere at the same time. There are often in a district affairs of interest or importance which it would be impossible to get a President General to come to, and yet they need booming as much as any other Society, and if it happens to be in New England we could get the Vice-President in New England and he would come and wear the sash of the President, and to all intents and purposes he would be the President. My idea is to give him a high-sounding title; make as much of him as possible. He would be the General Superintendent of the work of the National Society in his district. At present there is no representative of the National Society in any district except when the President General happens to be present, whose duty it is to represent the National Society and to be responsible for the general work of that Society. Now these five Vice-Presidents will take up all that work. It is going to take them from the shelf and make them intensely active. They will have not only the work, but the responsibility of the National Society in their district and be responsible to the President General. In that way we will make use of this splendid material and at the same time we will be doing a great work for the Society, and it will be their duty to create activities, to generally supervise the work of the National Society in that district. In that way we feel that this will be a good thing. I proposed it in Newark, but as it involved a change in the Constitution it had to go over to another Congress, and as there was no Congress last year this is the first opportunity it had to come up.

Mr. NORTH (Cal.): May I ask one question in the line of information, and that is this, had the districts been arranged in view of the membership of our Society in these different districts?

Mr. CURTIS: Yes; they have.

Mr. NORTH: Then they are of comparatively equal membership?

The SECRETARY GENERAL: As near as we could make it.

Mr. NORTH: From the general proposition involved, the second district is overwhelming; on the general physical conditions, the fifth district would keep a man traveling continually, and I was just wondering what the basis was.

The CHAIR: It was the joint basis of the convenience of the Vice-Presidents General to cover the territory from which the Vice-President General was elected and to which he was assigned, and making them numerically as nearly as possible equal in order——

Mr. NORTH: Might I ask then, approximately what is the membership of the Society in district No. 1? I do not ask exactly, but an approximation.

The SECRETARY GENERAL: Maine has 319, New Hampshire 214, Vermont 221, Massachusetts 1,736, Rhode Island 360, Connecticut 1,132.

Mr. NORTH: The other districts are approximately the same?

The SECRETARY GENERAL: As near as we can make it; not exactly.

The CHAIR: Well, with a membership of about 16,000, there are approximately 4,000 in the New England district. You understand that the work in the New England and eastern coast district and the extreme Pacific coast has been a little more active than it has in some other States, but we feel under this arrangement that we can build up the Society very materially.

Mr. NORTH: What struck me as I looked at this just offhand was that the second district and the fifth district were rather overwhelmingly hard on whoever was chosen from them.

The CHAIR: You will recall that in order for an officer to cover a territory he has got to have train facilities and general tides of traffic and everything of that kind to help him out, and it is not going to be so much more difficult. I have made the western territory and the slope, and they can do it very readily under the plan as outlined by our Secretary General, physically. The wise provision is made that when the growth of the Society in the middle west and far west is increased as we expect it to increase the territories can be rearranged and the districts changed to comply with that. This is, as explained by Mr. Curtis, merely a tentative arrangement in order that, if it is adopted, we can intelligently go to work to elect our Vice-Presidents General tomorrow.

Mr. North: I do not want to be in the position of opposing the general idea; the only question in my mind was the exact working basis on which these different districts were laid out.

The Chair: It is not going to be easy for anybody, but it will be as convenient as possible to make it for whoever is elected the Vice-President General in the various territories.

Mr. Arnold (R. I.): Rhode Island seconds that motion for the amendment of the Constitution as printed.

Mr. Curtis: I was just going to say that if there is any criticism of the way the territory is divided, as I explained, it is simply tentative, because without some basis we cannot elect Vice-Presidents tomorrow, and if there is any criticism I would suggest that it be taken up with the Executive Committee, who have power to change this whole system as soon as they are appointed. This is a tentative arrangement, because we could not proceed with our election without it; but it can be changed at any time, and any criticism can be laid before the incoming Executive Committee, who have power to change it around in any way they desire.

(The amendments were then unanimously adopted.)

Mr. Kenyon (D. C.): I move that the report of the Secretary General be received and approved. The amendment was one of the items therein, but I move that the whole report be received and approved.

(The motion was seconded and unanimously adopted.)

The Chair: What is the pleasure of the Congress? Will you permit the President General to fulfill a promise which he made without the knowledge of the Congress—some of this little work that has been going on by your Presidents, but entirely without your knowledge. I promised to recognize Past President General Woodworth, as soon as the adoption of the Secretary General's report, to present a resolution so that it can be presented to the Committee on Resolutions for their action as early as possible. I now recognize Past President General Woodworth.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.

Mr. Woodworth (N. Y.): The subject of the Red Cross has been presented to this Congress this morning. As one who is charged with the raising of 30 million dollars in the State of New York, of the 100 million that is being sought for this week in the country, I feel that we should take formal recognition of this Red Cross work, and in this connection today at the opening of the Congress there was brought to our attention the absence of two members on account of the death of their mothers. It has been my privilege in the past year to be called on to organize at Syracuse, which is one of the divisional points in our railroad system from the East to the West—a Red Cross canteen service. The canteen service has gone to many hundreds of troop trains. There have been many thousand soldiers going across the seas who have received this canteen service, and the ladies have gone to those trains and they have carried their baskets in four compartments. There were cigarettes, chocolate bars, chewing gum, and postal cards. Into which compartment do you think the boys first reached? They reached for the postal cards; and on that train the canteen service is privileged to take up the postal cards that the boys may have written prior to the time of their arrival at that station and to censor those postal cards, and there has passed through our hands many thousands of those postal cards; and how do you think two-thirds or more of those postal cards are addressed? They commence "Dear Mother," or "Mother Dearest"; and they again reach for the postal cards in preference to the other articles in that tray. I think that illustrates the spirit that is in the boy who is going across, and echoes the spirit that is in the mother's heart here; and for a long time, for many years, I have known of the Spartan mother, but since I have come to Rochester yesterday I have seen typified two Spartan mothers. One was a woman from Canada who had four sons in the service, all between the ages of 18 and 24. I met her yesterday at luncheon. She was bright and cheerful as any woman could be, and yet only day before yesterday she had received news of a son captured; only a week ago last Sunday she had received word of a son killed, yet she was bright and cheerful. Another woman of Rochester, with a glow on her face, spoke of four sons in the service; and so today I linked in my thoughts the spirit of the mothers of America and the spirit of their boys that were going across. (Applause.) And so I have asked the privilege of introducing this resolution for your consideration:

WHEREAS during the present week the President of the United States, as President of the Red Cross, has called upon the people of this country to raise the sum of 100 million dollars for the use of the American Red Cross in its work of war relief at home and abroad; and

WHEREAS the American Red Cross is the recognized governmental agency for carrying on the work of relief; now it is hereby

Resolved, That the Sons of the American Revolution, in Congress assembled, expresses its approval of this work and of the funds to be raised, and strongly urges all its members to give their active and earnest support in their respective communities to the accomplishment of this week's campaign for the benefit of the Red Cross.

The CHAIR: The resolution will be referred to the Committee on Resolutions, with the request for its prompt return, so that you can take early action thereon. (The resolution was later favorably reported by the Committee and adopted.)

Mr. SHELDON (Neb.): The report of the Committee on Resolutions touches, I suppose, or will touch upon some vital questions concerning this Republic, the conditions of citizenship, the relation of education in schools to the future. I would like to offer a resolution that the Committee on Resolutions may, if it is possible, lay before this body at the time it presents its report mimeographed copies of their report, for I know that some of us, at least, will wish to very carefully consider, with our eyes upon the text, the resolutions adopted by this Congress at this time.

THE AMERICAN'S CREED.

Mr. PRESTON (Md.): I have a matter which I wanted to call to your attention, somewhat kindred to the resolution which has just been offered, and I will ask early consideration of the Committee on Resolutions for that reason, and for the additional reason that in the city which I have the honor to represent we are undergoing a campaign for the benefit of the Red Cross which will require my attention tomorrow morning, and I would be very much gratified if this very important body could act on the suggestion which I am about to make. May I say, by way of preamble, that just after the declaration of war by the United States against Germany, or the declaration of a state of war, some literary men of New York, very distinguished men of letters in our country, men of the type of Mr. Julian Street, Irvin Cobb, and many others of that type, Booth Tarkington and others gathered together in the city of New York, under the name of Vigilantes, and made an effort, through the literary publicity to which they had access, to do something for the centralization of American thought in the people who had come to our shores and who were not, perhaps, from education or environment or previous history, familiar with the landmarks and traditions of American history or with the hopes and aspirations of our people. They therefore suggested the slogan of a national creed, an American creed, a creed of citizenship, a creed of belief and traditions upon which every patriotic American could stand. Consequently a commission was appointed among these gentlemen, and they, after a year of consideration, established and selected what has been known and generally published over the country as The American's Creed. This creed has been very generally circulated by the press of the country, by the leading periodicals of the country, with approval, without a shadow of criticism, and the reason there can be no criticism is that it is a part—the words and the sentences are a part of our patriotic religion, our history, and come down to us from our forefathers, from the lips of our forefathers, gathered together in a homogeneous and concrete whole. The words are these:

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe that it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies.

The only criticism which I have heard is by a gentleman who ought to have known better, who said to me that perhaps we ought not to use the words "a perfect union" because nothing under the sun was perfect; but when I told him it was in the Declaration of Independence, and that we had no power to change the Declaration of Independence, and would therefore consent to no change in the creed based on that Declaration of Independence, he waived his objection, naturally. Now, that is the exposition of all the phrases I have just read you. The chairman of that committee was Mr. Matthew Andrews. He is with me here today. It is an interesting thought to find where those phrases have come from, and any curious person will find them gathered together in the Congressional Record of September 13, when it was offered to the House of Representatives, presented to Speaker Clark, Speaker Cannon, on behalf of the nation—former Speaker Cannon—and by them accepted for the nation and accepted by the United States Commissioner of Education in Washington upon the same occasion—and you will find that all clearly set out in the Congressional Record of Septembered 13. We have, in addition to that, Mr. Andrews present today, who is the chairman of that committee, who would be glad if he had an opportunity to detail to you in five minutes the sources of the great sounding phrases, the great concrete basis of our national life as embodied in this creed. It was thought—and I have withheld any public endorsement by any important public bodies, for the reason that I was most anxious, Mr. President General, that the first definite action should be taken by the first patriotic society in our country. I have deferred any definite action by patriotic bodies until the Sons of the American Revolution have spoken. I therefore offer the following resolution and ask that it be sent to the Committee on Resolutions, with the request that, if possible, they report at the afternoon session, so that I may have the pleasure of being present when this splendid organization can again put its stamp of approval and follow in the footsteps of our ancestors, who spent their blood and treasure and made the sacrifice for the preservation of futurity and its liberties.

WHEREAS in March, 1917, the city of Baltimore, through Mayor James H. Preston, offered a prize of $1,000 for the best creed of American citizenship. Committees were then appointed to pass upon the creeds submitted. These committees were (1) a committee on manuscripts, consisting of Porter Emerson Browne, Henry S. Chapin, Hermann Hagedorn, and representatives from leading American magazines; (2) a committee on award, consisting of Matthew Page Andrews, Irvin S. Cobb, Hamlin Garland, Ellen Glasgow, Julian Street, Booth Tarkington, and Charles Hanson Towne; (3) an advisory committee, consisting of Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education, and other National and State officials; and

WHEREAS on the 6th day of March, 1918, the aforesaid committee on award selected from the several thousand contestants creed number 384, the creed submitted by William Tyler Page, which reads as follows:

"THE AMERICAN'S CREED.

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies."

AND WHEREAS on the 3d day of April, 1918, in the city of Washington the aforesaid creed was presented to the nation through the Hon. Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, and by Dr. P. P. Claxton, U. S. Commissioner of Education, who, for the nation and in the presence of an assemblage of members of the Senate of the United States and House of Representatives of the United States and other representatives of the Federal Government, accepted the aforesaid American Creed "for the nation and in their name," all of which will more fully appear by reference to the Congressional Record of April 13, 1918; and

WHEREAS it is peculiarly appropriate that at the Twenty-ninth Annual Congress of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, taking place in the midst of the world's war, some renewal of the memories of the past and a pledge for the future should be entered into by the descendants of the patriots whose blood and sacrifice has made safe to us our national existence and liberties; now therefore be it

Resolved by the Twenty-ninth Annual Congress of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, That we do hereby indorse and approve the "American Creed" by William Tyler Page, as selected by a committee of Vigilantes and presented to the nation, in the city of Washington, as described in the Congressional Record of April 13, 1918, and that we give our hearty assent and approval to the sentiments contained therein, and that we commend to our compatriots in whatever jurisdiction the words and the spirit contained in the said "American Creed," and

Be it further resolved, That the Secretary General be instructed to convey specially to each of the secretaries of each of the State Societies a copy of this resolution, with instructions to read the same at the next general meeting of their respective State Societies.

Mr. President General, we have present today, if you have five minutes that you would give him, a gentleman who will explain to you the origin of the phrases contained in the creed, the distinguished history of those phrases.

The CHAIR: We would be very glad to give him the time after lunch. The resolution, as proposed by Compatriot James H. Preston, Mayor of the city of Baltimore and first Vice-President of the Maryland Society, will be presented to the Committee on Resolutions for their consideration.

Judge BEARDSLEY: The Committee on Resolutions have been favored with the views of the people and are ready to report recommending to the Congress the adoption of the resolution for the American's Creed.

The CHAIR: Compatriots, you have heard the report of your Committee on Resolutions to whom was referred the resolution of Compatriot Preston. The committee's report is that the same be adopted. Are you ready for the question?

The CHAIR: The President had turned to call to the gentleman to speak to the motion. Mr. Andrews, we will listen to you.

Mr. ANDREWS: I am not a member of this body, but it is my intention to become one and get as many more recruits as I possibly can within the next few weeks. I will just read these quotations taken from the Congressional Record. It will take about two minutes.

A MEMBER: I would like to inquire if the speaker is a compatriot?

The CHAIR: The President General assumed the responsibility of inviting the gentleman to speak.

A MEMBER: The Maryland Society has already taken steps to make the gentleman a member.

Judge REMINGTON: I move that we give unanimous consent to the gentleman to speak.

(The motion was seconded and carried.)

The CHAIR: And now that Hoyle and parliamentary practice and everything else is bound and sealed and tied up properly, Mr. Andrews, I trust you will appreciate the additional compliment of having the endorsement of the Society backing up the President General. (Laughter and applause.)

Mr. ANDREWS: The first phrase, "The United States of America," is taken from the preamble of the Constitution of the United States; "A government of the people, by the people, for the people," is from the preamble of the Constitution of the United States and also Daniel Webster's speech in the Senate, January 26, 1830, also from Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg address; the exact words, "Whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed," from Thomas Jefferson, in the Declaration of Independence; "A democracy in a Republic," is explained and set forth by James Madison, in the Federalist, Paper No. 10, Article 10, and in the Amendment to the Constitution also; "A sovereign nation of many sovereign States," is taken from E Pluribus Unum, from the Great Seal of the United States, and Article 4 of the Constitution also; "A perfect union," from the preamble to the Constitution; "One and inseparable," Webster's speech in the Senate, January 26, 1830; "Established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity, for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes," from the Declaration of Independence; "I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it," is taken in substance from Edward Everett Hale's "The Man Without a Country"; "To support its Constitution," from oath of allegiance, Section B, 1757, Revised Statutes of the United States; "To obey its laws," from Washington's farewell address, also Article 6 of the Constitution of the United States; "To respect its flag," from National Anthem, Star Spangled Banner, army and navy regulations, War Department circular on Flag Etiquette, April 14, 1917; "And to defend it against all enemies," from oath of allegiance, Section 1457, Revised Statutes of the United States. (Applause.)

Mr. CLARKE (Va.): Those words, "Of the people, for the people, and by the people" were written first by John Marshall in a decision in the Supreme Court relating to a case that came up from the State of Tennessee. John Marshall originated those words, "Of the people, for the people, and by the people."

Mr. HENRY (Mich.): As a member of the Resolutions Committee, this matter has been taken up before. I supposed that some such action had been taken by the Sons of the American Revolution before this time. We have had a similar creed in Detroit; every Fourth of July we have this gone over by the new citizens, read and repeated by all who are present, and I supposed it had been adopted here. I cannot see any objection to it, and the Committee on Resolutions adopted it at once when it was presented to them.

Mr. FOSTER (Wash.): We went all over that two or three times and are very glad it is so well-worded and so strongly. I will not speak for the committee; I will speak for myself. If I had had a chance to have drawn that up originally I think you would have been better pleased with it (laughter); and I think there's one or two or three words left out; but there are so many good things in it that we put our O. K. on it right off. (Laughter and applause.)

The CHAIR: All in favor of the adoption of the report of the Resolutions Committee, which carries with it the adoption of the resolution presented by Compatriot Preston, of Maryland, will manifest it by rising.

(The report was unanimously adopted.)

The CHAIR: The motion is carried. I recognize Judge Remington for an announcement on behalf of the Committee on Arrangements and Entertainment.

Judge REMINGTON: Mr. President General, all the compatriots and all the ladies who are guests of the compatriots are to be guests of the local Chapter of the D. A. R. in the Pompeiian room down stairs just off the rotunda of the hotel. We hope you will all be there. Luncheon will be served about 12:45 o'clock.

The CHAIR: Has the Committee on Resolutions anything further to report, briefly?

Judge BEARDSLEY: First, we wish to report on the resolution offered by Colonel Vrooman, that the address of the President General be referred to the Committee on Resolutions, etc. We approve of it and recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the recommendations contained in the address of the President General be adopted and carried out in accordance therewith.

The CHAIR: Gentlemen, you have heard the report of the Committee on Resolutions on the Vrooman resolution.

(The resolution was unanimously adopted.)

Judge BEARDSLEY: The committee approve the following resolution, presented by Mr. Woodworth, and recommend its adoption:

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.

WHEREAS during the present week the President of the United States, as President of the American Red Cross, has called upon the people of this country to raise the sum of $100,000,000 for the use of the American Red Cross in its work of relief at home and abroad; and

WHEREAS the American Red Cross is the recognized governmental agency for carrying on the work of war relief; now it is hereby

Resolved, That the Sons of the American Revolution, in Congress assembled, expresses its approval of this work and of the funds to be raised, and strongly urges all its members to give their active and earnest support in their respective communities to the accomplishment of this week's campaign for the benefit of the American Red Cross.

(On motion, the above resolution was adopted.)

Afternoon Session, May 20, 1918.

The CHAIR: Compatriots, the hour having arrived when we were to reconvene, you will please come to order and we will continue with the regular order of business by listening to the report of the Registrar General. Prior, however, to reading that report he advises me that he had two or three resolutions that had been presented and will be referred to the Resolutions Committee in accordance with the rule.

The SECRETARY GENERAL: The first resolution refers to the revision of the United States Statutes in regard to immigration and naturalization, introduced by the Wisconsin Society. The second resolution, received from the Lexington Chapter, Iowa, concerns the repayment to France in some way of the debt we owe to them. The third has to do with the repeal of laws permitting aliens to vote before they are naturalized citizens.

CANCELLATION OF FRENCH WAR DEBT.

The CHAIR: These resolutions will be referred to the Committee on Resolutions. May the President General beg the indulgence of the Congress for just a moment? One of our distinguished compatriots has come all the way from Iowa to present this resolution, and I would like to have Compatriot Cole have the privilege of reading the resolution, which I think is most admirable in its object, and before it goes to the Committee on Resolutions I think the Congress is entitled to hear it read. Compatriot Cole, will you read the resolution?

Mr. COLE: I was just a little fearful that our President has not impressed upon you the greatness of Iowa. We feel out there that we are some pumpkins, to use a common expression. Last year we went over the top with 125 million more bushels of corn than they raised in Illinois, and I suppose you people down East, every time you eat a piece of corn bread, think some one in Illinois raised it. We produce more wheat than Illinois. When the Liberty Loan was launched, we went over the top with a great big margin. The soil of Iowa is as rich as that of the valley of the Nile, and we have almost as much population as the entire United States had in the days of the Revolution. We have great fields of zinc and lead ore and everything that goes to make up material wealth. South of us is the great State of Missouri, that this year promises to give to the United States 45 million bushels of winter wheat as their part of the great yield to supply the Allies. Now all this marks a country of great material wealth. I need not go further to picture the other States of the West, because I am sure that every man here representing any State will claim for his State equally great things in every respect to those I have named for my home State and the adjoining States. I know very well if you were to ask Dr. Foster, of Washington, he would claim more than double that, because those fellows out on the Pacific are the greatest boosters on earth. You will find every evidence of culture and refinement in the little red school house and our universities are maintained at public expense. Our people are as high above those of the old world as the Rocky Mountains are above the plain. Now, turn back the pages of history for a few years, and what do you find? A little remnant of people skirting along the Atlantic Ocean, fighting for their very existence, opposing the law of might and fighting against the conditions that sought to impose on them that rule. Now look again and we see Washington's army, hungry and cold, leaving the marks of their footsteps in blood on the frozen ground, while our people prayed to the Almighty for relief, and across the water there came a great nation bringing to us guns and soldiers, and at the battle of Yorktown there were more French soldiers and sailors than there were those of the Revolution. Today across the same water comes an appeal and the great nation that helped us then is saying to the Hun, "Thou shalt not pass." And they stand there defending civilization against that barbarous horde of whom Billy Sunday has said, "If you turned hell wrong side up you'd find on the bottom, 'Made in Germany.'" These are the people who are fighting our battle, because the downfall of France would menace us. As the German Kaiser has expressed it, "I will stand no nonsense from America after this war is over." Senator Kenyon said that the two million dollars which France loaned us at that time, if interest was compounded, at the present day would amount to one billion nine hundred million dollars—a greater debt than France owes the United States. I want to read a little poetry here:

Give us a name to fill the mind
  With the shining thoughts that lead mankind
The glory of learning, the joy of art,
  A name that tells of a splendid part
In the long, long toil and strenuous fight
  Of the human race to win its way
From the ancient darkness into the day
  Of freedom, brotherhood, equal rights,
A name like a star, a name of life;
  I give you France.

Give us a name to stir the blood
  With a warmer glow and a swifter flood
At the touch of a courage that conquers fear,
  A name like the call of a trumpet clear,
And silver sweet and iron strong
  That brings three million men to their feet,
Ready to march and ready to meet
  The foe who threatens that name with wrong,
A name that springs like a battle song;
  I give you France.

Give us a name to move the heart
With the strength that noble griefs impart,
A name that speaks of the blood outpoured
To save mankind from the sway of the sword,
A name that calls the world to share
The burden of sacrificial strife,
Where the cause at stake is the world's free life,
And the rule of the people everywhere;
A name like a vow, a name like a prayer;
I give you France.

(Applause.)

Now at the last meeting of our Lexington Chapter at Keokuk, of which I am a member, called to give good bye to the youngest member of our Chapter who is going off to the war, some business was transacted, and Senator Kenyon had at one time in a lecture he gave to us at Keokuk given us the idea that France's debt to us should be canceled; in fact, she owes us nothing, and I introduced a resolution which was sent up to the Secretary General, of which I bring a copy and without changing its phraseology.

Now, Mr. Chairman, I would like to refer that to the Committee on Resolutions for a report. (See p. 139.)

The CHAIR: The resolution will be referred to the Committee on Resolutions, and I trust it will receive their early attention.

SUPPRESSION OF GERMAN-LANGUAGE PAPERS.

Mr. THOMPSON (N. J.): The New Jersey Society, at a Board meeting recently, passed the following resolution in regard to the circulation of the German press and its curtailment, and at the same meeting it was asked that we place it before the National Congress. These resolutions have been in the hands of the Resolutions Committee and have been returned to me to be read publicly at this time.

The CHAIR: Is it brought back with the recommendation of the Resolutions Committee?

Mr. THOMPSON: Yes, that they be read at this time.

WHEREAS the publication or circulation of papers or periodicals in an alien enemy language is now most dangerous to the welfare of this nation and inimical to its interests; and

WHEREAS it is a well-known fact that the papers and other periodicals now published in the German language are known not to be actively partisan to the cause of this nation and its Allies in the war against the Central Powers of Europe and are but passively patriotic; and

WHEREAS the circulation of such papers and periodicals is yet very large in many parts of this country where there are also many enterprises of vital importance to the United States Government and to the conduct of the war; and

WHEREAS the movement to curtail and stop the circulation of the German-language papers has now reached large proportions; now therefore be it

Resolved by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution:

First. That it absolutely opposes the publication and circulation of papers and periodicals or other literature whatsoever in the German language.

Second. That it is in favor of the necessary Federal legislation to suppress such publication and circulation to be passed as soon as possible.

Third. That it hereby requests the proper authorities at Washington to take such immediate and effective action in the premises as they may be advised is proper to bring about uniform curtailment of the circulation of the said papers.

Fourth. That it directs a copy of these resolutions to be sent forthwith to the President and the Congress of the United States.

Fifth. That it directs a copy of these resolutions be sent forthwith to the Secretaries of the several State Societies, with the request that it be placed before their representatives in Congress.

The CHAIR: The resolution will be referred to the Resolutions Committee.

The CHAPLAIN GENERAL: It has been referred.

STUDY OF GERMAN IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The CHAIR: Past President General Woodworth has a resolution he desires to present at this time for reference to the committee. It relates to the teaching of German in the public schools and reads as follows:

WHEREAS the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution is dedicated to the preservation of American ideals—one land, one flag, one speech, and one standard of loyalty; and

WHEREAS it is manifest that the teaching of the German language in our schools is now subversive to such principles; be it

Resolved, That we call upon those in authority to exclude the teaching of the German language from our public schools; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary General be instructed to send copies of this resolution to the President of each State Society; and be it further

Resolved, That the President of each State Society be directed to send copies of this resolution to the Governor, the Department of Education, and to the press of their respective States.

REVISION OF IMMIGRATION LAWS.

The CHAIR: I note that Compatriot Sands, representing the Wisconsin Society, is present now and I will ask him to read the resolution which otherwise I would have referred to the committee during his absence.

(Compatriot Sands reads the following resolution in reference to the revision of immigration laws.)

WHEREAS the participation of our country in the world war now raging has disclosed the fact that many naturalized citizens of foreign birth and children of naturalized citizens born in America are nevertheless alien in sympathy and sentiment and disloyal in thought and act, manifesting a purpose in seeking the opportunities here afforded them purely selfish and mercenary; therefore be it

Resolved, That a special committee of seven be appointed, whose duty it shall be to prepare and submit to the Congress of the United States a memorial, urging a careful revision of the laws covering and dealing with the subject of immigration; that such laws be so amended as to require that all immigrants of sixteen years of age and upwards be required upon entering the United States to declare in writing and under oath their purpose and intention in entering or seeking a domicile in the United States; that if such immigrants shall declare it to be their intention to become citizens of the United States and to acquire a permanent domicile therein, such declarants be required by law to enter upon the study of the English language and governmental science, especially in relation to the Constitution and laws of the United States and American history, unless at the time of entering they are able to pass a satisfactory examination in the fundamentals of the subjects named; that such studies be conducted under the general direction and supervision of the Commissioner of Education of the United States, and that before citizenship shall be conferred applicant therefor shall pass a satisfactory examination in English, civics, and American history; that all aliens entering for business, pleasure, or other temporary purpose, and with no intention of becoming citizens, declare specifically their purpose and be subject to reasonable governmental supervision and regulation as to travel, residence, occupation, etc.; that any act of hostility or unfriendliness subject the person or persons guilty thereof to immediate deportation.

The CHAIR: The resolution will be referred to the committee.

(At the request of the President General, Vice-President General Williams takes the chair.)

REPORT OF THE REGISTRAR GENERAL.

COMPATRIOTS: Your Registrar General has the honor to report that during the official year ending March 31, 1918, there were enrolled 1,473 new members, an increase of 322 over the year preceding and the greatest number in the Society's history. Eighty-six former members were restored to the rolls. The losses by death were 278; by resignation, 87; and the membership of 177 ceased from other causes. The active roll on April 1 was 15,423, and additions up to May 15 increased to 15,629 members. The largest State Societies are Massachusetts, 1,736 members; Empire State, 1,549; New Jersey, 1,309; Connecticut, 1,132; Illinois, 1,120. The greatest net percentage of gain by Societies, numbering 100 or more, was in Wisconsin, which started the year with 160 and closed with 215, a gain of 34.3 per cent. Utah came next with 31.6 per cent. Wisconsin is therefore entitled to the award of the Traveling Banner. Kansas must be commended for a gain of 35 per cent and Idaho for 50 per cent, but as each had less than 100 members at the beginning of the year they were excluded from this contest.

The Syracuse Banner, to be awarded to the Society enrolling the greatest number of new members, goes now from New Jersey to Massachusetts, which registered 139 new members. Other Societies that have been industrious in securing new members are the Empire State, 125; New Jersey, 115; Illinois, 114; Michigan, 111; Wisconsin, 73; Iowa, 69; Ohio, 67; Pennsylvania, 58; and Colorado, 57.

In some cases several brothers have been enrolled at the same time as their fathers. It is gratifying to note, also, that a large proportion of the new members are young men between 21 and 30 years, some of them having had their papers pended until they became of age. This addition of the younger generation means that the Society will be long lived. As the older ones pass away the younger men now being trained in the work will take their places.

The detailed statistics of membership by States is as follows:

In the long list of members deceased are the names of former President General Moses Greeley Parker, former Historian General Edward M. Gallaudet, former Vice-President General and Historian General Theodore S. Peck, former Vice-President General Moses Veale, former Vice-President General George Rowland Howe, Hon. Ebenezer J. Hill, Member of Congress from Connecticut; Hon. Charles Carroll Goodwin, former President of Utah Society; Hon. Charles Henry Grosvenor, former Member of Congress; Hon. Seth Shepard, Chief Justice of Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia; Col. Charles Page Bryan, former Ambassador to Japan; Major Henry Van Amburgh Joslin, of Rhode Island; and Zebina Moses, of the District of Columbia. From time to time there comes the tidings of compatriots who are giving their lives for their country in the great world war.

Heading the honor roll is Henry B. Palmer, of the Rochester Chapter, who died in service in France November 13, 1917; Briggs Kilburn Adams, aviator, son of Compatriot W. Lincoln Adams, of the New Jersey Society, died from injuries in line of duty in March, 1918; Stuart Walcott, aviator, son of our compatriot, Secretary Walcott, of the Smithsonian Institution, was killed in combat with German aëroplanes in December, 1917. For valiant service the French Government awarded him the decoration of the "Croix de Guerre."

The personnel of the Society has from the beginning included many of the highest leaders of American industries and the learned professions and the power and influence of these men is being felt at this moment in directing the affairs of the nation. They feel it a privilege and a duty, as well as an honor, to enroll their names among those who, in these trying days, are doing all in their power to preserve those ideals for which their forefathers pledged their lives and sacred honor a century and a third ago.

To the routine duties of the office of Registrar General there has been added the issuance of an engraved enrollment card to every new member entered on the National Society register, a system adopted by the Executive Committee at the request of members in several parts of the country, who had failed to receive prompt notification from their State Societies.

Of the large certificates of membership 881 were engrossed, about 200 in excess of the usual annual number.

The Registrar General has prepared for publication full pedigrees of all new members. These records have appeared in abstract in the Official Bulletin and will later be printed in full in the Year Book.

The archives in the Registrar General's office are of very great historical and genealogical value, containing the application papers of more than 31,000 members who have been enrolled since 1889. There is a complete alphabetical card index of all these members, so that any paper can at once be located, and likewise a card index of more than 35,000 revolutionary ancestors, from whom claims have been filed, permits immediate reference to such names.

Much might be said about Revolutionary records in possession of the government, muster-rolls and pay-rolls, and pension papers of soldiers and sailors, and the desirability of their publication, but at present the world war holds first place and all else must be held in abeyance.

Respectfully submitted, A. Howard Clark, Registrar General.

The Chair: Compatriots, you have heard the report of the Registrar General, what is your pleasure?

Mr. Woodworth: I move that the report be accepted and placed on file.

(The motion was seconded and adopted.)

The Chair: The next report is that of the Treasurer General. In the absence of the Treasurer General, it will be presented by the Secretary General.

REPORT OF TREASURUR GENERAL.

Office of Treasurer General 15 William Street,
New York, N. Y., May 15, 1918.

President General and Compatriots: The Treasurer General has the honor to submit the following report of the receipts and disbursements for the fiscal year ending May 15, 1918.

Our late compatriot, Zebina Moses, of the District of Columbia Society, remembered the National Society in his will, leaving to the Society the amount of $2,000, to be placed to the credit of the Permanent Fund. This amount has been invested in the Third Liberty Loan bonds.

The appeal of the President General in the March Official Bulletin for subscriptions from the individual members of the organization of $1.00 or more for the purchase of the Third Liberty Loan bonds did not meet with a hearty response, possibly from so many local calls on members for the same purpose.

It is but fitting to state that the Florida Society responded to the extent of over $1.00 apiece from each member. The District of Columbia Society contributed generously. The Empire State Society purchased bonds to the extent of $200 from subscriptions, and these bonds have been handed to the Treasurer General.

The financial condition of the Society is stronger than ever, but economy in expenditure is recommended for the coming year. While the Permanent Fund is increasing, the General Fund is not growing larger.

Respectfully submitted,

John H. Burroughs,
Treasurer General.

REPORT ON PERMANENT FUND.

OFFICE OF TREASURER GENERAL, 15 WILLIAM STREET,
NEW YORK, N. Y., May 15, 1918.

President General and Compatriots:

The Treasurer General has the honor to submit the following report on the Permanent Fund. At the last Annual Congress, held in Newark, N. J., May 16, 1916, there was on hand:

State of New York, Canal 4's, 1961		$2,000
City of New York 4's, 1958		2,000
City of New York 4's, 1959		1,000
City of New York 4½, 1963		1,000
Atch., T. & S. Fe. 4's, 1995		1,000
Keokee Consolidated Coke Co. 5's, 1959		1,000
Cash	$491.66
		$8,000

At the present time there is on hand, in addition to the above, the following:

N. Y. Railways Adjustment Income Bond (Dr. Parker's gift)	1,000
Liberty Loan Bonds, 3½ per cent	1,000
Third Liberty Loan, 4¼ per cent	2,000
City of New York 4's, 1958	1,000
Total at par value	$13,000

From a bequest of the late compatriot, Zebina Moses, of the District of Columbia Society, of $2,000; from cash received for rebates on insignia, rosettes, ribbon, and service bars; from cash transferred from the General Fund by order of the Executive Committee, the last three investments were made, leaving on hand in cash, to the credit of the Permanent Fund, $305.49.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN H. BURROUGHS,
Treasurer General.

THIRD LIBERTY LOAN FUND.

OFFICE OF TREASURER GENERAL, 15 WILLIAM STREET,
NEW YORK, N. Y., May 15, 1918.

President General and Compatriots:

The Treasurer General has the honor to submit the following report on the Third Liberty Loan Fund:

The appeal of the President General, printed in the March OFFICIAL BULLETIN, for this fund resulted in cash subscriptions amounting to $261.50. Of this amount, $250 has been invested. The Empire State Society, in response to the appeal, presented to the National Society $200 in bonds. There is, therefore, on hand, a total of bonds of $450, and of cash remaining, $11.50.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN H. BURROUGHS,
Treasurer General.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON INVESTMENTS.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY NATIONAL BANK,
PEEKSKILL, N. Y., April 25, 1918.

Mr. A. HOWARD CLARK,
Secretary General, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR MR. CLARK: Yesterday, April 24, I examined the securities in the safe-deposit box belonging to the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and hereby certify that the following were in said box:

$4,000 New York City Corporate Stock, 4 per cent.
1,000 New York City Corporate Stock, 4½ per cent.
2,000 New York State Bonds.
1,000 Liberty Loan, 3½ per cent.
1,000 Keokee Consolidated Coke Co.
1,000 Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe.
1,000 New York Railways.

Very sincerely yours,

C. A. PUGSLEY,
Chairman.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., May 10, 1918.

Mr. A. HOWARD CLARK,
Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR SECRETARY GENERAL: Since writing you some days ago in relation to the invested funds of the Sons of the American Revolution in safe-deposit vault in New York City, I wish to state that $2,400 4¼ Liberty Loan Bonds have been added to that fund and are now in safe-deposit box. * * *

With all good wishes, I am
Very sincerely yours,

C. A. PUGSLEY,
Chairman.

The SECRETARY GENERAL: The Treasurer General desired to have it announced, by request of the Tennessee Society, that a check was on the way for their dues, but it came too late to be included here. Another Society has paid its full dues today.

(The President General resumes the chair.)

The CHAIR: Gentlemen, you have heard the report of the Treasurer General, the Auditing Committee, and the Investment Committee. The three are so nearly related that we will take action on all three, if you please, at the same time. What is your pleasure in connection with the report as read?

The CHAPLAIN GENERAL: I move that the report be adopted.

(Motion seconded and carried.)

Mr. PARKS (D. C.): It may interest the National Society, as long as in this report reference has been made to Compatriot Moses, who left

$2,000 to the National Society, to know that he also left $2,000 to the District of Columbia Society. Most of you knew Zebina Moses. He was a worker in the cause, and in every way he could he did his utmost to promote the interest of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. I therefore deem it pertinent at this time to say that not only did he contribute the $2,000 to our General Society, but he gave $2,000 more to the District of Columbia Society. We promptly invested that and $1,000 more a few days ago in the Third Liberty Loan, and we have in our little Society of about 500 members more than $10,000 invested in what is known as our permanent fund. (Applause.) Also I might add that a canvass of the membership of our Society disclosed the fact that more than $300,000 have been contributed by that Society of 500 members to the purchase of Liberty Bonds. (Applause.)

The CHAIR: That is a very fine and interesting showing.

Mr. READ (Mass.): Dr. Parker, also, besides leaving a bequest to the National Society, gave the Massachusetts Society the income of $5,000. Our reserve fund today is $16,000, and we have lately invested $3,000 in Liberty Bonds. (Applause.)

(The motion to adopt the report of the Treasurer General and the other reports connected therewith was then carried.)

BEQUEST OF ZEBINA MOSES.

Mr. CURTIS (Conn.): I have been asked by the Resolutions Committee to make the following motion in regard to Zebina Moses. The gentleman from Washington has told you about him better than I can do, so I shall simply make this motion as requested by the Resolutions Committee:

WHEREAS our late compatriot, Zebina Moses, has given the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution a legacy of $2,000 as an addition to its Permanent Fund; therefore Resolved, That the Society gratefully appreciates the gift and tenders its sincere thanks for the same.

A formal receipt has already been sent, but it was the wish of the President General and also the Resolutions Committee that we place this on our records, so that we might have a permanent minute of it, and that it shall be promptly transmitted to the parties interested.

The CHAIR: Gentlemen, you have heard the reading of the resolution. What disposition do you wish to make of it?

(It was moved and carried that the resolution be spread on the records of the Society and that a copy be sent to the relatives.)

The CHAIR: I will say that your President General signed the executor's formal papers relating to the bequest and acknowledged the receipt to the best of his humble ability, and I thank the Congress for taking the official action it has taken in this connection, and while the day is yet young and I trust that the All Wise Providence will not enter our ranks and take from our midst any of the valuable and valued compatriots for many, many years, at the same time I may leave the thought with you that it is appreciated, equally appreciated, at least, to receive these donations while you are living and can enjoy having the honor and thanks of the Society, and if anybody desires to add one, two, five, or ten thousand dollars to the permanent fund of this Society don't let him be backward about offering it. The Treasurer General, Secretary General, and everybody else will be mighty glad to acknowledge the receipt. Next in order is the report of the Historian General. I have the pleasure of presenting the Historian General, Compatriot David L. Pierson, of New Jersey.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE HISTORIAN GENERAL.

To the President General and Compatriots of the Society of Sons of the American Revolution:

Twenty-nine years have passed since our Society was organized in Fraunce's Tavern, New York, April 30, 1889. Our first Congress, held at Louisville, Ky., adopted the Constitution, which was signed by 31 delegates. The first patriotic resolution secured the daily display of the Stars and Stripes from the White House at Washington, and since then the emblem of our beloved land has been given increasing care and attention, has traveled to the North Pole, and is now on the ramparts of twentieth century civilization.

First of all, the matter incorporated in the initial volume, published in 1890, is the quotation from Lincoln's famous address, so much on our minds today: "This nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth." There is also found in that volume a patriotic gem uttered by Daniel Webster: "I was born an American; I live an American; I shall die an American."

"I am not a Virginian, but an American," declared Patrick Henry in the House of Burgesses, when his enemy was about to cast its support in the cause of freedom. And so we have come from our various States in this spirit of American solidarity to continue the work of the forebears who established these United States.

We are now meeting under vastly different conditions than those prevailing four years ago, when we observed our twenty-fifth anniversary at the Syracuse Congress. Then we were preparing for the now famous pilgrimage from Philadelphia to Cambridge, marking Washington's pathway in 1775, when he assumed command of the Continental Army. As we went from village to town and from town to city through five populous States during the latter part of June and the early days of July, 1914, our mission was of peace. We talked of the progress our nation had made since the camp fires were set burning a century and a third in the past, of the exemplary and sacrificing life of the Commander-in-Chief. The spirit of '76 was invoked and spoken of as something to be zealously guarded. This pilgrimage was an innovation in our country. Before it had progressed very far thousands upon thousands of liberty-loving men, women, and children exhibited a wholesome responsibility of our citizenship as the guard of institutions founded on the pure spirit of equal rights.

Soon afterward and in a very few days the spark which ignited the European conflagration gave evidence that there can be no peace till the war spirit has been submerged and a world democracy prevails. The flames have now wrapped into their embrace our own country and all of our treasure of life and industry; but though the way may be long, Columbia will ride safely through the storm, and when the peaceful pursuits of life are exchanged for those of the hideous monster now stalking the earth, it will relieve the burden which has for centuries been holding down millions of people across the seas and bring greater security to our own firesides.

The recent dedication of the plot of land at Morristown, N. J., known as Fort Nonsense Park, has preserved it as a historical park. Here the Commander-in-Chief assembled his emaciated and depressed troops in the spring of 1780.

Earthworks were hurriedly thrown up for protection against the enemy, who, it was proclaimed, would march upon them any moment. The object sought was accomplished to improve the morale of the camp. Thus another parcel of land of Revolutionary War association in New Jersey is reserved for all time as a patriotic retreat. The cemetery at the Springfield battlefield, a few miles east of Morristown, is owned by the New Jersey Society, and permanent patriotic reservations have been made of Washington's headquarters at Morristown in 1779-1780, the Wallace House, at Somerville, where Washington spent the winter of 1778-1779, and of the Rocky Hill mansion, used as headquarters in the late summer and autumn of 1783 while Congress was in session at Nassau Hall, Princeton, but three miles distant.

Under the auspices of the Empire State Society, the usual wreath and flag were placed on Lafayette's tomb in Paris last Independence Day. The occasion will ever be remembered for the historical utterance of General Pershing, when he said: "Here we are, Lafayette!"

Observance of the 130th anniversary of the adoption of the Federal Constitution was recommended by this office, official recognition given by our President General, and many of the State Societies arranged programs expressive of this notable event in our national life.

Shall we not place upon our calendars this date, September 17, and annually assemble in patriotic meeting on CONSTITUTION DAY? This matchless document, evolved by the brain and heart of the builders of our Republic is our anchor and compass. We must look well to its security.

Recommendation is also made that each State birthday be observed by the Society therein organized. This was done in New Jersey on December 18, 1917, which marked the 130th anniversary of the adoption of the Federal Constitution, and a very excellent response was made by the people, the educational institutions, and other organizations in that State.

While visiting several cantonments your Historian was greatly impressed with the possibilities of wider scope of our activities. We would consistently organize a national speakers' bureau and provide the meetings at the training camps with speakers from our membership. We have all felt the wonderful, subtle, patriotic thrill, as our soldiers and sailors have been prepared for service overseas and of the accounts of their upholding the flag of Stars and Stripes in the storm of battle in the true spirit of descendants of those who wore the buff, white, and blue a century and a third in the past.

We miss the kindly presence of the lamented Gilbert C. Kniffin, of the District of Columbia Society, who was so intensely interested in preserving the pension records at Washington. In his last report at the Newark Congress he urged that a synopsis of the records, at least, should be printed and published. The 100th anniversary of the adoption of the first pension act occurred on March 18 of this year.

Compatriot Chester N. Jones, President of the New Jersey Society, who retired at a moment's notice, as it were, to assist in the work of the Shipping Control Board, prepared a copy, after several years' effort, of all the New Jersey pension records obtainable. These, bound into a typewritten volume, give but a glimpse into the mine of rich, historical material, now filed in the archives of the Pension Department and awaiting governmental action to bring them into public use. Recently it was the good fortune of the writer to discover a valuable document relating to a distinguished Jerseyman, Dr. John Condit, who performed such meritorious service upon Washington's masterly retreat in November and December, 1776, as to win the proffer of a commission by the Commander-in-Chief. No doubt there are many more of similar character in the form of affidavits hidden at the National Capitol recesses.

One of the hoped-for departures in our Annual Congress is that of an Historical Section, to which the Historian of the State Societies and Chapters would be invited. The value of such a section is most evident. In that way our Historians would be in closer touch with one another and a medium provided for discussing the feasibility of giving a series of historical lectures, illustrated perhaps, and also upon the work of our Society, the text-books used in public schools reviewed, ideas advanced for compiling historical articles for permanent use in educational institutions, and many other reasons may be advanced for the creation of this department.

The careful study is recommended of the important era, from April 19, 1783, marking the official proclamation of peace, till September 17, 1787, when the Constitution was spread before the nation, and also that of the administration of the first President, all related to the reconstruction of the normal life of the people.

And when this world war is over, wider fields of usefulness will be awaiting our labors. We must not withhold our hand from the task that comes to us. Whatever course is pointed our Society, already having accomplished much for the national good, we will not fail, I am sure, to heed the wind and sail.

Work!
Thank God for the might of it,
The ardor, the urge, the delight of it;
Work that springs from the heart's desire,
Setting the brain and the soul on fire;
Oh, what is so good as the heat of it,
And what is so glad as the beat of it,
And what is so kind as the stern command,
Challenging brain and heart and hand!

ANGELA MORGAN.

In closing this report, I wish to express my deep appreciation for the assistance given me by the officers, National and State, during the past years. We have a splendid fellowship, not marking time, but marching along in the front ranks of a patriot host. We have justified our existence by devoted service to a great cause. Our patriotism has not been dormant through the years. The splendid activities for nearly a third of a century by our compatriots in every department of public life merits the honorable place our organization is now holding in the estimation of those in authority at Washington. And my final words are a quotation from our Bay State compatriot, Edwin Sanford Crandon: "Our inspiration is from the past, our duty is in the present, and our hope is for the future."

The CHAIR: Compatriots, you have heard the report of the Historian General; what is your pleasure?

(On motion, the report was adopted.)

The CHAIR: I wish to say at this particular point that I think of nothing that would justify the work or prove the value of having a Historian General who is the student of history that Compatriot Pierson has proven himself to be than this suggestion which was adopted by your national officers, of observing the date of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States by the Constitutional Convention, and I join with him in the hope that the Sons of the American Revolution will stand sponsors for and urge that that day be set apart in the history of this nation; second—no, not second, but co-ordinate with the 4th of July, which marked the adoption of our Declaration of Independence. Of the two great documents of history, they should not be separated; they should be both observed, and they should be observed more especially by this Society and under its leadership. (Applause.) There were several thousand meetings held as the result of that circular. Our Compatriot Cole, from Iowa, has said a lot about Iowa, but the State Superintendent of Schools in Iowa sent to every county superintendent, every city superintendent, and practically 90 per cent of the public schools in the State of Iowa had appropriate exercises on Monday, the 17th day of September, last year. Many of the churches held religious services in honor of that event, and the thing that pleased me the most in connection with that, compatriots, was the fact that the Catholic Archbishop, or whatever his title happened to be, the big man in the outfit in our State—not being religiously inclined or a regular attendant on those things, I just know them as teachers and priests, but that was not his title—he sent out a circular in connection with that, and every Catholic church in the State of Iowa recognized, through its priesthood, that day, the celebration of the recognition of the adoption of the Constitution; and in addition the work of our Society in our State has brought about in a large number of Catholic institutions and churches of the State the reading of some portion of the Constitution or some reference to these things, the display of the colors, and some patriotic reference at every church service. If we could have gotten some of the other people to have followed up as nicely as this good, strong, red-blooded fellow followed it up out there—God bless some of the Irish. (Applause.)

Historian General PIERSON: In my State of New Jersey we also observed the day royally. We had the church bells ringing, and in many of the schools and churches of the State exercises were held. I had the honor of speaking in the High School of Orange and the Normal School at Newark, and, all told, in that day I made four speeches in honor of the Constitution.

The CHAIR: It was practically unanimous, gentlemen. I had reports from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon; there were celebrations in both cities and all between. I think that it is a great credit to your Society to bring back the fundamental and basic law of this land, and if there is anything we ought to do—not talking politics; God forbid we should talk politics—but let us be decent; let the fundamental law stand without loading it down with all manner of legislation that cannot pass through the legislatures of the States or anything else; let us have the Constitution clean. (Applause.) I resent, with the deepest of resentment, a statement made by one of the most prominent men in this nation, that he regarded the Constitution of the United States with a great deal of reverence, but the thing that he liked about it best was the ease with which it could be amended. We have got to stand as a bulwark, gentlemen, for some time to keep that immortal document from being loaded down with a lot of stuff—maybe that is a little too strong a statement—but a lot of things that have no place in such a document as that. (Applause.) Next in order of business is the reports of standing and special committees. The first committee in rotation is that on Organization in the Atlantic States, of which Mr. Lewis B. Curtis, of Bridgeport, is chairman.

REPORT OF LEWIS B. CURTIS, CHAIRMAN COMMITTEE ON ORGANIZATION (ATLANTIC STATES).

At our Newark Congress I proposed a plan by which our National Vice-Presidents would become more active and supervise the work of the National Society in their various districts. As this involved a change in the Constitution, it had to lie over until the next Congress before it could be formally acted upon.

President General Wentworth, however, thought so well of the scheme that he thought best to put it more or less into operation without waiting for its formal enactment. Therefore, as you will notice from your 1916 Year Book, he divided the country into four sections, with a chairman over each and vice-chairmen and committees under them to take charge of the organization of the various divisions. It fell to my lot to be made chairman of the Atlantic States, with three vice-chairmen under me and a committee under each of them. These divisions, however, were made up by the number of square miles rather than by the number of members over which each chairman had jurisdiction, with the result that I found my district covered all the way from Maine to Florida, with about two-thirds of the entire membership of the Society.

The distances being so great, it has been impossible to get a meeting of the vice-chairmen or of the subcommittees, although I have attempted to do so. But a lively correspondence has been carried on and all that is possible has been done in this way.

We have more than held our own, which should be very satisfactory when one considers that the activities of the Society have been largely overshadowed by the immediate necessity of war work of all kinds and descriptions. While our members have been intensely busy and have done an immense amount of good in all branches of war work, the credit has gone largely to other organizations with which they were connected and which were especially organized for this purpose. If accurate statistics could be obtained of the amount of money our members have subscribed to Liberty Loans, Red Cross associations, and other activities connected with the war, I am confident it would be a very considerable percentage of the entire sum raised by the nation.

In anticipation of this report, I have asked each of my vice-chairmen to write a short statement of the activities of the Societies in their particular locations, which are as follows:

FROM MR. FREDERICK E. EMERSON, OF NORFOLK, VA.,
Vice-President for the Atlantic States.

"On the eve of our Congress in Rochester, N. Y., I thought it well to review in brief my stewardship as vice-chairman of your committee.

It has been up-hill work to get the people interested in our S. A. R. as I would like, yet with all of this our State Society has been awarded the Traveling Banner for the greatest increase of membership during the past year. 'We are some proud of this.' The D. A. R. helped us, and a tireless worker for the S. A. R. is our State President, your vice-chairman helping. Now we want to keep this banner for a while; it looks so good hanging up in our meeting place. So whether re-elected or not, I shall be on the job."

EXTRACT OF LETTER FROM MR. PHILIP F. TURNER, OF PORTLAND, ME.,
Vice-President for the New England States.

"No new Chapters have been formed. Maine, outside of Portland, is made up of small cities and communities, and outside the two or three places where we now have Chapters there are not enough members in any one section to warrant an attempt to institute any. Reliance on the State Society must therefore be our chief dependence for any active work, and the large attendance at our annual meeting on February 22 gave evidence that its members generally are still very loyal to its principles. A fairly good number of new members were admitted last year, so that our membership has been well maintained."

EXTRACTS OF LETTER FROM MR. T. W. WILLIAMS, OF NEW JERSEY, Vice-President for the Middle Atlantic States.

"This past year has been a chaotic one to business men, and I have been no exception to it. I have spent considerable time in our S. A. R. activities, however, but can't see that I have accomplished a great deal. I will endeavor in a day or two to jot down some of the activities of the past year of our New Jersey State Society. They have accomplished a great deal in increased membership and in efforts to organize new Chapters. I don't believe there is a State in the Union that has been more active during the past year than New Jersey. Brother Ames can tell you more of New York State, of course, than I can, and on Pennsylvania activities I really am quite hazy. I will send you a few facts and figures in a day or two regarding New Jersey, and that you might like to incorporate in your report for the forthcoming Congress and at which I hope to have the pleasure of seeing you.

"Further responding to your esteemed favor, would say that I have only just been able to obtain the figures, facts, etc., that you desired in your letter and on which you want to make your report as chairman of the Organization Committee for the Atlantic States.

"The States in my immediate territory here have been quite active during the past year, especially New Jersey. This State—New Jersey—as you doubtless know, is not only the home of the organization of the Society of the S. A. R., but it was there that the first Chapter was organized at Elizabethtown, September 26, 1893. New Jersey has now nine Chapters and another is in process of formation at Belleville.

"The increase in membership in the New Jersey State Society last year was 115 members. They total now on their rolls 1,309 members in good standing.

"The Atlantic States have been unusually active during the past year, considering war conditions, in perfecting their State organization, as the report of the various State Societies, I feel sure, will show. The organization of Chapters, it seems to me, is the only solution to the solidifying of the State and National Society, particularly in those States where territorial area makes it impossible for frequent meetings of the Society.

"In our State of New Jersey two Chapters reported increases during the year—Orange had an increase of fourteen and Montclair an increase of fifteen. Besides Belleville there are two or three other Chapters that will be formed in New Jersey, I think, during the coming year, etc."

All of the above is respectfully submitted.

Chairman Organization Committee (Atlantic States).

The CHAIR: Gentlemen, you have heard the report of the Committee on Organization of the Atlantic States; what action do you wish to take?

(It was moved and carried that the report be received and filed.)

COMMITTEE ON GRAVE MARKERS.

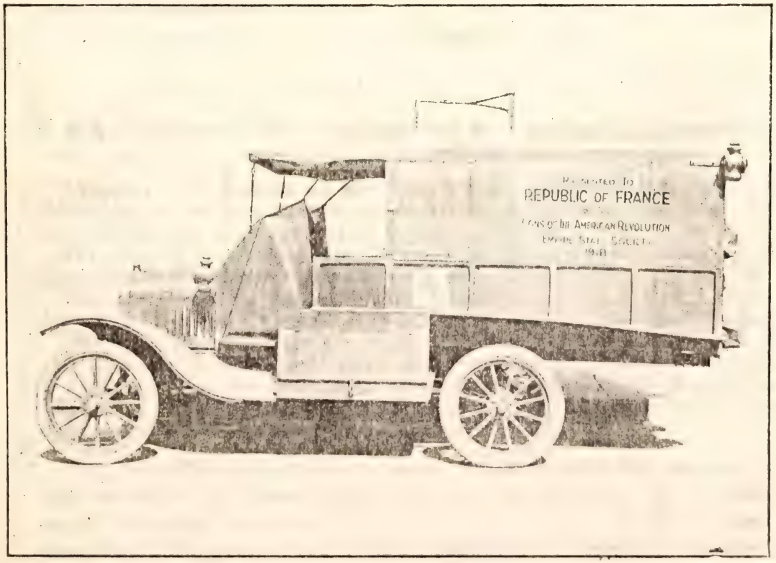
The CHAIR: I am going to break into the regular order of the committee reports in order to recognize Past President General Woodworth, who has an appointment that he must keep in a few minutes, and I recognize Compatriot Woodworth, chairman of the Committee on Grave Markers.

Mr. WOODWORTH: The Executive Committee a year ago appointed a special committee to take up the question of suitable markers for the graves of Revolutionary soldiers, and at this time your committee would make a preliminary report, with the suggestion that this report be referred to the Executive Committee with power to act. The marker proposed is a disk, which I hold in my hand, 3¾ inches in diameter (see illustration). In its center is the insignia of the Society. About it are three rings in which appear the name of the man, the words, "Society of the Sons of the American Revolution," "Certified service No. —." This disk can be inserted into any tombstone or monument that may be erected already. The marker now in general use, as we know, is a bronze shaft complete in itself, but which seems to be not commonly favored. This present design of marker in bronze would cost about three dollars, and the question arises or has been suggested here today that should we desire to use this new marker in memory of those of our members who might fall during this present war that the wording could be very readily changed, so as to indicate not Revolutionary service but service for the democracy of 1918. It will be suggested by your committee that this marker should be handled in the same way as our insignia, namely, through a certificate from the Secretary General to the manufacturer, permitting him to sell this marker to the applicant, and the Society would receive a rebate on the sales to be devoted to marking graves not otherwise provided for. We think that is all your committee could report today, and I would move that the report should go to the Executive Committee with power to act.

The CHAIR: Gentlemen, you have heard the report of the special committee and the recommendation of that committee that it be referred to the Executive Committee with power to act.

(Motion adopted.)

BRONZE MARKER, ACTUAL SIZE, FOR INSERTION IN GRAVESTONE



ONE OF AMBULANCES PRESENTED TO FRANCE BY EMPIRE STATE SOCIETY

The CHAIR: It is so ordered and the report will be referred to the Executive Committee. I recognize Judge Beardsley as chairman of the Resolutions Committee for a report.

GERMAN-AMERICAN ALLIANCE.

Judge BEARDSLEY: I yield to Compatriot Vrooman for the presentation of a resolution.

Colonel VROOMAN (N. Y.): I desire to offer this resolution for your favorable consideration:

Resolved:

First. We approve the statement made in the program of this Congress: "When we win this war there will be just two kinds of people—those who did help and those who did not help."

Second. We congratulate the Empire State Society in its good work in eliminating the German-American Alliance from the custody of the State-owned home of the American-born patriot, Gen. Nicholas Herkimer, the hero of Oriskany.

Third. We thank the Governor and legislature of New York in the passing and signing of a bill repealing the law which authorized the German-American Alliance to largely control the Herkimer home referred to and adopting a new bill, which permits Sons of the American Revolution and all other patriotic societies to have equal opportunity to be selected as commissioners to govern the patriotic shrine of the gallant brigadier.

Fourth. We approve the bill introduced in the Senate of the United States by Senator William H. King repealing the charter of the National German-American Alliance.

Compatriot VROOMAN: I move that the same be referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS.

Judge BEARDSLEY: The committee wish to report upon this resolution, introduced by Past President General Woodworth:

WHEREAS the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution is dedicated to the preservation of American ideals—one land, one flag, one speech, and one standard of loyalty; and

WHEREAS it is manifest that the teaching of the German language in our schools is now subversive to such principles; be it

Resolved, That we call upon those in authority to exclude the teaching of the German language from our public schools; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary General be instructed to send copies of this resolution to the President of each State Society; and be it further

Resolved, That the Presidents of each State Society be directed to send copies of this resolution to the Governor, the Department of Education, and to the press of their respective States.

The committee are unable to report recommending the passage of that resolution and respectfully return it to the Congress. In reference to the following resolution in reference to the revision of the immigration laws (see previous page), the committee feel unwilling to report in favor of accepting it and respectfully refer it back to the Congress.

The next is a report from the Lexington Chapter, in Iowa, and they ask us to go on record as favoring cancellation of all indebtedness which the United States holds against France, and we think that would be premature action at this time, and we are unwilling to report recommending its adoption and refer that back to the Congress. The next resolution seems to be a report of a meeting of the Ohio Society, which claims that nine States permit aliens to vote before they are naturalized citizens, and asks us to recommend a resolution that it is the sense of this Society that the States of Alabama, Arkansas, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, South Dakota, and Texas shall repeal laws of such dangerous character. We feel unwilling to recommend the passage of that and respectfully refer it to the Congress. We next have a proposed resolution, introduced by Compatriot Thompson, in reference to the publication or circulation of papers or periodicals in an enemy language (see previous page).

Your committee recommends the substitution of this resolution for the one introduced by Mr. Thompson:

First, that it absolutely opposes the publication of periodicals or other literature whatsoever exclusively in the German language; that only such papers and periodicals be allowed as shall have, accompanying every article in German, a corresponding translation of the article into the English language. (Applause.)

GERMAN LANGUAGE IN SCHOOLS.

The CHAIR: Gentlemen, you have heard the report on several resolutions that were referred to the Resolutions Committee, and we will take them up seriatim. The first is the resolution introduced by Past President General Woodworth in reference to the teaching of the German language in the schools, as above cited.

This resolution is returned to the Congress by your Committee on Resolutions with an adverse report, the committee being unwilling to recommend its adoption. Shall the report of the committee be adopted?

(It was moved and seconded that the report of the committee in reference to this resolution be adopted.)

Mr. CURTIS (Conn.): It seems to me that by accepting the report of the committee we do not arrive anywhere. They make no recommendation. I move that the report be laid on the table.

Judge BEARDSLEY: That will not finish it. We might as well finish it, and if it will help the Congress I think we are willing to recommend that that resolution be not passed.

(Motion seconded.)

Mr. MOULTON (Me.): Certain resolutions have been referred to the Committee on Resolutions. They have made their report of a draft of resolutions such as they recommend us to accept. That report as made by the committee is before us subject to amendment, and I think the introduction of this resolution, not introduced by them, should be put as an amendment by vote of the Congress instead of being voted upon separately as supplemental to the committee's report. If I understand their report correctly, that would be opposed to parliamentary proceedings. If we wish to amend that report, a vote on the amendment would come before the adoption of the report of the committee.

The CHAIR: The understanding of the Chair in connection with the recommendation of the committee is that they are unable to sanction the resolution and they now recommend that the resolution be not passed.

Mr. MOULTON (Me.): They have made this part of their report, leaving the Congress to amend the report by adopting the resolution if they see fit; that is the correct position.

Judge BEARDSLEY: The committee did not want to recommend this resolution, because under it we could not read the works of Goethe and Schiller in our public schools, and I think the committee were of the opinion that this had better be defeated.

Mr. MOULTON (Me.): My question is whether the committee have made a report subject to amendment, or whether they have passed this over to the Congress as not having been acted upon by them.

Judge BEARDSLEY: The committee are unwilling to report in favor of it in its present form. I think the committee would be willing to recommend that this resolution be defeated, and then if you want to modify it you can do so.

Mr. MOULTON (Me.): But you have defeated it, if I am correct, and you leave the Congress to adopt it if it sees fit.

Judge BEARDSLEY: The Congress has a right to introduce an amended resolution or another resolution if they wish, but this resolution in its present form we are unwilling to recommend for adoption.

Mr. DOYLE (Ohio): The committee has made a report on this particular resolution. A motion to accept the report of the committee, it seems to me, would be in order. If that motion should carry, it kills this resolution, so I move that the report of the committee be accepted.

Mr. SHELDON (Nebr.): The understanding that I have is kindred to that of the gentleman from Maine. The point he makes, as I understand it, is simply this: our Committee on Resolutions hands back these resolutions to the Congress without action; they are unwilling to recommend them; they make certain specific recommendations in their report touching one point. Technically the question that arises here is upon the adoption of their report, which excludes, which has nothing to do with these people. As I view it and the gentleman from Maine views it, we should vote upon the report proper of the Committee on Resolutions, which relates to German newspapers and does not relate to German in the public schools. If we adopt that report, we adopt their resolutions as they bring it in and leave these resolutions on the table without adoption and without formal rejection.

The CHAIR: The Chair hesitates, of course, to differ with the gentleman from Nebraska, who was the parliamentary leader of the State of Nebraska in the Legislative Assembly, but it seems quite plain to him, regardless of technicalities, that the report was made individually on each of these resolutions as returned by the committee to the Congress, with the recommendation that the same be not adopted.

Mr. SHELDON (Nebr.): I beg your pardon, Mr. President General. In order to determine that we need an exact report from the chairman of the Committee on Resolutions. His words, as I listened, were that they returned that resolution to this Congress, but that they did not recommend that it be not adopted; they were unwilling to recommend its adoption, which is different.

Colonel BROWN (Pa.): When a resolution is referred to a committee, it becomes the duty of the committee to act on it and return it to the body from which it was sent to the committee. That committee makes a negative or affirmative report. As I understand it, this committee has made a negative report on this resolution. Then, according to parliamentary law, no action is necessary on the part of this body. The action of the committee remains the action of the body unless a motion is made to approve the resolution, notwithstanding the report of the committee.

Chaplain General FOSTER: He has stated the action of the committee exactly.

The CHAIR: Under the point of order raised by the gentleman from Pennsylvania, there is but one resolution then and one report to act upon, and that is the report on foreign language periodicals.

Mr. SANDS (Wis.): Is it not permissible to revive a resolution after it has been adversely reported by the committee?

Colonel BROWN (Pa.): I beg your pardon for taking up your time, but here is a question that I have not got very well, if this is a proposition by which we are to turn down the prohibition of teaching the German language.

Mr. MOULTON (Me.): I dislike to interrupt the gentleman, but the question before us is whether that committee has made a report or whether they have not. If they have made a report, it is before this Congress to amend the report if it sees fit and then adopt it, or having adopted the resolutions reported they may add this as an additional resolution if they see fit to. The question is whether that committee has made a full report or not.

Colonel BROWN (Pa.): I will make my statement short. I am not willing as a member of this organization that we shall take any position which is against prohibiting the teaching of the German language in the schools of this country of ours. (Applause.) I live in the State of Pennsylvania, but my blood is New England blood, and I want to say that there are parts of Pennsylvania today, proud as I am of the Keystone State, where the language taught in the public schools is largely German, and as a result of that teaching there has not been an assimilation of the German blood with the American blood that we ought to find in the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania today. (Applause.) When I think of the Kaiser and all his horrible record, the fact that he brought this war upon us, and that America is in the war, and if the war is won America has to win it, I am utterly opposed to any proposition which will permit the teaching of the German language in any of the schools of this great American Republic. (Applause.)

Mr. MOULTON (Me.): I just want to ask what the question is before this Congress. I agree most heartily with the gentleman, but I do not see how we can debate a question which is not before us. This Congress wants to agree with him, but we have got to do it in parliamentary order and act upon the question propounded by your Excellency, the President General.

Mr. SHELDON (Nebr.): Let me ask, does the committee intend to make any report covering the matter of German instruction in the schools?

Chaplain General FOSTER: Do you want the committee to answer that definitely?

Mr. SHELDON (Nebr.): Yes, sir.

Chaplain General FOSTER: Well, we are able to do it. We looked the matter over carefully, hammered it out, and our report can be stated in just two or three words. We do not recommend that resolution be adopted as it stands. It is in your hands for further consideration if desired.

Mr. SHELDON (Nebr.): Congress ought not to adjourn without some expression of opinion upon instruction in German in the public schools. (Applause.) I am all Yankee; I speak the German language as well as I do the English language, but there is not a drop of German blood in my veins. Now what we ought to do is to put on record an expression declaring that it is the purpose of this Society to favor the exclusion of German as a means of instruction or as a language in the grades. That is where we want to put out German. We held a special session of the legislature of Nebraska six weeks ago and repealed what is known as the Moffatt Law, which put instruction in German into the eighth grade and the grades below; but we ought not to exclude German from the colleges and universities, because we are going to need men trained in the use of the German language to meet the Germans themselves in all the fields of world-wide competition, and so I have been hoping that our Committee on Resolutions, turning back, as I think it properly did, this resolution, would bring in a resolution of its own, expressing the sound view of the matter in accordance with the view of my friend from Pennsylvania, to exclude German instruction in the primary schools, and let it rest there.

Colonel BROWN (Pa.): I think we may get along with this subject all right by proceeding according to parliamentary law. When I realize that there is a gentleman on this committee from New England, who is always at the head and front of everything that is patriotic and American, I do not think there will be any harm done in recommitting this resolution. I move that this report be returned to the committee, and that the committee be directed to present a resolution in favor of prohibiting the teaching of the German language in the schools of this country. (Applause.)

Mr. ARNOLD (R. I.): I think, as has been stated by the gentleman from Nebraska, if it is wise to continue the teaching of German in the colleges—and I have three sons graduating from Dartmouth, Amherst, and Brown University—I think that if they desire to acquire that language it should be started at an early age in the intermediate schools, and I am not in favor of the recommendation from the gentleman opposite to me here.

Mr. SANDS (Wis.): I live in Milwaukee. I have two children who are graduates of Wisconsin University who took German. I go into the stores in Milwaukee after Hindenburg has made a real fine drive and hear people there who can speak the English language as well as you and I gibbering in German because Hindenburg is getting ahead; they get cocky immediately. Now I did not come here to decry Wisconsin. Wisconsin is loyal; it has gone over the top on every Liberty Loan and on the Red Cross (applause), and we have sent out our full quota of soldiers, and many of those boys, every drop of their blood is German, as good boys as God ever made. I have two German sons-in-law who were born in America but are of full German descent. One of them is on the faculty of Columbia University. I have nothing against the good German people of this country, but I have got a lot against the others. If you want to teach your children German teach them German in the universities, but don't compel your children to learn a language that they are trying to ram down their throats. In six years from now, if the Kaiser had been smart enough, he would have had the whole country without firing a gun. I consider the judgment of this committee better than my own, but I believe in doing away with teaching German to our children. If there are some of you who no doubt want to learn German for commercial purposes learn it in the colleges; that is proper.

Chaplain General FOSTER: I never make a long speech; what I have to say I will say in a very few words, and I am positive on this question. I am supposed to be the oldest teacher in a college, doing regular college work, in the United States; I am 85 years of age and teaching still. Now I say when a revelation comes from this good compatriot here that there is a large section of our country under the American flag that is not reading or speaking or teaching the English language, and where another and a foreign language is taught, that it is a burning shame. (Applause.) If I had the power I would say the English language shall be taught in the United States, and stop right there. (Applause.) Now we do not want to spend our good money on teaching German; we do not want our teachers lumbered up with it. In the college where I teach we had a large class in German; that is all eliminated. In Seattle, where I came from a week ago, the public schools have excluded it, and they say, with a great deal of emphasis, "No more of that foolishness for us." Now, the committee hammered this out carefully. You can take it from us; you can put it into another shape if you please; you can make it just as strong as you wish; the committee is with you. We believe that the German language is not a necessity; we believe that it does not need to be taught in our public schools. If the colleges or the home schools want it, let them have it, or any other langauge, but not to have our United States money paid for the teaching of the German language. Now my speech is ended. (Applause.)

Mr. CLARK (N. J.): It seems to me there is one thought that has gone all astray. You all know that the plan of the German Kaiser was that America was to be a German colony. What are you thinking of? What will happen in this country if Germany wins? Would the Kaiser allow English to be taught in a German colony? I say that German should go out of the public schools and universities. More corrupt thoughts have come out of the universities of today through the teaching of German than anything we can appreciate. I say, take it out of the public schools and take it out of the colleges.

Judge REMINGTON (N. Y.): I rise for information. May we have read the resolution that is under debate, that was presented by Mr. Woodworth and referred to the Committee on Resolutions?

Mr. NEVIN (Mass.): Since these resolutions have been returned without recommendation, I move that it be decided by the Congress whether they should be adopted or not.

The CHAIR: We are having one of the nicest times we have ever seen. The President General has never enjoyed himself a bit more than to have these fellows one after another get up and express their contempt, which he shares most heartily. For three years he has gone from one end of this nation to the other using the same phrase, "Were I Czar, I would not permit the teaching of any modern foreign language in the public schools of the United States at the public expense." I have added, "and I would not permit any periodical to be printed in any modern foreign language in the United States" (applause) "that did not carry an English translation in parallel columns, and the truthfulness and accuracy of the same to be certified to by the publisher and the editor"; and I have gone yet further than that and have said, "Were I Czar, I would not permit any alien in this nation, who had been a resident of this nation for 12 months, to receive the benefits of the employers' liability legislation placed upon the statute books of the various States, who could not read and sense the rules governing such occupation, printed in the official language of this nation. Do you wonder that my heart feels good to hear you boys? I don't care how long you keep it up; I'd rather listen to you than go to the reception tonight.

Mr. MOULTON (Me.): I just want to say that I most heartily approve of what you said, Mr. President General, but I remember that Mr. Webster, in his reply to Hayne, said that we had been wandering about somewhat in a fog, and I call for a reading of the resolution. I believe in one flag, one language, and one question at a time before a convention like this.

The CHAIR: There is no question but what you are correct in that.

Mr. WOODWORTH (N. Y.): As the introducer of that resolution, I would like to ask the Chair, having been absent from this Congress for a few moments, just in what form that resolution is now before this Congress.

The CHAIR: The resolution is before the Congress parliamentarily and technically. It is before it with an adverse report from the Committee on Resolutions and a recommendation that the same be not passed.

Mr. WOODWORTH: I move to amend the report, for the adoption of the resolution as originally offered.

(Resolution read.)

The CHAIR: That is the resolution that was returned by the committee, with the recommendation that it be not adopted—with an adverse report.

Mr. WOODWORTH: I would move the amendment of the report, for the adoption of the resolution.

Colonel VROOMAN (N. Y.): We are treading on dangerous ground and should not be forgetful of it. If we do not watch out, the Kaiser will be heartened by our action here this afternoon; make no mistake about it. That resolution of Compatriot Woodworth, it seems to me, fairly covers the whole ground, and I most heartily second the amendment. Let the others lay on the table, or under the table, or down-stairs, or in my lady's chamber, or any other old place, but adopt Woodworth's resolution and that will cover the whole ground and we can return to our homes with our American heads up. (Applause.)

Mr. HILL (Mich.): It seems to me that what happened to our late Ambassador to Germany when he was talking with what we would call the Secretary of State covers this question pretty well. He was told by what we would term the Secretary of State, in Germany, when he said that the United States would not stand for certain things—and I get this from him personally, I cannot quote it, but it was, in substance, this: "The United States don't dare go to war; there are five hundred thousand Germans there that would join on our side." And he said, "Mr. Secretary, there are five hundred thousand lamp-posts that will be decorated the next morning." Now why did that Secretary of State of Germany make that statement? Because he knew that we had been paying our taxes to educate the boys, the young men, to be German. (Applause.) Now I believe that I have more German friends than friends of any other foreign nationality in this country, for the reason that I am in the drug business and was on the road for years, and I know there is many a loyal German in this country and, God help them, many that are innocent that are suffering for what is going on; but we cannot help that; it is not for us to teach those children, born of German parents or who come from Germany, to teach them their language. Do you suppose that Germany would stand for public schools teaching the English language? Never. (Applause.) Do you suppose France would teach them the English language? She will after this war, but up to this time she has not allowed it taught in her public schools. Why should we teach anything but English in our public schools? I agree with one gentleman who said, "If you want the German or any other foreign language, take it up in the higher schools; let them pay for it themselves, but don't teach it in our public schools." One priest told me, personally—I was yachting with him down the St. Lawrence and was delayed in a town where I may say to you good people that I was one hour walking through a city of five thousand people, trying to find somebody that could understand the English language. I asked every man, woman, and child I met. We had to have a place to stay. I was yachting and had more guests on board than could sleep there and I could not find a hotel; therefore I finally adopted the plan of asking everybody I met; I said, "Can you understand English?" They didn't understand anything. I asked the children, and finally one little fellow said, "I understand what you said." I said, "Will you take me to a hotel?" He said, "I will." I found that the landlord could barely understand what I said. I wanted a room for five people overnight. That was in Canada, forty or fifty miles below the city of Montreal. We were treated royally, got good care, but the next morning I had to hunt around another hour to find any one who could take me to somebody that could get a pilot to go up that Richelieu River, and finally I was taken to a manufacturing concern where they could speak English, and they sent out and got a pilot and said I could depend on him, but he could not understand a word of English, so I simply turned the yacht over to him. Now is that right? We can find districts of that kind, where the people cannot talk anything but German, in this country, and I say it is a burning shame, and it is time you took the language out of the public schools. The next night I had to stay at a priest's house, and I found him a very fine gentleman and a highly educated man. He was a Frenchman, but was highly educated, and I said to him, "I have heard a priest say, 'Give me the child until it is twelve years old, and after that you can do with it what you please; it never will change.'" He said, "Yes, that is our experience; if we can have the child until he is twelve years old, they seldom get them away from the Catholic Church." If that is true of Catholicism, it must be true of Germanism.

Judge REMINGTON (N. Y.): I am reliably informed that in the city of Chicago one-third of the population cannot speak the English language. I believe we are prepared to act on this question and I move the previous question and call for a rising vote.

Mr. MOULTON (Me.): I have been inquiring, without getting a reply, where our committee have reported upon the language question. (Laughter.) Through the courtesy of his Excellency, the President General, I am allowed to have this part of the committee's report and find that they have this report in good, strong English language and English sentiment: First, that it absolutely opposes the publication of papers and periodicals, or any other literature whatsover, exclusively in the German language; that only such papers and periodicals be allowed as shall have, after every article in German, a corresponding article in English—a translation. That is the report of the committee. Do we want two resolutions on that subject, or one?

A MEMBER: This is a different resolution, on schools alone; the other is on periodicals, is entirely distinct.

Mr. MOULTON (Me.): Then your motion should be to add to the committee report a resolution applying to public schools in addition to the newspaper business. We are in a parliamentary tangle here and that is the whole trouble; we all think alike.

Mr. HENRY (Mich.): Each one of these is a separate report. The one on German in the schools is one report, and that on German periodicals and newspapers is another report, but there are several reports.

Colonel HOUK (Ohio): I take it that the public schools means the schools supported by public money, that we have a right to talk about, and if I am correct in that, I support the resolution as presenetd by Compatriot Woodworth.

Mr. GOULD: Are there not some other languages besides German that could be incorporated in this resolution?

A MEMBER: I rise for information; what is a public school?

The CHAIR: A public school is a school supported by public taxation, and I am sure the gentleman himself so regards it. A public school is a school organized and instituted under the authority of the State and supported by taxation on the residents of the State.

Mr. SANDS (Wis.): Universities get help from the State, get a percentage. I move to change this to common schools.

The CHAIR: The question is on the adoption of the amendment to the committee's report, the original resolution to adopt the report of the committee.

Mr. SHELDON (Neb.): I ask for unanimous consent to make one or two suggestions. We ought to do the thing that will stand strong and firm and true. This resolution is not broad enough; you ought to include parochial schools as well as public schools; that has been the trouble in Nebraska; we have 200 parochial schools there. (A MEMBER: Who pays for them?) The people in the churches pay for them, but we insist that the children who go to the parochial schools shall have instruction in English; and then, Mr. President, one thing more; we ought to amend this; there is a division of opinion here and I am bound to express my opinion. I am sure it is the opinion the American people will come to—it differs from the opinion of the President General—and that opinion is that German ought to be excluded, and every other foreign language, from the common school system; and the opinion further is that every American college or university which is educating men to deal with the whole range of world activities ought to instruct its youth in speaking the various languages, German included. We teach Spanish at our universities, and the classes are crowded with young people learning Spanish, and there is just as much need of having those people trained to a knowledge of German as there is in Spanish. And now I wish that the motion for the previous question might be temporarily withdrawn and that I might offer this amendment and at least get a vote upon it.

Judge REMINGTON: No, sir; I will not withdraw the motion for the previous question. We are fighting the Germans; we are not fighting the Italians, and we are not fighting the Spaniards; let us have one thing at a time. We are after the Germans now, and I demand the previous question.

The CHAIR: The previous question is ordered.

Mr. MOULTON: Has the previous question been seconded?

The CHAIR: Yes, by a dozen voices. The motion is on the adoption of the amendment offered by Past President General Woodworth to adopt the resolution in lieu of the original motion, which was to quash or kill the report of the committee and not adopt the resolution. It is a clear-cut proposition, when you get ready to vote, as to whether you are in favor of this resolution or whether you are not. Shall the previous question be now put?

A MEMBER: I want to know whether the State colleges and State universities are included in that resolution?

The CHAIR: All those in favor of the adoption of the amendment will now manifest it by saying aye.

Mr. MOULTON: I want to ask the question whether the motion is an addition to the report which is in order, or a substitution for the excellent resolution already reported by the committee? If we adopt this we exclude the other.

The CHAIR: It is an addition to the report. Shall the previous question be now put?

Mr. CURTIS: This is a parliamentary inquiry; is the question we are about to vote upon, this question: "Shall the main question be now put?" Is that the form in which we are now going to vote upon it?

The CHAIR: That is the point. All those in favor will manifest it by saying aye. Contrary, nay. The ayes appear to have it, the ayes do have it, and the motion is carried. Now the question is on the adoption of the resolution as presented.

Mr. MOULTON: Does that shut off debate?

The CHAIR: I rule that it does. The question is now on the adoption of the original resolution as introduced by Past President General Woodworth.

(The resolution was adopted. See page 127.)

The CHAIR: And now, in view of the fact that you have had a real good time and everybody who has any knowledge of parliamentary history has told all that he knows about it, and we have all taken a crack at the Kaiser and had a real good time in doing it, and after all the discussion and everything of that kind, we have cleaned that particular subject up to the satisfaction of a large majority of the Congress, we will now entertain a motion to adjourn until tomorrow morning.

A MEMBER: What is to become of the German newspapers?

The CHAIR: The German newspapers will have a morning edition.

(The Congress then adjourned for the day.)

Second Day's Session, May 21, 9.30 a. m.

President General Wentworth in the Chair.

The CHAIR: Compatriots, the hour has arrived for reconvening of the Twenty-ninth Annual Congress of the Sons of the American Revolution. We will open, as usual, with a brief devotional exercise led by the Chaplain General.

Chaplain General FOSTER: You may be seated just for a moment until the prayer is offered. Our good old Book says: "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money, come ye buy and eat; yea, come buy wine and milk without money and without price. Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labor for that which satisfieth not? Hearken diligently unto me and eat ye that which is good and let your soul delight itself in fatness. Incline your ear and come unto me. Hear and your soul shall live, and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of David. Behold, I have given him for a witness to the people, a leader and commander to the people. Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and nations that knew not thee shall run unto thee because of the Lord, thy God, and for the Holy One of Israel; for he hath glorified thee. Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, and call ye upon him while he is near. Let the wicked forsake his way and the unrighteous man his thoughts, and let him return unto the Lord and he will have mercy upon him, and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon. For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways and my thoughts than your thoughts. For as the rain cometh down, and the snow from heaven, and returneth not thither but watereth the earth and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater, so shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth; it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please and it shall prosper in the things whereto I sent it." Now, there is more of that blessed peace of Isaiah and of the blessed Scripture, which is so fresh and glorious in our minds. Now we may rise.

O Lord our God, we thank Thee for this day in which we live. We thank Thee for Thy precious word, which is so good unto us. We thank Thee for the joys of fellowship and friendship, of brothers beloved and of compatriots, and in this great struggle of life, mighty God, our director, help us in all the duties of life. May we appreciate Thy kindness and be glad in Thy light and love. Now, we may part today and go to our distant and several homes; be with us in all life's journeys, and may we act well our part and do that which will be well pleasing unto Thee. We would not fail, Father, in asking Thee to hear our prayers and our applications for our loved ones yonder, for whom we have so often prayed God's blessing—Jesse and Joe and William and Henry and George and Paul. O God, they are very precious to our hearts, and some of them will never return to us. Some of them have already slept the sleep of death and have done what they could. Now, God of all battles, Father of all nations, mighty one that sitteth in the circle of the heavens, give victory to our arms and give us victory in Thy name, and may life and liberty and the pursuit of happiness be the heritage of Thy people all over the globe. Confound our enemies with Thine own matchless strength and might and wisdom and that which is right and well pleasing unto Thee, and may peace come unto us which will be lasting and glorious. And to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit be glory through Him who hath taught us to pray: Our Father who are in heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us, and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, for Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory for ever. Amen.

The CHAIR: Will the Past Presidents General present and in attendance at this morning's session come to the platform? The first business in order is the report which we were considering at the close of yesterday's session, the special report of the Committee on Resolutions. Has the committee any further report?

INDEBTEDNESS OF FRANCE.

Judge BEARDSLEY: I have. It is one of the resolutions we brought yesterday. In place of the resolution which was offered yesterday in reference to remitting any indebtedness which may exist at present or which shall hereafter be made on the part of France to this country, the committee beg leave to recommend the adoption of this substitute resolution:

Resolved, That it is the sentiment of the Sons of the American Revolution, in Congress assembled, at Rochester, N. Y., on May 21, 1918, that we can never repay France, our Ally, for all she did for America in the days of the American Revolution; that any action of the Government of the United States looking to the remitting of the indebtedness of France to the United States will meet with the hearty approval of the Sons of the American Revolution.

We report that substitute and recommend its adoption.

(Motion seconded.)

The SECRETARY GENERAL: Mr. President General, I received this morning from Washington a copy of a resolution bearing on that subject.

The CHAIR: This is Senate Joint Resolution 154, 65th Congress, second session, headed: "In the Senate of the United States, May 7, 1918, Mr. Kenyon introduced the following joint resolution, which was read twice and referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations, providing for the cancellation of all war obligations of the Republic of France to the United States:

Resolved by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That all obligations of the Republic of France to the United States of America for moneys borrowed or funds advanced since the commencement of the present war, including interest thereon, be and are hereby canceled.

(Applause.)

Colonel VROOMAN (N. Y.): It seems to me that the resolution just offered by the Committee on Resolutions is a fitting supplement to the joint resolution proposed by Congress, and I therefore move its adoption.

(Motion seconded by Compatriot Loomis, of Connecticut.)

Mr. LOOMIS: We can never repay France for what she has done in this tremendous war which we should have gone into a long time ago.

Mr. COLE (Iowa): Having introduced the original resolution, I take great pleasure in seconding the substitute, which is in better form than the one I presented.

The CHAIR: The President General desires at this time the unanimous consent upon the part of the movers of the resolution, the authors of the resolution, that we insert the word "American" before the word "Revolution" so that it will read "In the days of the American Revolution." (Applause.) We are proud to distinguish ourselves as Sons of the American Revolution, and we were organized to defend the rights that we won at that time and to perpetuate the name American in all associations of the American Revolution. The President General hears no objections, and by unanimous consent that is inserted.

(The resolution was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.)

The CHAIR: It is unanimously carried. Past President General Pugsley, will you be kind enough to take a seat on the platform?

(Mr. Pugsley complied and was greeted with applause.)

The CHAIR: I assume that it is never necessary to introduce by name Past President General Cornelius A. Pugsley. There may be, however, some of the newer attendants at the National Congress who have never had the pleasure of his acquaintance, and for that reason I take the opportunity of announcing Past President General Pugsley (applause), and we all feel honored in having his presence on the platform. I recognize Compatriot Henry.

GERMAN LANGUAGE PAPERS AND PERIODICALS.

Mr. HENRY (Mich.): The Committee on Resolutions desires to indorse the following resolution introduced by Mr. Thompson, of New Jersey, and present it for passage before this Congress without change or alteration. (Applause.)

WHEREAS the publication or circulation of papers or periodicals in an alien enemy language is now most dangerous to the welfare of this nation and inimical to its interests; and

WHEREAS it is a well-known fact that the papers and other periodicals now published in the German language are known not to be actively partizan to the cause of this nation and its Allies in the war against the Central Powers of Europe and are but passively patriotic; and

WHEREAS the circulation of such papers and periodicals is yet very large in many parts of this country, where there are also many enterprises of vital importance to the United States Government and to the conduct of the war; and

WHEREAS the movement to curtail and stop the circulation of the German language papers has now reached large proportions; now therefore be it

Resolved by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution:

First. That it absolutely opposes the publication and circulation of papers and periodicals or other literature whatsoever in the German language.

Second. That it is in favor of the necessary Federal legislation to suppress such publication and circulation to be passed as soon as possible.

Third. That it hereby requests the proper authorities at Washington to take such immediate and effective action in the premises as they may be advised is proper to bring about uniform curtailment of the circulation of the said papers.

Fourth. That it directs a copy of these resolutions be sent forthwith to the President and the Congress of the United States.

Fifth. That it directs a copy of these resolutions be sent forthwith to the secretaries of the several State Societies, with the request that it be placed before their representatives in Congress.

Mr. SHELDON (Nebr.): I wish to say that we ought not to adopt these resolutions. Among other reasons why we should not adopt them is the fact that the Government of the United States is now using the German language to reach people who understand no other language in this Republic. We ought not to have those people in that condition; but we have them, and one of the most serious mistakes we could make is to pass this resolution in this form. The resolutions, as I understood from them yesterday, brought forth the requirement that German publications should contain a translation into English. While open to some objection, that was, on the whole, perhaps the best way of disposing of the matter; but there are today in this Republic a number of German newspapers, some of which from the first have been truly patriotic; others of which have gradually been getting there; some of which are candid enough to admit their mistake at the outset and to advise the German reading public to get behind the government, and others of whom are moving in that direction. Now, then, it would be a great mistake to undertake to put this Society upon record as suppressing all publications in the German language, because there are hundreds of thousands of people who are to be reached by patriotic documents printed in the German language, and the Committee on Public Information at Washington is now sending to our State, and I am aiding their circulation, patriotic pamphlets printed in the German language, because it is the way of reaching thousands of people in Nebraska. I move that these resolutions lie on the table unless we can get some substitute for them.

The CHAIR: The Chair regrets that after our brilliant parliamentary debate of yesterday that a discussion was started before there was anything before the house in a formal way. Let us assume, by unanimous consent, if you please, that the Chair had presented the resolutions to the house and we had reached the point of "Are you ready for the question?" (Laughter and calls for question.)

The CHAIR: There has been no second to the last motion, and the question before the house at the present time is the adoption of the resolution as read—as reported by the Resolutions Committee and read to you by Compatriot Henry. (Calls for question.) All those in favor of the passage of the resolution as reported by the Resolutions Committee and read by Compatriot Henry will manifest by saying aye.

Contrary, no. The ayes appear to have it; the ayes do have it and the motion is carried. (Applause.)

Mr. CLARK (N. J.): In regard to the author of these resolutions, they were made up and written by the Chancellor of the New Jersey Society, who is now the President of the Elizabethtown Chapter of the New Jersey Society, which was the first Chapter formed under the Sons of the American Revolution.

LEGAL ADVISER.

Mr. ARNOLD (R. I.): It is apparent that we will need an interpreter of our laws, to whom all questions of importance pertaining to the Sons of the American Revolution may be referred. I recommend the following and urge it as a motion, that the Executive Committee select at once a man to whom all these questions may be referred.

The CHAIR: The Chair understands the motion as read.

(The above motion was signed by Mr. Arnold and Mr. Sheldon.)

Mr. LOOMIS (Conn.): I move that it be referred to the Resolutions Committee.

Chapain General FOSTER: It is not a resolution; it is a square motion and comes directly before you.

Mr. LOOMIS (Conn.): I move that it be referred to the committee just the same. The passage of this will refer it automatically to the committee and give the Executive Committee something to work on as to the ideas of the Congress assembled. I move that the resolution be referred to the Executive Committee.

(The motion was adopted.)

REVISION OF IMMIGRATION LAWS.

Mr. HENRY (Mich.): The following resolution, introduced by Mr. Sands, of Wisconsin, was referred to the Committee on Resolutions:

WHEREAS the participation of our country in the world war now raging has disclosed the fact that many naturalized citizens of foreign birth and children of naturalized citizens born in America are nevertheless alien in sympathy and sentiment and disloyal in thought and act, manifesting a purpose in seeking the opportunities here afforded them purely selfish and mercenary; therefore be it

Resolved, That a special committee of seven be appointed, whose duty it shall be to prepare and submit to the Congress of the United States a memorial, urging a careful revision of the laws covering and dealing with the subject of immigration; that such laws be so amended as to require that all immigrants of sixteen years of age and upwards be required upon entering the United States to declare in writing and under oath their purpose and intention in entering or seeking a domicile in the United States; that if such immigrants shall declare it to be their intention to become citizens of the United States and to acquire a permanent domicile therein, such declarants be required by law to enter upon the study of the English language and governmental science, especially in relation to the Constitution and laws of the United States and

American history, unless at the time of entering they are able to pass a satisfactory examination in the fundamentals of the subjects named; that such studies be conducted under the general direction and supervision of the Commissioner of Education of the United States, and that before citizenship shall be conferred applicant therefor shall pass a satisfactory examination in English, civics, and American history; that all aliens entering for business, pleasure, or other temporary purpose, and with no intention of becoming citizens, declare specifically their purpose and be subject to the reasonable governmental supervision and regulation as to travel, residence, occupation, etc.; that any act of hostility or unfriendliness subject the person or persons guilty thereof to immediate deportation.

Gentlemen, the Committee on Resolutions have considered this carefully and approved it. It is presented to you, gentlemen, for action.

(It was moved and seconded that the resolution be adopted.)

Mr. SANDS (Wis.): Gentlemen, you heard what Mr. Sheldon said about many of our citizens or people in this country not being able to read the English language. I have learned that there are districts in this country where young men born and grown up in this country cannot speak English. I have heard that from direct sources and I know it is a fact. Now, my idea of uprooting evil is to commence at the roots. I have understood that there is an abundance of legislation already on the books covering immigration and citizenship. If that is a fact, our present condition in the United States shows that there has been lack of execution, because we have found conditions at this time in this country that are appalling. We have sowed the wind and now are reaping the whirlwind. We have welcomed especially the German immigrant with open arms; we have encouraged him; we have given him all the opportunities in the world. They have come here with a bag in their hands and are now worth millions, and I have had them tell me themselves, "Why, we couldn't get ahead in the old country; we couldn't save a cent. But we have come here and made money; we have had our freedom; we have come here where a man could be a man, where my vote counts as much as the President's." Now, in the fact that our forefathers fought to establish this country and give them the right to come here and they have these opportunities, I claim now that we should compel those who seek refuge in our country, who seek domicile here, to learn the language of this country, and they should declare themselves coming with the intention of becoming good, loyal citizens. It is not necessary to say more; you all know what we want.

Mr. HART (N. J.): The difficulty in that resolution, if it is passed, will be found in the phrase "satisfactory examination." Who is to determine what is a satisfactory examination in English, American history, and Civics?

The CHAIR: The Board of Naturalization. The regularly constituted authorities under the laws of the land.

Mr. HART: A satisfactory examination in American history might be such that a great many of us here could not pass it. (Laughter.) A satisfactory examination in English would not be so, but in American history and civics it might be. Now I am a teacher and I know what immigrants are up against in that respect. Is it a satisfactory examination in American history to say that we shall know our laws regarding citizenship and being admitted to citizenship, or will it be sufficient to answer a question like this: "Who is the President of the United States?" "Who is the Governor of New Jersey or Washington?" If that is a satisfactory examination and so concluded by the Board of Naturalization, it will mean nothing at all. I would have the resolution amended, if I may make a suggestion, that a satisfactory examination be determined by us in our resolution.

Mr. SANDS: The fundamentals are what is required; that is up to the Board of Naturalization. Now, the gentleman is a teacher, he says, but we have some ludicrous things happen in Milwaukee. I remember one time—well, it's been more than one occasion, where answers have been given like this: "Who is the President of the United States?" "Dave Rose." Dave Rose was Governor of Milwaukee, unfortunately, for a number of years (laughter)—I mean Mayor of Milwaukee. (Laughter.) Now I think that this is broad enough; it covers all. It's the fundamentals we want to know, and if we don't know it ourselves, it's time we learned, and we are progressing, or trying to progress, and we are not asking anything unreasonable. We have committees and societies in Milwaukee who are educating these people, who are giving their time and having evening schools to educate the people. They will get all the help they want in this country if they are willing, if their minds are open. All we want is for them to have a general idea of the requirements of citizenship in this country.

Compatriot HENRY: I move the adoption of this resolution.

(The motion was seconded and carried.)

CO-OPERATION WITH THE PRESIDENT.

Mr. HENRY (Mich.): There is another resolution which has been presented to the Committee on Resolutions, tendering co-operation and assistance to the President of the United States.

The committee have considered this and approved its adoption most heartily.

WHEREAS the United States of America is engaged in the most stupendous war of recorded history; and

WHEREAS it is the duty of every citizen and every organization to extend its aid and assistance to the United States Government in the suppression of both German propaganda and un-American disloyalty and treason; and

WHEREAS the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution is under a peculiar obligation and has a special duty, owing to its past history, the ancestry of its members, and the devotion with which the Society and its members hold our Government, our traditions, our aspirations and hopes for the future; therefore be it

Resolved, That the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution does hereby, through its President General and the other proper officers of the Society, extend to the President of the United States its offer of assistance and co-operation to whatever field of endeavor he may assign them; that it offers to the country a membership descended from the patriots who gave their lives and their fortunes to the cause of American Nationality and Independence, and it offers this membership of the blood of the patriots of the War of the American Revolution to the service of our country for any duty which may be determined by the President of the United States or other officers of the Government in any suitable field to which they may be assigned.

(It was voted that the above resolution be signed by the President General and the Secretary General and forwarded to President Woodrow Wilson at Washington, which was done.)

TRIBUTE TO MOSES GREELEY PARKER, M. D.

Judge BEARDSLEY: At the meeting of the Executive Committee at Bridgeport last November, a committee consisting of Mr. Nathan Warren and Mr. Edwin S. Crandon, of the Massachusetts Society, and myself, was appointed to prepare a suitable tribute to the memory of the late President General, Dr. Parker, and I now have the tribute, which I beg permission to present to the Congress.

Moses Greeley Parker, M. D., was born in Dracut, Massachusetts, October 12, 1812, the son of Theodore and Hannah (Greeley) Parker, two of the oldest New England families; his emigrant ancestors, Thomas Parker and Andrew Greeley, arriving and settling in 1635 and 1640 respectively. His great-grandfathers, Kendall Parker and Joseph Greeley, were Minute Men at Lexington Alarm, April 19, 1775, and his grandfather, Peter Parker, served in the Continental Army.

Dr. Parker graduated from the Harvard Medical School in March, 1864, and a week later was commissioned surgeon, serving in the Second United States Cavalry in the operations around Petersburg, thence being transferred to the base hospital of the Eighteenth Army Corps. After the war he returned to Lowell, Mass., and there practiced his profession, going abroad in 1873 for special study. He won a distinguished place for his researches and contribution to medical knowledge. He became interested with Alexander Graham Bell in the telephone experiments in 1878, and from the organization, in 1883, to his death he was a director and member of the Executive Committee of the New England Telephone Company; he was one of the largest stockholders in American Bell and its successor company. He was prominent as a member of many directorates of business, hospital, charitable, educational, and historical societies.

His interest in historical and genealogical research was profound. He was President of Old Middlesex Chapter, and of the Massachusetts Society, and President General of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution; a member of the Council of the Society of Colonial Wars in Massachusetts, of the Order of Descendants of Colonial Governors, of the Bostonian Society, New England Historic Genealogical Society, the Loyal Legion, Bunker Hill Monument Association, and he was President of the Parker Historical and Genealogical Association. He was a member of the Masonic institution and of many Lowell and neighborhood societies as well as medical and scientific bodies. Dr. Parker never married; a sister and a nephew survive him.

He was elected President General of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution at the Louisville Congress, 1911, and presided at the Boston Congress, 1912. He served on our National Executive and various other committees and gave devoted service for the work of our Society, which was very near his heart. He was a sterling patriot, a good citizen, a prudent counsellor, wise administrator, and good friend; he leaves a good name—the memory of a life enriching his country and his compatriots, by having placed enduringly its impress upon them.

"Such good lives bless,
And to our hearts reveal
True manhood's noble crown
And God's approving seal."

Fraternally submitted, for the committee,

MORRIS B. BEARDSLEY,
EDWIN S. CRANDON,
NATHAN WARREN,
Committee.

I move that the tribute be approved by the Congress and published in full in the proceedings.

(The motion was seconded by President Charles F. Read, of the Massachusetts Society, and was adopted by a rising vote.)

The CHAIR: Gentlemen, the motion is carried and will be printed in the records. In the death of Moses Greeley Parker this Society lost a true patriot, this nation lost a true patriot, this nation and this Society lost a true man and a loyal friend. Those who knew him knew the indefatigable and splendid industry of the man; they knew his loyalty to his nation, to his friends, to his communtiy. They knew that one of the truest men, in the full sense of the term, passed away when Moses Greeley Parker went to his reward. And at this particular time, compatriots, I would recall that the patriotic organizations of this country lost during the past year, another President General, one of the truest and noblest of women kind, a woman than whom no woman ever possessed a sweeter disposition, a more womanly character. There was never a more gracious hostess, never a woman who ornamented official position any more than did Mrs. Albert B. Cummins, President General of the Children of the American Revolution, a society that was very dear and very close to the Sons of the American Revolution. She came from a long line of distinguished Revolutionary ancestors. She was true to ideals and inheritance. She married a man who was a descendant of one of the signers of the Mecklenburg Declaration. In every activity and avenue of life, Mrs. Albert B. Cummins was one of the truest of women. There have been many other deaths. Death has invaded our Society during the past two years. I would that I had in mind the records of the men and the activities in our organization of each and every one and the opportunity to mention them by name. To me personally possibly the greatest loss that I felt was in the death of Dr. Parker, with whom I served on the Executive Committee several years, and of Ned Arthurs, whom all of you knew, and this is the first Congress for a great many years from which they have been absent. There are others, without going into the names, that we miss most sadly, and I would ask, at this particular moment, that we each rise and bow our heads for a moment in respect to the memory of those of our compatriots and the President General of the Children of the American Revolution.

(The request of the President General was complied with.)

VOTE OF THANKS TO ROCHESTER CHAPTER AND OTHERS.

Chaplain General FOSTER: I move the adoption of the following vote of thanks:

We recognize that the good people of Rochester, who have contributed for the entertainment of the Sons of the American Revolution, have covered themselves with imperishable honor. We appreciate the untiring efforts of all concerned, who have made our coming so delightful, and hereby return our most sincere thanks for the entertainment they have given us.

We return special thanks to Mr. F. W. Yates and his good wife for their entertainment of the members of the Congress and ladies at their palatial home. Also, to the Daughters of the American Revolution for contributing so lavishly for our entertainment.

(The above was adopted by a rising vote.)

ORGANIZATION COMMITTEES.

The CHAIR: The report of the Committee on Organization East of the Mississippi River is now in order. Have you anything before you, Mr. Secretary General?

The SECRETARY GENERAL: Nothing.

The CHAIR: The Committee on Organization, Mississippi District, West. As its chairman, I desire to report a great deal of interest and activity on the part of the State Societies west of the Mississippi River. There has been a large increase in interest, a large increase in membership numerically, and the environment in which those compatriots of ours live out there has taught them the absolute necessity of pushing the true American ideals and principles to the front as rapidly and as thoroughly as possible. In the report of the Registrar General the details will show, in the numerical increase of the Society, something of their work, but only in a small way what they are doing, because they have been active, energetic, and vigorous in pushing true Americanism all the time. The committee from the Inter-mountain States—Judge Lee, of Salt Lake City, was the chairman of that committee. I received a letter and report from him which shows those organizations to be in a most vigorous, thrifty, and growing condition. They are doing their bit and more, in a larger measure relatively and proportionately than our older Societies in the East. We wish that some of you would catch something of that Western push in some of the Eastern Societies, and we know the environment and the conditions down there require the active, energetic work of every Son of the American Revolution at this particular time, and in connection with these reports the President General would urge, regardless of what organization or society you belong to—he would urge again, as he did two years ago, possibly two years ago tomorrow—that every compatriot wear every day, in the lapel of his coat, the rosette of the S. A. R. (Applause.) It means something today; it means more today than you compatriots can imagine. Wear it in the lapel of your coat daily.

FRENCH INDEBTEDNESS.

Mr. HENRY (Mich.): Mr. Cole, of Iowa, desires to be heard on the subject of the French indebtedness and as to whether our original resolution covered that.

The CHAIR: Mr. Cole, pardon me until we finish up these reports. We are all unanimous, but we don't want to offend our friends by offering cash to the proudest and most sensitive nation on earth. I have grave doubts as to how that resolution would be received by a high-spirited nation like France, and I thought there was reason to doubt the real tact or diplomacy in presenting a resolution of that kind at the present time. However, I endorse whatever you have done. The Committee on Americanization has a report from its efficient and wonderfully able chairman, who is now in the far-away State of California in body, but I know that his heart is with you and he is here in spirit. Chancellor Livingston Jenks, of Illinois, the chairman of that committee, has his report here, and his colleague and compatriot, the former President of the Illinois Society, Col. George V. Lauman, will now read the report of that committee.

Colonel LAUMAN (Ill.): There are two reports in my hand, one of the chairman of the Committee on Americanization and Aliens, and the other the report of the vice-chairman of that committee. I will read the two in connection. The first is by Chancellor L. Jenks, of Illinois, chairman, and the second is by Commander John H. Moore, of Washington, D. C., vice-chairman.

THE REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON AMERICANIZATION AND ALIENS.

PASADENA, CAL., May 14, 1918.

To the Twenty-ninth Annual Congress of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution:

I regret very much my inability to be present at this important Congress. Never before have the objects of this committee been so important as now. Had agencies such as ours been earlier and more actively at work in promoting the assimilation of the foreign-born into loyal citizenship, the most serious menace of the present period would have been removed or rendered innocuous. There can no longer be any doubt that the secret enemy within our borders is more dangerous for America than the fighting Boche abroad, not only because of his insidious operation in the dark, but also because his venomous propaganda is inspired by the basest ingratitude and hatred.

Fortunately many strong, well managed, and extensively operated organizations are now promoting American propaganda. The worth of American ideals, the value to the world of democracy, and the extension of the principle of personal liberty from individuals to nations are being systematically and wisely inculcated. It is quite significant that the recognition of the growing danger of a suspicion of pro-Germanism is a potent influence promoting the enthusiastic and outspoken adoption of American ideals. Caution must be carefully observed in testing the sincerity of much rather oratorical Americanism now being voiced. "Safety first" is the real spirit back of much pseudo-patriotic utterance in these perilous times. But despite much insincerity and mere display there is a splendid turning by the whole world to American ideals. The best thinkers of every land now realize that God speaks to the nations through the voice of the people; that the voice of the people is indeed the voice of God. The rule of autocracy must perish because it is wrong in principle and a failure in practice.

This committee has carried on this work of spreading Americanism not so much as a whole as through the separate activities of its members in their respective centers, not only in co-operation with other agencies of national scope, but in methods which emphasize the spirit and name of the Sons of the American Revolution.

In addition to labors in the special field of Americanization, each member of the committee, as has every member of the Society everywhere, has been devoting his time and thought and means to the Red Cross, the army Y. M. C. A., and the several Liberty Loan campaigns as well as to activities of local scope. This terrible struggle to maintain and extend the freedom established by our Revolutionary sires gives to every loyal compatriot the inspiration and opportunity to express his love of country in terms of useful activity, and has furnished a purpose to life itself which is one of the compensations of the war.

Respectfully submitted,

CHANCELLOR L. JENKS,
Chairman.

REPORT OF THE VICE-CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE ON AMERICANIZATION AND ALIENS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11, 1918.

The Committee on Americanization and Aliens has had a busy year. The demand for our leaflets has been general, coming from all parts of the country, and in each and every case the request has been granted and leaflets forwarded.

The demand for leaflet No. 1 in foreign languages has fallen off decidedly, caused by the greater efforts that are being exerted all over the country to educate the alien in English. Your committee would therefore recommend that when the present copies in the foreign languages have been distributed that further printing of them cease. The demand for copies of the Constitution still exceeds those for the other leaflets. During the year extra editions of leaflet No. 2, "The Naturalization of Aliens," and leaflet No. 3, "The Constitution of the United States of America," have been printed. Your committee has co-operated most heartily with the Division of Immmigrant Education in the Bureau of Education, with the various Young Men's Christian Associations, with the Americanization bureaus of several of our large cities, and with clerks of various district courts.

Our relationship with the Department of Labor has been as cordial as in the past. During the year, owing to the increased duties devolving upon the Division of Information, through whom our Society acts, they have been obliged to shift the storage of our leaflets three different times, and it is hoped, now that they are located in a building by themselves, that there will be no more changes.

During the year greater activity than ever has been displayed throughout the country in the education of the alien, and it is to be hoped that these endeavors will continue until every alien in the country can speak the English language. Our Society is helping, wherever it can, to spread this good work.

As the pioneers in the education of the alien, it must be a matter of great satisfaction to every Son of the American Revolution to see this good work expand and progress as rapidly as it is doing at the present time.

JNO. H. MOORE,
Vice-Chairman.

The CHAIR: Gentlemen, you have heard the reports of the Americanization Committee, through its chairman and vice-chairman. What action do you wish to take upon them?

Mr. HENRY: I move that the reports be adopted and placed upon the record.

GERMAN-AMERICAN ALLIANCE.

Judge BEARDSLEY: I have a report from the Committee on Resolutions. We have before us, Mr. President General, the resolution offered by Colonel Vrooman.

(Judge Beardsley reads resolution, congratulating the Empire State Society on its action in reference to the German-American Alliance and the Herkimen Home (see page 127).

Mr. SHELDON (Nebr.): I move the adoption of the resolution.

(Motion seconded.)

(The resolution was unanimously adopted.)

CREDENTIALS COMMITTEE.

The CHAIR: Is the Committee on Credentials ready with its report? (Mr. Huntting, chairman, submits printed list.) You have heard the report of the Credentials Committee; what action do you wish to take upon it?

(It was moved and carried that the report be adopted. The list appears on pages 78, 79.)

The CHAIR: The report is adopted and the committee discharged. Next is the report of the Committee on Patriotic Education, Mr. Ames, chairman.

COMMITTEE ON PATRIOTIC EDUCATION.

Mr. AMES (N. Y.): Mr. President General and Compatriots, the report of your Committee on Patriotic Education is one of something attempted and something done. The report of the committee of two years ago was along the lines of education for the youth, and it reported to the Congress a series of books to be read by the younger children of America. They also recommended that the children be interested in the dramatization of Edward Everett Hale's book, "The Man Without a Country," which was prepared by a member of this committee, Mr. George Brommer. We have urged during the space of two years, the period that this report covers, that that dramatization be used by the Children of the Revolution and also by the Sons of the American Revolution for the work of the younger members, but we have gone a step further. Your committee has asked the historians of each State Society to investigate the text-books that are used in the public schools, particularly the histories of the United States. The vice-chairman of this committee has made an exhaustive examination of Muzzey's school history, the principal history used in the public schools of the United States. I have a copy of this report, which I will leave with the Secretary General, and I am very glad to say that after this report was published and circulated throughout the United States, sent to the Department of Education in each State, that Oregon has withdrawn Muzzey's school history and New York State is going to do likewise. (Applause.) At the suggestion of the chairman of this committee, another member of the committee, Dr. Wickes, of Syracuse, is preparing a history to be used in the public schools along the lines that we of the Sons of the American Revolution desire that American history shall be taught. Your committee has considered that its chief duty was patriotic education, and so has sent out to the various State Societies copies of the circular issued by the Department of Education of the city of New York at the request of the Empire State Society. Acting on the suggestion of the Empire State Society, it has been decided to celebrate, at the opening exercises of the older children on May 5 of each year, the anniversary of the ratification by Congress of the treaty of alliance between France and the United States in 1778, in order to perpetuate and keep alive the memory of the treaty of alliance between this country and France, and Washington's friend, the Marquis de Lafayette, and we have asked that each Society follow the example of the Empire State and the New Jersey State Society. We have had enacted by the legislatures of the States of New York and New Jersey laws providing that no matter what may be the race or nation from which a citizen is naturalized, whatever may be his feelings toward any flag of the universe, that when he registers and when he votes he must do it under the American flag, and that flag must be displayed at every registration booth and every polling place. (Applause.) The chairman of your committee, prior to the last 4th of July, went to the editors of every newspaper in the city of New York that was published in a foreign language and asked that on July 4 the Declaration of Independence should be translated into the language in which that paper was published and should be published on the first page of the paper. You may be surprised to know that the Declaration of Independence, until a year ago last 4th of July, had never been translated into the Italian language and it was necessary that a subscription should be raised for its translation, and the Italian citizens of New York paid for its translation and it was published for the first time in the city of New York in the Italian language, and some of the good German citizens of New York who have become naturalized and are now loyal Americans said, "If necessary we will pay for its being printed in the German papers." I have great faith in the power of education. You never did a greater thing in the world than when you issued those pamphlets on citizenship. In my employ there is a German reservist, John Windorf by name, and when Germany entered into this war he came to me to say good-bye. He said, "Tomorrow I go down to the German Consul because I have had my call. I know where my uniform is in Germany. I go back as a reservist." I said to him, "Here are two books; take these home and read them. Take this home to your wife." I gave him this little pamphlet of the S. A. R. on naturalization and the duties of citizenship, printed in the German language, and the next evening he dined with me, and he said, "I have lived in this country fourteen years. I have property in Germany, but I have my children born in America and tomorrow I do not go to the German consul and I take out my naturalization papers." (Applause.) When the "Lusitania" went down he came to me and said, "There is only one other man in this factory who is not either a native born or a naturalized American citizen, and that is an Englishman by the name of Arthur Wadsworth, and either he gets out or I get out if he don't become naturalized." (Applause.) And on the following day this German reservist, John Windorf, took Arthur Wadsworth up to the City Hall and paid for his first naturalization papers. (Applause.) That is a patriotic education. You have heard of the legislative work that our committee in New York has done along patriotic lines. Now I have only two suggestions to make: One is this, that all of our State organizations, all of our Chapters—and I wish, if it were possible, that the National Society could do likewise—hold their meetings on the anniversary of some historic date in the history of the American Republic instead of holding their meetings on divergent dates, the second or third Tuesday in the month. It is further recommended that we ask the Department of Education at Washington to request that all papers published in foreign languages shall publish the Declaration of Independence next July 4th in the language in which the paper is published. (Applause.)

The CHAIR: Gentlemen, you have heard the report of the Committee on Patriotic Education.

RECEPTION TO LIEUTENANT DEWIERZBICKI.

Judge REMINGTON (N. Y.): I rise to a question of privilege. It is my distinguished honor to move that the privileges of the floor be extended to Lieutenant Dewierzbicki, a distinguished soldier of France. (Applause.)

(The motion was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.)

General READE (Mass.): Mr. President General, 140 years ago the colors of a nation struggling for independence were shown in the colors of the uniform our forebears wore and the cockade in their hats. Those colors were blue and buff. In March, 1778, George Washington, Commander-in-Chief, in honor of the French alliance, directed that the colors of that uniform and of those cockades should be changed from blue and buff to blue and white and buff, as shown upon our flag. The fact, sir, is significant. (Applause.)

The CHAIR: It is certainly a source of very distinguished honor to have the presence of this distinguished ally in a meeting of the S. A. R., and I am sure, Lieutenant, that our compatriots would all be glad to hear a word of greeting from our sister Republic of France, our ally in two great world wars for democracy. (Applause.)

ADDRESS BY LIEUTENANT DEWIERZBICKI.

Lieutenant DEWIERZBICKI: Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, the honor is all mine, of course. It is not only a great honor but a tremendous pleasure, and a great novelty as well. I have given fifty talks—this is not a talk, but I have given really fifty talks in five weeks, and this is the very first time that I have seen something quite of this nature, and the nature of this is interesting and inspiring, indeed. I have not been asked to give you a talk, but it will be hard to refrain; but I would like to say, first, that I do not feel "un-at-home" at all here, and for this reason, that this man in blue, this Frenchman with a Polish name, is also something of an American. I do not mean as we all in France are something of Americans, sir, but I mean particularly something of an American in your sense by being an American by blood and by way of birth. My mother was an American, and here in Rochester I happen to be very near the Genesee Valley, where her people came from, and it was a question this morning of my being given the privilege of going and calling on my first cousins and some great-aunts who lived at Genesee. I think that I also have or had one great-aunt who was the wife of Governor Young, of New York State, so you see that not only do I belong to the sister Republic, but I belong a little bit to you and I am very proud and happy of it. (Applause.) The Sons of the American Revolution, I understand, is a patriotic society. It is strange how very few patriotic societies we have in France. It is strange how very seldom we hear the word, that sublimest word, "Patrie," Mother Country. It is a known fact that the soldiers never pronounced it except as a very last word, when they say, "All is ended; I am sorry, but I have done all I have been able to do for la Patrie." They have not said that word before, but they think it and they feel it all the time, and you know they do, and you know that if you are good enough to receive me so kindly here today it is not because France—of course, I don't count—but it is not because my country represents so many good and great things in the world; it is not because we have that supremest art of making life itself beautiful, of being polite, which, you will remember, is but another word for civilized; it is not because of that; it is not because of the good roads that we have in France, where you love to automobile, or the good art or the good cuisine; no, it is because it has been given us, it has been imposed upon us, to represent, to symbolize that word for which you Sons of the American Revolution stand—patriotism. (Applause.) There are two kinds of patriotism, though. There are many kinds, but there are specially two kinds, the one that is perhaps like the love of the child for the mother—all pride, all joy, all vanity, at seeing her more beautiful, a little taller than the other women of the community, well dressed, with beautiful flowers and a great deal of gold in her pockets that she gives generously and that the child enjoys; that makes him proud, that makes him happy and vain and given to boasting. That is only the kind of patriotism and the kind of love that delights to receive. The other kind of patriotism is the one that gives; it is the one that sacrifices, and you know that this second quality of patriotism is that which we have shown in France for the last three years and three-quarters, by giving everything we have had, and more, too, it seems. I believe the chairman would like me to stop; I think he has something to say. (Applause.)

The CHAIR: The only reason, sir, that we permit you to stop at this time is the knowledge that we are to hear more from you tonight (applause); and I know, compatriots, that you will go from this Congress with an additional love and respect for the colors of the rosette which we wear, when you know that the white was placed therein, as has been called to your attention, at the request or upon the order of George Washington and in honor of our then Ally and our present Ally, La Belle France. (Applause.) At the time of this very delightful, to you all I know, reception, as far as it was possible for us to tender it to the Lieutenant, the question before the house was on the adoption of the report of the Committee on Patriotic Education. The question had been called for, and I repeat, Are you ready for the question?

(Motion to adopt the report was carried.)

FLAG COMMITTEE.

The CHAIR: The next report is that of the Flag Committee, W. V. Cox, of the District of Columbia, chairman. Mr. Cox is not present, but his report will be given by Compatriot Charles O. Parks, of the District of Columbia Society, son-in-law of the chairman of the Flag Committee and son of the President W. S. Parks, of the District of Columbia Society, here today.

REPORT OF THE FLAG COMMITTEE.

The Flag Committee of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, begs to report that no legislation to protect the flag of the United States from desecration has as yet been enacted by Congress. Senate Bill No. 121, introduced by Mr. Chamberlain, "To prevent the desecration of the flag of the United States," passed the Senate on March 23, 1918. The bill went to the House of Representatives, and on April 6 it was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs. A subcommittee now has it in charge, and as soon as the army bill has been disposed of it is thought that the flag bill will be taken up, and it is hoped will receive favorable consideration.

Representatives of Sons of the American Revolution in the District of Columbia, and the Flag Committee of the Washington Board of Trade held several conferences on various bills. An agreement was reached and a bill drawn that is believed will prove effective and reconcile conflicting views held by those seeking and those opposing Federal legislation to protect the insignia of the United States. The following is the text of the bill:

A Bill to prevent desecration of the flag and insignia of the United States and to provide punishment therefor.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress Assembled, That whoever shall in any manner for display place or cause to be placed upon the flag, colors, coat of arms, or other insignia of the United States any word, picture, or device of trade advertising; or who shall sell, have in possession, or display any flag, colors, coat of arms, or insignia of the United States so marked or mutilated for advertising or trade purposes; or shall in any manner place on, attach to, or associate with any article of commerce any flag, colors, coat of arms, or insignia of the United States, or offer for sale or have in possession any such article so associated; or who shall in any manner mutilate, deface, or by word or act publicly exhibit contempt for the flag, colors, coat of arms, or other insignia of the United States, or any representation thereof, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction in any federal court shall be subject to a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment for not more than six months, or both.

SECTION 2. The words "flag," "colors," "coat of arms," or "insignia" used herein include also any picture or representation or simulation of the same.

SECTION 3. This act shall not apply to the use, wholly disconnected from trade advertising, of the flag, colors, coat of arms, or other insignia of the United States on newspapers, books, certificates, commissions, decorations, banners, pictures, stationery for correspondence, or in or on any other article or in any position where its use is purely and obviously for ornamental or patriotic purposes; nor shall it apply for any other purpose than to prevent the desecration or exhibiting disrespect for the flag, colors, coat of arms, or other insignia of the United States or their employment for advertising or trade purposes.

SECTION 4. This act shall go into effect upon its passage and publication, except as to goods which shall have been made and marked and in stock at that time, and as to such goods it shall be in force six months after its passage and publication.

The Hon. Francis H. Clay, Assistant Commissioner of Patents, who drafted the bill, says in a letter transmitting the report:

"I have attempted to analyze and improve the bill to prevent desecration of the flag, and have considered the legal questions asked.

"Such legislation could not be accomplished under either the copyright law or the power of Congress to regulate trade. But I believe there is no question that under its police power the government can enact such legislation. The case of the flag is, I think, upon a stronger basis than the protection of the Red Cross sign, which is protected by the act of January 5, 1905, as amended June 23, 1910, which makes it a misdemeanor to improperly employ the Red Cross.

"I think more than the flag is necessary to be protected, and I am satisfied that the language should be simplified. Reference to specific instances in such legislation has frequently resulted in failure to cover what was intended, and more comprehensive terms, less in number, are far more effective. With a view to suggesting a better form I have rewritten the bill and enclose duplicate copies.

"This I have done after consideration of Senate Bill No. 1905, of the 63d Congress. In that bill there is an improper provision as to copyright, which not only is to be treated under a separate clause of the Constitution, but has in fact been already covered by copyright law. As to the trade-mark, the present law deals only with the rights of registration, and there is no Federal control of trade-marks, which are subject to the common-law provisions.

"I believe my form of law is superior to that act of February 8, 1917, covering the District of Columbia, which, for example, would not be so definite and in general not in harmony with the customary form of national laws."

It would seem that the present, when our sons are struggling to protect our flag in foreign lands, is the time for Congress to protect our flag at home from desecration by enacting a flag law that has for years been advocated by the descendants of the founders of the flag of democracy, the Sons of the American Revolution.

W. V. Cox,
Chairman.

General READE (Mass.): Since the 52d Congress, applications have been made and bills presented for the Federal Congress to protect the flag of its own creation. The United States is the only nation that has not, by legislation, protected its flag. I move you, sir, that this report be received and accepted with thanks for the patriotic impulses that moved its creation.

(The motion was unanimously adopted.)

Mr. PARKS: Mr. President General and Compatriots, I wish to thank the Society for its action and for your unanimous adoption of Mr. Cox's report. Now that you have accepted it, I beg to present this resolution for the consideration of the Committee on Resolutions:

Resolved, That the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, in Congress assembled, approve the report of the Flag Committee and earnestly ask the Congress of the United States to enact a law at this session to prevent the flag of the United States from desecration, mutilation, and improper use.

Resolved, That the officers of this Society forward to the Committees on Military Affairs, House and Senate of the United States, a copy of this and other reports of the Society, asking legislation to protect the flag.

(The resolution was seconded and adopted.)

The CHAIR: Next is the report of the Committee on Military and Naval Records. If no objection be offered, that report will be filed and printed in the records, no one being present to make the report.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON MILITARY AND NAVAL RECORDS.

Charles W. Stewart, chairman of the committee, reported through the Secretary General that the records collected in times past are carefully preserved, but that during the past war conditions have prevented any special activity toward gathering new material.

There is much interest in the records of the sailors of the War of the American Revolution, partly due to the fact that the Navy Department has given to destroyers many names of Revolutionary naval officers.

COMMITTEE ON ARCHIVES BUILDING.

The CHAIR: Next is the report of the Committee on National Archives Building.

President WM. S. PARKS (D. C.): This report is very brief and has been submitted by Col. Frederick C. Bryan, chairman of the committee. He usually attends these Congresses, but has been unavoidably detained, owing to conditions that exist in Washington, and he has requested me to read the report.

I submitted a report one year ago as chairman of the Committee on Archives Building, and was able then to report some progress. Now that the United States has entered the war, governmental activities, especially here in Washington, are, as you know, confined almost entirely to those activities absolutely necessary for winning the war. The war has only emphasized the necessity for such a building, but congressional action in the matter can hardly be looked for now.

As soon as the time is opportune, our efforts in that direction should be redoubled.

Very respectfully yours,

FRED'K C. BRYAN,
Chairman.

I will add further that a bill has been introduced in Congress, in the Senate of the United States, by Senator Poindexter, of Washington State, asking for an appropriation of three million dollars for this archives building. We read of billions and we think in billions, and three millions does not seem a large amount under the circumstances, but we are going to have that building in Washington just so sure as the sun rises and sets. (Applause.) Gentlemen, there is no question whatever about that, for this reason, that we are piling up archives, you might say by the ton, archives that are absolutely essential for the use of the government of the United States in the years that are to come, and that is the reason I speak with such confidence in regard to what this Society has done in suggesting and moving and acting for the purpose of getting what we so much need, an archives building. (Applause.)

(It was moved and carried that the report of the committee be adopted and printed.)

THE WASHINGTON GUARD.

The CHAIR: Next is the report of the Committee on Washington Guard. I recognize Mr. Webster Bruce, of Massachusetts, Lieutenant Governor General of our Junior Society.

Mr. BRUCE: Mr. President General and Compatriots, the report of the Washington Guard has been prepared by Governor General Merrill. I regret that he could not have remained to have presented it. It is rather lengthy and I will ask that it be printed in full in the Year Book. Now there are some very interesting things in connection with the Washington Guard. To me, one of the most encouraging things that has developed in this Congress, looking to the future life of our Society, is the entrance into it of young men. The war has been largely responsible for this, but not entirely so. Massachusetts has just been given the traveling banner for the largest number of members enrolled during the year, and many of these have come from the Washington Guard. As soon as a member of the Washington Guard arrives at the age of twenty-one, his name and address are given to the Increase of Membership Committee, and they get after that young man and many of them have been obtained in that way. Now we all know that we must look to the future life of this Society, and I do not think that the State Societies have done all that they should to follow up the Washington Guard movement. Now there is a curious thing that has been developed in one of the Posts in New Jersey. Thirty per cent of the members of Posts have come from members of our Society; twenty per cent from the Daughters of the two societies; fifty per cent of the eligibles from fathers and mothers who were not members of either of the societies, and it has developed that quite a number of these young men have gotten their fathers into our Society, and I think that we should follow up the Washington Guard a great deal more than we do. I ask that this report, if possible, be printed in full in the Year Book.

The CHAIR: Unless objection is offered the request of the committee will be granted and the report printed. The Chair hears no objection, and it will be printed.

REPORT ON THE WASHINGTON GUARD.

BY GOVERNOR GENERAL MERRILL.

COMPATRIOTS: In submitting herewith my report on the Washington Guard, I must confess to my keen disappointment that greater progress has not been made in this work. We have, nevertheless, made some marked progress, and I am convinced that we have laid a strong and firm foundation for a work that will be of inestimable value to the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution throughout the land.

The work has been handicapped by the condition of the country. It is an unfavorable time to raise money for outside purposes, and money is required to properly organize Posts in the various State Commanderies. It is an unfavorable time, too, to enlist the active co-operation of the compatriots in the work of organization, military instructions, etc. We propose, however, to continue this work until we secure results, and, I am glad to report, we feel that we shall soon succeed in effecting efficient organizations in many parts of the country.

We are laying particular stress upon the military end of the Washington Guard, for we consider that a real military training and discipline at this time will prove of lasting importance to our sons. The remarkable success achieved by Post No. 1 of the New Jersey Commandery is sufficient proof of the wisdom of such military organization. This Post, numbering some seventy members, boasts a service flag of nine stars, representing Washington Guardsmen in the service of the United States Army and Navy, and this number of stars will be increased before long. Because of difficulty in raising money, Post No. 1 has had to make the most of its dress uniforms and has been somewhat handicapped by the lack of working uniforms. The Post expects shortly to receive their new fatigue uniforms, consisting of khaki breeches and shirt, leggings and barrack caps with the initials of W. G. S. A. R. on the front. The uniform is inexpensive and well adapted to hard work. We purpose making this fatigue uniform the main uniform for the present, leaving the expensive dark blue uniform for better days.

We have received much encouragement in regard to the organization of local Posts from Compatriot Churchill, the President of the Louisiana Society, and Compatriot Fuller, the Secretary of the Wisconsin Society, and from others.

To interest our compatriots throughout the country in this work, we append herewith a few suggestions in the matter of organization.

NOTES.

The object of this pamphlet is to interest compatriots in the formation of State Commanderies of the Washington Guard and Posts.

The Constitution of the National Commandery has already been printed, and it is suggested that State Commanderies, when properly chartered, may pattern their State Constitution thereon.

A proposed form of Constitution for local Posts is printed herewith, patterned on the Constitution of Post No. 1 of the Orange, New Jersey, Commandery. This Constitution, it will be noted, contemplates a military organization, but at the same time does not exclude from membership and active participation in the affairs of the Post such Guardsmen or Junior Guardsmen who for one reason or another do not find it convenient to participate in the drills and military activities of the Posts.

The following method of procedure is suggested to compatriots who may be interested in the Washington Guard movement, viz:

First. The appointment, by the President or Board of Managers of a State Society, of temporary officers for the organization of a State Commandery, viz., Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary, Treasurer, Registrar, and Chaplain (all members of the Sons of the American Revolution). Notifications of such appointments to be officially given to the Governor General, who will issue the necessary charter and co-operate with the compatriots named in the organizing of the said State Commandery and local Posts.

The officers named should then formally adopt a Constitution and proceed to effect a permanent organization.

Second. After this is done, a proper enrollment of the sons of members throughout the State—under the age of 21—should be made and the Governor should appoint compatriots to undertake the formation of local Posts. It is suggested that compatriots with military experience should eventually be placed in command of Posts contemplating military work. The more Posts organized throughout the State the better.

The Commandant of the Post, so appointed, will arrange for the formal organization of each Post, the adoption of a Constitution, and the naming of officers. It is suggested that caution be observed in the filling of the offices, inasmuch as considerable embarrassment may be found later as the Post grows in numbers. It is desirable, of course, that merit, character, and worth should be recognized. In the military organizations we aim to establish West Point discipline and proper respect for authority must be maintained.

The State enrollment alluded to will aid each Commandant in effecting local organization, but the Commandant must realize that the sons and grandsons of S. A. R. members form but a small part of the eligible list; that many, many boys in the community are eligible to membership in the Washington Guard. To illustrate: Post No. 1 of the New Jersey Commandery, in which already there has been an enrollment of some seventy names, is made up of 30 per cent of sons and grandsons of S. A. R. members and 20 per cent of sons and grandsons of D. A. R. and D. R. members, and the remaining 50 per cent of boys in no way affiliating with any of these organizations. (Incidentally, many of these boys who have had to bring new proof of their Revolutionary ancestry have brought their fathers into the Sons of the American Revolution.)

Naturally, each Post must determine the nature of its own activities, but it is suggested that military instruction and discipline are most important, especially at this time, when we are all pressing for compulsory military service and are endeavoring to inculcate in our American boys the spirit of devotion, loyalty, service, and sacrifice.

Each Post should be able to provide for a weekly drilling place. Post No. 1 has been granted the use of the large Sunday-school room of the Central Presbyterian Church of Orange without charge. A place is set apart for the storage of guns and other equipment.

The official dress uniform, previously alluded to, consists of a dark blue coat and long trousers, with wide yellow stripes down the latter, regulation cap, and white belt (forming the S. A. R. colors). The cost of this uniform is about $16.

The fatigue uniform consists of a khaki shirt, khaki riding breeches, with thin yellow stripe, and army leggings and barrack cap, with W. G. on the front. Later on a khaki coat may be added, but at present the uniform described suffices. The cost complete is about $6.50.

The guns used by Post No. 1 are merely for drilling purposes and shoot only blank cartridges.

It is suggested that four standard rifles should be in the possession of all large Posts for the purpose of regular rifle practice, under the direct supervision of the Commandant.

Nothing attracts attention to the Guard like a uniform, and Commandants will find such uniforms (whether dress or fatigue) excellent advertisements for the Guard and great recruiting agents.

To acquaint each State with the uniform, the Governor General will be pleased to appoint (upon the suggestion of the President of a State Society or the Governor of a State Commandery) some young man between the years of 15 and 18 as his aide (with rank of Captain), it being incumbent upon the said aide to purchase a dress uniform and sword and, when convenient, to act as aide to the President of the State Society or other officers at State Society meetings or meetings of Chapters, thus representing the Governor General in that State.

Each Post should possess a United States flag and a guidon, marked WASHINGTON GUARD, POST NO. —, S. A. R. (and such other colors as are desired).

Posts will be numbered in order of their formation, regardless of their locality. No. 2 has been given to the Post at Summit, New Jersey, and No. 3 and 4 reserved for Milwaukee and New Orleans respectively.

Finally, it will be the pleasure of the officers of the National Commandery to aid in every way the efforts put forward by compatriots for the formation of State Commanderies or Posts.

The proposed form of Constitution for a Post follows:

PROPOSED FORM OF CONSTITUTION FOR WASHINGTON GUARD POSTS.

ARTICLE I.

Name.

The name of this organization shall be "POST NO. — OF THE COMMANDERY OF THE WASHINGTON GUARD OF THE NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION," hereinafter referred to as "the Post."

ARTICLE II.

Object.

The object of the Post shall be to perpetuate the memory of the men and women who, by their services or sacrifices during the war of the American Revolution, achieved the independence of the American people; to unite and promote fellowship among their descendants; to inspire them and the community at large with a more profound reverence for the principles of government founded by our forefathers; to celebrate the anniversaries of prominent events of the war; to foster true patriotism; to maintain, defend, and extend the institutions of American freedom, and the blood-bought heritage bequeathed to us by our forefathers of the American Revolution.

ARTICLE III.

Membership.

SECTION 1. Any male youth shall be eligible to membership in the Post who is under twenty-one years of age and of good repute in the community in which he resides, and who at the age of twenty-one years would be eligible by right of descent to membership in the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

SECTION 2. Any member of the Sons of the American Revolution may become an honorary member of the Post upon the payment of the regular dues.

SECTION 3. The membership in the Post shall consist of three classes:

Senior Guardsmen—those between 15 and 21 years of age.

Guardsmen—those between 10 and 15 years of age.

Junior Guardsmen—those under 10 years of age.

The right to vote and hold office shall be limited to Senior Guardsmen and Guardsmen.

All members admitted before ———, upon signing this Constitution, shall be known as Charter Members of the Post.

Members may be elected, suspended, or dismissed by the Council.

ARTICLE IV.

Officers.

The officers of the Post, who shall be elected for a term of one year, or until their successors shall have been elected, shall be a Commandant, who shall be a member of the Sons of the American Revolution; a Captain; a First Lieutenant, who shall act as Secretary; a Second Lieutenant, who shall act as Treasurer; an Ensign, in charge of the colors; a First Sergeant and a Second Sergeant.

The entire administration of the affairs of the Post shall be vested in the Council, to consist of the officers hitherto named, and all general officers and officers of the Commandery, resident in the ———.

Until the first annual meeting the Commandant, —— ——, selected by the Commandery, shall appoint the officers of the Post.

Duties of Officers.

The Commandant shall have general supervision over the Post, its drills, and other activities, and may appoint, at his discretion, such assistants as he may desire, and shall also appoint annually two Aides to the Commandant from the Senior Guardsmen or the Guardsmen.

The Captain shall perform the duties appertaining to a President in other organizations and likewise act as Captain in any military organization of the Post.

The First and Second Lieutenants and Ensign shall perform the duties hereinbefore mentioned and likewise act as such in any military organization of the Post.

The First and Second Sergeants shall act as such at any meetings of the Post and in any military organization of the Post.

Dues.

The annual dues of honorary members shall be ——.

The annual dues of Senior Guardsmen and Guardsmen shall be ——.

No annual dues shall be assessed against the Junior Guardsmen, although they shall be privileged to pay the same if they so desire.

Meetings and Elections.

The annual meeting of the Post shall be held on —— —, or at another date if so prescribed by the Council. At this meeting officers shall be elected, a majority vote being necessary to a choice.

Other meetings and drills may be prescribed by the Council.

ARTICLE VIII.

By-Laws.

The Council may adopt By-Laws for the government of the Post and alter and amend the same.

ARTICLE IX.

Amendments.

This Constitution may be altered or amended by a majority vote of members present at any meeting of the Post, regularly called, provided that due notice of the meeting and the proposed amendment shall be given to all Senior Guardsmen and Guardsmen, one week in advance of the date of the said meeting.

We have heard much of a project to include in the membership of the Sons of the American Revolution young men of the age of 18 and over, and we who are active in the work of the Washington Guard cordially favor such a plan if it be found practicable and constitutional, particularly in the case of young men of the army or navy who are eligible. Such inclusion would not interfere in the least with the work of the Washington Guard; in fact, it would aid the same, and we hope it may be found practicable to do so.

In conclusion, we bespeak the interest of our compatriots in this great work. Our boys are the hope of the nation; let us aid in making them thoroughly worthy of their great heritage. We do not in this way foster class spirit; we merely make the descendants of the farmers and artisans of 1776 conscious of their responsibility to the nation which their fathers died to give us.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN LENORD MERRILL,
Governor General.

AMERICAN'S CREED.

The CHAIR: I recognize Judge Beardsley, of the Committee on Resolutions.

Judge BEARDSLEY: The following resolution, introduced by Mr. Wortman, is presented with the favorable recommendation of the Committee on Resolutions:

Resolved, That the Committee on Americanization and Aliens, of the Sons of the American Revolution, be authorized to furnish the State Societies, when so requested, with copies of "The American's Creed," for use in the various Chapters in promulgating the work of Americanization in the various communities in the United States; that the expense for the same be paid for out of the funds in the treasury of the various State Societies so receiving the same.

(On motion, the foregoing resolution was adopted.)

JUNIOR MEMBERSHIP.

The CHAIR: Next is the report of the special committee appointed by the Executive Committee to report on the question of the admission of young men between the ages of 18 and 21, otherwise eligible. I recognize Past President General Woodworth.

Mr. WOODWORTH: The report of your committee at this time is rather embarrassing, for the reason that the committee is entirely in sympathy—yes, more than in sympathy—eager to comply with the expression that has come from many States represented here, that there might be some method devised whereby we could accept into our ranks those who have joined the colors and who are under the age of 21. Your committee has discussed this matter from every point of view, has taken the advice of able counsel that has been available in this Congress, and the committee has reached the conclusion that this matter is a very serious one, a matter which should require considerable deliberation. They do not see any way whereby this Congress, by any act or resolution, can permit those under 21 being admitted to membership for associate membership. The Constitution is very plain and very distinct on the qualifications for membership. It is our charter, granted by act of Congress. Your committee feels, then, that this matter should be taken up with a great deal of care, and while it is willing and anxious to expedite the matter in any way possible, at the same time it is the judgment of your committee, and I would so report it, that the matter should be referred to a special committee appointed by the President General to canvass the situation, discuss it from all angles, and then report to this organization its conclusions; and I would move you that the President General be authorized to appoint a special committee, the number to be in his discretion, to consider this question as to how it is possible to take in, as associates or as members, those who have joined the colors and are otherwise eligible to this Society, under the age of 21. I move the adoption of the resolution.

(Motion seconded.)

The CHAIR: Gentlemen, you have heard the report of the committee and the recommendation and the motion. What is your pleasure? Are you ready for the question?

Colonel PIERCE (N. Y.): The Spanish have a word, manana, meaning tomorrow, which means procrastination. There is a society called the "Din Society," which means do it now. The battles of the Revolution were in part fought by minors. The Civil War, 1861-65, was in part fought by minors on both sides. A percentage of the armed military, naval, and marine force of the United States is composed of minors, aged 18, 19, and 20, who are knocking for admission, and the doors of this Society are closed by the Constitution. When the Louisiana Purchase was advocated by Napoleon Bonaparte, not because he loved America more, but because he loved England less, and when Thomas Jefferson was asked, after the purchase of Louisiana had been perfected, whether he had not stretched the Constitution, Thomas Jefferson said, "Stretched it? I stretched it till it broke." It is submitted and re-submitted that this motion was presented four years ago and encountered the same negation that is presented today. I ask and recommend that this Congress state whether or not it is in sympathy with a proposition that young men—worthy, eligible—of the age of 18, 19, or 20, be allowed to come in? The remedy, it seems to me, quoting from Compatriot Woodworth—"Is it possible?", etc.—is possible. The Constitution of the United States has been changed once in order to increase its geographical domain, and our Constitution, that was chartered, I think, by the 59th Congress of the United States of America, first session, House of Representatives, 15332, Public 214—the same Congress that limited, at our request, 21 as the minimum age of membership—if that Congress of the United States is now asked to change 21 to 18, it will do it. It doesn't look well, compatriots, to put upon record that into the combatant service of the United States young men of 18, 19, and 20 are admitted, but are rejected because of a phrase that may be changed in the Constitution of the S. A. R. (Applause.)

Mr. SMITH: On this same subject, not being familiar with the requirement for the change of the Constitution, I am not going to speak, but I would like to supplement what a compatriot has just said. A young man stepped into my office; his figure was all filled out; he was just three months short of being 21; he had been to the front and had returned on a leave of absence; he had just three days, and he spent nearly two of those three days preparing his papers to come into our Society, and neglected his own folks and neglected other things of importance because he prized so highly the opportunity of being associated with this organization, and when his papers were presented and the time of his birth inserted, it was disclosed that he was just three months short of being permitted to come in. He left the office abashed and almost in tears, because it had been the pride of his heart to succeed in the footsteps of his ancestors. He was offering his life for his country and now he was deprived of coming into this organization that represents the best blood of this world. I hope if there is any way of modifying this—that men who are willing to give their lives for the service of their country, who are anxious and would feel honored by membership in this organization—that we may make it possible for them to join. (Applause.)

The CHAIR: All those in favor of the adoption of the report of the committee, which refers the question of eligibility to a committee to be appointed by the President General to report later, will indicate it in the usual manner.

Mr. COOK (N. Y.): May I beg the indulgence of the Chair for a moment.

The CHAIR: Unless objection is offered, yes.

Mr. COOK (N. Y.): As a representative of Syracuse, I dislike to see this amendment defeated, and for information, as I did not catch the report of Compatriot Woodworth, I wish to ask if this motion were passed for the adoption of this report, the special committee report, could that be done at this session?

Mr. WOODWORTH: The Constitution of the Society cannot be amended at this Congress. The Constitution provides for membership and limits the age to 21 or over. Now the committee is equally in sympathy and can talk as strongly in favor of the admission of these men as any one who has spoken on this resolution, but your committee felt that you had entrusted them with a serious question, and to report back to this Congress something which mature judgment and careful study of the Constitution and the advice of able counsel on that point—it would not be doing justice to this Congress to make a report against their deliberate judgment, although they would welcome, as eagerly as any other person in this Congress, a way out, that this might be accomplished. But we felt it was our duty to report what we, in our judgment, considered was a constitutional method.

Mr. LOOMIS: I would like to ask the chairman of this committee how the Constitution may be changed.

Mr. WOODWORTH: I will ask the Secretary General to read the section in reference to the amendment to the Constitution.

(Secretary General Clark complied with the request.)

Mr. LOOMIS: I move, as an amendment to the motion, if I can do so, that the whole matter be referred to the Executive Committee with power to see that the thing is properly attended to.

The CHAIR: That is the motion before the house at the present time.

Mr. LOOMIS: I move this as an amendment. I thought it was a special committee before this section of the Constitution was read, whereas the Constitution says it must be done by the Executive Committee.

A MEMBER: What is the present motion before the house?

The CHAIR: The present motion is on the report of the committee, who recommend that a special committee be appointed by the President General to devise ways and means.

Mr. LOOMIS: May I finish? That report, or that recommendation, refers it to a special committee; whereas, under the Constitution as just read by the Secretary General, I understand that the Executive Committee must vote that this shall be recommended and that 60 days' notice should be given. My motion was that this be referred to the Executive Committee with instructions to recommend it to the next Congress and provide for the proper machinery for its presentation so that the next Congress can vote on it.

The SECRETARY GENERAL: We can do it now; we can, at this Congress, recommend the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution, to be acted upon at the next Congress.

Mr. LOOMIS: But I understand the Executive Committee must recommend it first. We want to make some headway toward this desirable end. A minor may be a citizen. The present Constitution does not provide that only a voter or elector should be eligible. The test is that he be a citizen and a minor may be a citizen.

(The Secretary General again read the section of the Constitution bearing on amendments.)

Mr. LOOMIS: I withdraw my other motion and move that this Congress recommend to the next Congress that such an amendment be made as to provide that the limit of 21 years be changed to 18, so far as applicable to soldiers and sailors in the military or naval service of the United States.

Colonel VROOMAN: May I ask your attention for a brief moment? This question arose in a fraternal organization of which I am a humble member in September last. That organization represented 212,000 men. I said at that time, and I repeat it now, that a boy who is old enough to enlist under the Stars and Stripes and bare his breast to the enemy is old enough to become a member of that organization or of this Society. (Applause.) But, my beloved compatriots, we must do it legally. So a session was called and that matter was done legally, and some of our boys over there, of the age of 18 and over, are now members of that fraternal organization; and if we could only do it now—oh, I wish we could do it right now—but I believe that we can start it now by legally taking the proper steps to move an amendment to the Constitution, if it is necessary, to strike out citizen or strike out "male or female" or anything else. (Laughter.) What I want to do is to let the boys over there of the age of 18 have an opportunity to wear on their breast the badge of the Sons of the American Revolution. (Applause.)

Mr. NORCROSS (Mass.): I want to second the motion made by Compatriot Loomis. As the Constitution was read, it is perfectly legal for this Congress to recommend to the next Congress to adopt that amendment to the Constitution. A minor is a citizen; citizen does not mean voter; a person under age is a citizen of this country, though not yet entitled to vote; and there is no possible objection to this Congress adopting this resolution recommending the passage of an amendment at the next National Congress changing the words twenty-one to eighteen.

Mr. MILLER (N. J.): I would like to remind the delegates assembled at this National Congress that at Portland, Oregon, there was formed, by unanimous vote, the Society of the Washington Guard of the Sons of the American Revolution. Membership in the Washington Guard establishes the right of each member to become a member of the National Society of the S. A. R., and, as commandant of New Jersey Post No. 1, I would like to state that out of a membership of 60 we have now serving under the National Colors 9 members, and I can assure you gentlemen that there is not one member who is ashamed of the name of George Washington being connected with the S. A. R., and they are proud of their Society, the Washington Guard, S. A. R., and I would like to remind you that should you reduce the age limit of the S. A. R. it will endanger the Society of the Washington Guard, inasmuch as it will take the older members out of the Washington Guard, whom we need to further the work of a junior organization, and that the wearing of the rosette—the blue, white, and buff of the Washington Guard—they are proud to do.

Mr. CLARKE (Va.): Virginia is equally interested in this question. Many of our young men are in the service. One-tenth of the Virginia Society is now wearing one of those service bars, and we have other young men who desire to come into our Society. We have papers now of one which we are holding up until November to elect. He is in the aviation service. We hope he will live until November. I want to offer this, and put it through the machinery so it may be adopted at the next Congress, as an addition to the Constitution.

The CHAIR: I beg your pardon, Mr. Clarke. I think we can expedite this more rapidly by acting on the original motion, and whether it is carried or defeated, if it is defeated, then you will have an opportunity to present yours.

Mr. CLARKE: This is what I have to offer: It is further provided that any man 18 years of age and over, who is in the service of the war for the United States, may be eligible to membership in the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution under like conditions of men over the age of 21.

Let that appear as an addition to the Constitution, which provides the qualifications of members. This will come as a separate clause in the Constitution.

Mr. MILLER: It seems that the motion before us, which has been declared by the presiding officer apparently passed, does not seem to conform to the wishes of the Congress. I would inquire if we vote it down, if we are then hoping to introduce such a resolution in the same line as we want?

The CHAIR: That is exactly what I was trying to get Mr. Clarke to do, to hold this resolution, this amendment, until formal action had been taken. The decision of the Chair on the vote was questioned and a rising vote was asked for on the original motion for the adoption of the report.

Mr. MILLER: I withdraw that request and accept the finding of the Chair.

The CHAIR: Mr. Woodworth desires to speak just a moment before the question of the rising vote is taken.

Mr. WOODWORTH: This report was not made to delay; it was made with the intent of expediting whatever could be done in a legal and constitutional way. When it was suggested that it be referred to a special committee, the thought back of that was that that special committee would draft, if it saw fit in its judgment and found it possible, such an amendment to the Constitution and in such language as would cover the desires of all of us who are present. I do not think there is a man here but who would welcome with a cheer the opportunity of taking these young men in between the ages of 18 and 21; but we are bound here by a distinct legal Constitution and we must act in accordance with its terms, and if your committee had reported something which, in its judgment, was unconstitutional, it would not be performing its duty with which you have entrusted it; so when the motion was made by the speaker as referring it to a special committee, the idea back of that was that the President General would appoint an able committee that would immediately take this question up and draft the resolution or amendment sufficient to permit of doing what we all desire to be done. (Applause.)

The CHAIR: Those in favor of the passage of the resolution——

Mr. MILLER: I have withdrawn my motion and accepted the finding of the Chair.

The CHAIR: The question is on the report of the committee, and in order to have a clear determination on the part of this Congress as to its attitude I call for a repetition of that vote, and we will take this vote as a standing vote.

(The vote resulted in 60 for the adoption of the report and 30 against and the report was declared adopted.)

Mr. DOYLE (Ohio): I now move, as the sense of this meeting, that this committee that is to be appointed by the Chair take measures to expedite the proposition of amending the Constitution in order to admit our soldiers and sailors to hold membership.

Chaplain General FOSTER: Before next year?

Mr. DOYLE: As rapidly as possible.

Chaplain General FOSTER: That would be subversive of the Constitution, according to our Secretary.

The CHAIR: You have heard the motion of Compatriot Doyle, that this committee use every effort to expedite the membership of those eligible except for the age limit, to provide for their eligibility and admission.

Colonel BROWN (Pa.): The amendment suggested fixed the minimum age at 18. If the committee is to consider this matter and reduce the age at which those who are serving in the armies of the United States, of 18 years of age, may become members, I would suggest that instead of saying 18 years they say those who are regularly enlisted as soldiers of the United States Army, under the authority of the United States, be eligible to membership without reference to age.

The CHAIR: Soldiers or sailors.

Colonel BROWN: I want to say this, that I knew a boy 16 years old in the Civil War who earned a medal of honor granted by the Congress of the United States, and a lieutenancy for heroic services on the field of battle, and I think he, if otherwise qualified, should be eligible to membership in this splendid organization. Now I want to say this, that there were more than two hundred thousand boys during the Civil War who rendered gallant service to their country that were under 18 years of age; and I don't say that I rendered gallant services to the Government of the United States, but I am borne on the rolls at Washington, D. C., as two years older than I was, having enlisted at the age of 16.

The CHAIR: Colonel Brown, I assume that you intended to include those in the navy as well as those in the army?

Colonel BROWN: Yes, sir.

The CHAIR: Mr. Doyle, will you accept that substitute for your motion?

Mr. DOYLE: I have no objection.

A MEMBER: If I am right, the United States makes the age 18 before a man can enlist; if he is in the army under that he is under a misapprehension.

The CHAIR: Absolutely; if the man goes on record when he goes in, saying he is 18, he is 18. (Applause and laughter.) I hold, sir, that no man should question the statement of a soldier or a sailor in the United States Army as to his age. (Applause and laughter.) Any man who tries to dig into the records to prove the contrary is a pacifist or a pro-German and an entirely undesirable citizen. (Laughter and applause.) All those in favor of the motion offered by Compatriot Doyle, of Ohio, will manifest it by saying aye; opposed, no.

(The motion was adopted.)

The CHAIR: We usually begin our order of exercises with the Chaplain General, and in the special reports that are to come we will close with the Chaplain General. He desires to offer his report of his services for the year or the period, and the Chaplain General says that he will be very brief.

REPORT OF THE CHAPLAIN GENERAL.

COMPATRIOTS: From the great Northwest territory of the United States I bring you greetings and glad tidings. The cause we represent is dear to our hearts and has not waned, even under the awful strain and stress of the greatest war of all history. High-grade patriotism is very much in evidence in and around all of our noble cities, high mountains, and fertile valleys. Our sailor boys are as full of heroic fire as was Paul Jones, and our boys in khaki are as true patriots as the soldiers of Valley Forge or Yorktown. Calls are constantly coming into the office of our State Secretary for blanks to secure membership in the ranks of the Sons of the American Revolution, and the character of the applicants assure us that we are attracting the highest and best men in the land. Whatever zeal the heroes of 1776 had, and whatever influence they bequeathed to subsequent generations, the valor shown by our forefathers has certainly been forwarded on to our day with no diminution of intensity. There is just as much heroism today as was manifested at Bunker Hill or Yorktown, and our men are ready to sail over the high seas, infested by submarines and torpedoes, that they may aid the cause of liberty, freedom, and justice. Lafayette drew his sword to aid our cause and won from us undying gratitude. We were in sore distress then and he came to our relief; and today our legions are on French soil, thundering defiance to an oligarchy that would destroy life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. Our sons of the Sons of the American Revolution are giving a good account of themselves, and we are proud of our boys. There is not one slacker, skulker, bounty-jumper, or coward in the whole bunch, and from the data at hand we may well conclude there never will be. We belong to a race of liberty-loving people; we owe no allegiance to autocracy; we are perfectly competent to do our own thinking, to make up our own decisions, and need no dictation from barbarians or brutal Huns.

It is often charged that the clergy as a whole are very pacific, and some demand peace at any price. It may not be wise to try to answer for the whole body, but it is certain that when life and liberty are in danger the clergy will be for war. The number of clergymen now in the war is certainly phenomenal, and more are coming, having doffed the cloth; they are now in the orange drab and ready to preach, pray, dig, or shoot. Will you forgive a little personal sketch? When the day of registration came, I presented myself at the registration booth and asked to be registered.

"Are you a citizen of the United States?

"When and where were you born?

"Sir, I was born at La Porte, Porter County, Indiana, December 14, 1833, and am now in my eighty-fifth year.

"Step aside, sir; we can't take you; you are too young."

And I was down and out. I have seen six generations of my immediate family—my great-grandfather, Henry Batton, and from him to my two grandsons, an unbroken line of patriots of which any man might be proud.

As students of history we can find no page so bloody, no war so cruel, no massing of men so great, no implements for the destruction of life so potent, no expressions of hate so universal and so intense as at this time. It is not the Emperor of Germany alone, but the German people themselves who are the culprits. The nation itself is a unit and is backing the struggle. We therefore are compelled to fight a numerous, well drilled, fully equipped, and resolute foe. We are compelled to do some deadly work. Our missiles cannot be doled out in homeopathic doses, with the insignia on the spoon handle, Similia similibus curantur, but large hoppers of blue pills and plenty of phlebotomy. Nothing else will cure this national fever developed by the Germans, and the sooner the heroic remedy is applied the better.

ANNUAL REPORTS OF STATE SOCIETIES.

The CHAIR: Unless objection is offered, the reports of the various State Societies will be accepted and printed in the Year Book. The Chair hears no objection and it is so ordered.

The SECRETARY GENERAL: Membership statistics for each Society, showing the number of new members, reinstated, deaths, resigned, dropped during the year ending March 31, 1918, and the number on the roll April 1, 1918, are included in the report of the Registrar General. The activities and doings of the Societies and Chapters are related in the various issues of the OFFICIAL BULLETIN. A few special reports by State Societies are here given. The Empire State Society publishes an Annual Register, giving a full account of its operations.

ARIZONA SOCIETY.

The past year has been marked by some activities of the Arizona Society in keeping with the traditions and appropriate to this time of national conflict. When war was declared a general meeting of the Society was called for a luncheon as the guests of President Heard. Following this conference, to the membership of the Society in Phœnix was entrusted the arrangements for the first big patriotic rally on the anniversary of the Battle of Lexington, which was most successfully carried out.

While it has not been possible to make an accurate census of the war activities of our members, as only a very few have responded to the appeal sent out from National Headquarters for such information, it is known that four members of the Society are in the active service of our country. At least four sons of members are serving their country in various capacities. Our State President is chairman of the State Council of Defense and one of our members is at the head of the army medical work in Arizona. One member is supporting a hospital bed in France, and has not yet given up hope of having his services accepted as an ambulance driver of his own car, despite his age. It is believed that all the members are doing their share in Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Liberty Bonds, food conservation, and thrift campaigns in support of our country's forces behind the firing line.

The activities of the Society have been devoted to the procuring and presenting to two Arizona regiments in the National Army of stands of colors in the name of the Society and each staff appropriately inscribed. The flag for the 158th Infantry, National Guard, was presented at Camp Kearney, California, at a review held in honor of the Governor of Arizona, who is a member of our Society and who was accompanied by President Heard to make the presentation. The other flag was sent to the colonel commanding the 340th Field Artillery, National Army, at Camp Funston, Kansas. Both regiments are made up almost entirely of Arizona boys, and we trust to have our flags carried by them on the battlefields of France.

Fraternally yours,

CHAS. A. VAN DER VEER,
Secretary.

CONNECTICUT SOCIETY.

The Connecticut Society numbers 1,132 members, which includes 35 new members admitted during the year.

In July a complimentary dinner was tendered to Gen. E. S. Greeley at the New Haven Country Club by the Board of Managers.

In October the Board of Managers were the guests of Judge Morris Beardsley and Mr. S. F. Beardsley at the Brooklawn Country Club, in Bridgeport. At the meeting Judge Beardsley suggested that a committee be appointed to do something for the soldiers and sailors of the present war, especially relief for the families of any members of our Society that had enlisted, in case they be in need.

The War Relief Committee was appointed and have collected funds amounting to $1,511.

In December the Board of Managers were the guests of the seven Meriden members of the Board at the Winthrop Hotel.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a patriotic rally, to be held in New Haven, on Washington's Birthday.

The war-time lunch was served on February 22 at the Hotel Taft, in New Haven, President Wickham, of the Connecticut Society, presiding at the lunch. Governor Holcomb, of Connecticut, Mayor Hagerty, of Hartford, and members of the Society addressed the guests.

Following the lunch the members marched in a body to Woolsey Hall, in Yale University, escorted by the Second Company of the Governor's Foot Guard, where a big public patriotic rally was held, Governor Holcomb presiding. The singing of patriotic songs was lead by a Liberty Chorus of 150 voices. The members then listened to a splendid address by former Senator Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio.

The meeting in Woolsey Hall was held under the auspices of the New Haven War Bureau of the Connecticut Council of Defense.

In April the Board of Managers were the guests of the Hartford members of the Board at the Hartford Club.

During the year the State Society has subscribed $1,000 to Liberty Loan Bonds, and the Col. Jeremiah Wadsworth Branch, of Hartford, $450. The Honor List of the Connecticut Society now numbers 43 members, who are doing their bit in the United States Army and Navy.

In November the General Silliman Branch, of Bridgeport, gave a reception and war dinner, in honor of the National Executive Committee and other General Officers, at the Stratfield Hotel, which was attended by a large number of members of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mr. Lewis B. Curtis presided as toastmaster.

Mr. Curtis also gave a luncheon to members of the Executive Committee at the Brooklawn Club at noon and tendered his home for the business meeting of the committee.

At the annual meeting of the Col. Jeremiah Wadsworth Branch, of Hartford, addresses were made by R. A. Solymn, of the British-Canadian Recruiting Station, and Col. Calvin D. Cowles, of the United States Army. At a supper of the Branch, held in December, Lester B. Scheide, driver of the American Ambulance Corps, gassed in a cloud of smoking vapor and sent home to recover, told of his experiences at the French front. The Committee on Memorials reported that a boulder with a tablet would be placed in a few weeks in Windsor on the spot where stood the house of Daniel Bissell, the Revolutionary spy.

Fifty dollars was voted to buy wool for the Navy League to knit sweaters for the sailors.

At the spring meeting of the Hartford Branch Mr. Harry R. Williams gave an interesting talk on "Colonial Arms," explaining in detail the evolution, mechanism, and subsequent modifications of each type of gun invented from 1375. Mr. F. T. Moore, of the Colt's Pat. Fire Arms Mfg. Co., followed with a demonstration of the latest model of the Browning machine-gun, now used abroad by the American troops.

Respectfully submitted,

C. G. STONE,
Secretary.

MAY 6, 1918.

THE IOWA SOCIETY.

1. The Iowa Society has made a net gain of 47 members, after deducting 10 deaths, 3 resignations, and 3 transfers; making a net gain of 12 per cent on the number reported at commencement of the year.

2. The Society distributed bronze medals for best work in the study of the history of the United States—17 to colleges and 26 to high schools—having in 10 years distributed 333 medals.

3. The Society has bought $300 Liberty Bonds. Reports from 16 members show subscriptions of nearly $8,000 to Liberty Bonds by individual compatriots and no inconsiderable amounts given to Red Cross activities.

4. At the annual dinner of April 19, 1918, a service flag was dedicated carrying 42 stars, 2 of them golden.

5. The sentiment of the compatriots is in favor of an amendment to the Constitution lowering the age of eligibility from 21 to 18 years.

6. The Society has gone on record against the teaching of German in the public schools.

7. The Society would require, as condition precedent to naturalization of foreign born, that the foreigner learn to read and speak American to a degree equal to the 4th grade in the public schools.

ELBRIDGE D. HADLEY,
Secretary.

THE LOUISIANA SOCIETY.

The Louisiana Society has been reorganized during the past ten months, and with new officers and new zeal has made decided progress. President Churchill reports the enrollment of many members, with prospect of an increase of more than fifty within the next few months.

In December, at a general meeting of the Society, Compatriot E. T. Merrick, former President, gave an address on the history of the organization, and laid special stress on what the Louisiana Society had not done and should do in the future. This being the annual meeting, the new officers were elected.

Early in April a lecture was given by Mr. Andre Lafarge, who recited his experiences in January and February during his trip to France with four other residents of New Orleans on a mission to celebrate the centennial of the founding of New Orleans. His subject was "My Trip to France." Several hundred feet of films were exhibited showing views of this committee visiting in various points in France.

The next lecture was on May 7 by Compatriot Patterson, who for years has been an active worker in charity organizations.

On May 16 the Society celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of its founding by a dinner at the Restaurant Louisiane. Former President E. T. Merrick served as toastmaster. Addresses were made by Judge Milling, on "Lincoln"; by Henry W. Robinson, on "The Galvez Campaign"; by James L. Wright, on "Mothers' Day"; and by former President Elmer E. Wood, on "What shall we tell the boys that we have done when they come home?" The Society has contributed $200 toward the Armory Fund. The celebration was attended by 46 members and was a most enthusiastic meeting. The paper read by Compatriot Robinson on this occasion accompanies this report.

The Society has not been inactive in other directions. For example, it is building a War Fund, which is only just started. At this moment something about $1,000 is in the treasury for this special purpose. That particular amount of money has been raised among 15 of the 100 members. The balance of them have not been approached as yet. This money will be expended in the most judicious manner for Red Cross and other work connected with the war and for uses for which these organizations do not always have ready funds.

Medals have been donated—one each for the boys' and girls' high schools of this city—for the best essay on the subject, "Material Resources of Louisiana Available for the War." No doubt this will bring out some thoughts and some ideas as to the actual resources of the State.

The Society has just issued a 24-page booklet, giving a complete roster of the members and showing lots of other information that is very useful to the organization as a whole, special stress being laid on facts pertaining to Louisiana's assistance to the Colonies in the Revolutionary War. Copies of this booklet will be distributed to each of the other Chapters in the United States. More copies can be had on request.

Some historical work is also being done in regard to Louisiana's part in the American Revolutionary War, uncovering the really remarkable campaigns of Don Bernardo de Galvez in the years 1779, 1780, and 1781, and diligent search is being made for copies of roster of the troops that served with him, particularly during the year 1779, at which time his army of about 1,800 men was composed almost exclusively of Louisianians, a large portion of these being descendants of the Arcadians, those unfortunate people who had been expelled from Nova Scotia by the British. The descendants of every one of these men are eligible to the Society, and it is hoped that before long authentic records will be found.

There are a couple of pages in the booklet bearing on this particular question, but from an historical standpoint and for reference only.

C. ROBERT CHURCHILL, President.

The following paper on "Galvez" has been kindly furnished by Mr. Robinson:

GALVEZ.

Response to a toast at the banquet celebrating the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the Louisiana Society, Sons of the American Revolution, New Orleans, May 16, 1918, by Henry W. Robinson, Past President of Louisiana Society.

The story of Galvez is the story of Louisiana's part in the American Revolution. It is a story of romance, strategy, suffering, valor—the story of the events which destroyed the British power in the Gulf States and the British menace of attack on the American Army from the South. It is a story so full of the picturesque that it makes us regret Louisiana has not the plenitude of poets, romancists, and historians of New England and New York; for while Louisiana helped to make history, the deeds of our colonial times are little known, even to our people.

Bernardo de Galvez belonged to the most powerful family of Spain. His father was Viceroy of Mexico, his uncle Secretary of State of Spain and President of the Council of the Indies, a post almost equalling in political power that of the king.

In 1777 Bernardo de Galvez, as colonel of the Spanish regiment at New Orleans, was commander-in-chief of the Spanish forces. He was then 21 years of age. So that by the time he was but 25 years old he had won three brilliant campaigns against the British, captured their armies and ships in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, and Florida, and destroyed their military ascendance in the Southern country.

The achievements of this youth were not the incidents of accident, nor due to the guidance of older minds, for he acted where his chiefs held back, and by his personal bravery and leadership compelled their co-operation.

Spain appears to have been very friendly to the American forces. In 1777 and 1778 Oliver Pollock came down the Mississippi with canoes and was supplied with munitions and supplies for Fort Pitt and the Ohio outposts, which doubtless helped to make possible George Rogers Clark's masterly campaign at Vincennes and the routing of the British from the Western territory. Captain Willing, of Philadelphia, another agent of the American Army, was likewise furnished with military supplies and enabled to conduct from New Orleans an expedition against the British colonies on the Mississippi.

On May 8, 1779, Spain declared war on England, and almost immediately Galvez prepared to move against the British forts at Natchez and Baton Rouge. He collected a most remarkable army in New Orleans—a cosmopolitan force only possible in the New Orleans of that day. It consisted of 170 Spanish regulars, 330 militiamen, or recruits; 20 carabineers, 80 free blacks and mulattoes, Oliver Pollock, and 9 Americans. With these he marched toward Manchac, being joined on the way by 600 planters from the country and 160 Indians, so that his total army was 1,440 men.

On September 7, 1779, he captured Fort Bute, on Bayou Manchac, and at once pressed on to Baton Rouge, defended by a stout fort, with garrison of 400 regulars and 100 militiamen.

Galvez at once invested the fort, cannonaded it vigorously, and on September 21, Colonel Dickson capitulated—the surrender including Fort Pannure, at Natchez, a small post on the Amite River, and one on Thompson's Creek, in the West Florida Parishes.

This exploit made Galvez a brigadier general. He energetically reorganized his forces and sailed early in January, 1780, to attack the British at Mobile. A winter storm scattered his ships and partly spoiled his ammunition and provisions. He returned to New Orleans undaunted and in a few weeks again sailed. He invested Fort Charlotte, at Mobile, with such vigor that it capitulated on March 13.

Galvez at once determined to complete the divestiture of the British of any hold on the Gulf States by driving them out of Pensacola, and for that purpose visited Havana, where he sought and obtained aid. He sailed from Havana on October 16, 1780, but the next day a storm foundered some of his ships, dispersed the rest, and the expedition was deferred.

On February 28, 1781, Galvez, promoted to Mariscal de Camp, sailed from Havana as commander of one man-of-war, two frigates, several transports, and 1,451 soldiers, with complement trains of artillery. Nine days later the expedition arrived at the bar of Pensacola. The Spanish admiral held back from crossing the shallows in the face of the English guns. Galvez, fearing cannons less than storms and apprehensive that squalls might disperse the ships, entered a small boat and personally led the way and made soundings. The navy then followed. Fort George, defending Pensacola, was attacked by the vessels in front and by Galvez's land forces, reinforced by Espelita from Mobile and Miro from New Orleans. The fighting was continuous until May and the casualties heavy. The Spanish were harassed by English regulars and Indians, but constantly advanced their trenches, fighting with hand-grenades, howitzers, muskets, and bayonets. Finally a shot struck a magazine in one of the redoubts of the fort and blew it up, making a substantial break. Galvez immediately availed of this catastrophe and attacked.

On May 9, 1781, Fort George capitulated and the whole of West Florida, including the garrison of 800 men, surrendered.

It is, of course, possible that these brilliant campaigns of Galvez postponed by some years the incorporation of Florida, southern Alabama, Mississippi, and the east bank of Louisiana into the American Union. But it remains the historic fact that these defeats of British arms, coupled with Lafayette's victory at Yorktown, wonderfully heartened the American cause, correspondingly decreased London's determination to deny independentce to the Colonies, and so helped materially to shorten the war and bring us victory.

I have had opportunity to only bluntly sketch the facts of these campaigns. Their romance has been ignored. Some day, perhaps, we will have a great historical novel based on them. One of its chapters will be the tragic flight of the British colonists near Natchez. When news came of Galvez's expedition to Pensacola, the British at Natchez, believing that Galvez's fleet had been dispersed by storms, by stratagem captured Fort Pannure. Almost immediately came the true news of Galvez's brilliant success. Fearing the wrath of the Spaniards, the colonists, consisting of several hundred men, women, and children, fled in a desperate march through the wilderness to the Atlantic coast. One section was captured by the Americans in Georgia; the other, after 131 days of awful privation, starvation, and attacks by Indians, reached the British settlement at Savannah.

Galvez, hero of three wonderfully successful campaigns at 25, was crowded with honors. He was made Viceroy of Mexico—a king, in fact, of a larger empire than that of his imperial master. He died at Vera Cruz at the age of 38.

These events show that Louisianians, from their beginning, have acted history even when negligent of writing it.

MASSACHUSETTS SOCIETY.

Membership March 31, 1918	1,736

Of which 89 are life members and 3 are "actual sons" of soldiers of the Revolutionary War, viz: Elisha J. Faxon, of Salem, aged 86; Rev. Elisha Gifford, of New Haven, Conn., aged 85; and Cyrus A. Rockwell, of San Francisco, Cal., aged 79.

The State Society has held meetings on April 19 (Patriots' Day), Washington's Birthday, and a Field Day, at Lynn, October 12. The Board of Managers has held its stated meetings, with a good attendance, each month, excepting in July, with a special meeting in August.

Washington's Birthday was observed by a meeting and dinner at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, followed by an address by Prof. Melville C. Freeman, of the Roxbury High School of Practical Arts, on George Washington.

Much active work is being done for the extension of membership and the organization of new Chapters. The Board of Managers has attended the meetings of Chapters during the year at Springfield, Lynn, Lowell, Roxbury, and Boston.

During the year the S. A. R. 1917 Minuteman Committee has been actively engaged in the assistance to enlisted and drafted soldiers and sailors and their families, expending in money, $3,000; number of men assisted, 5,000; number of articles given out, 12,000. Supplies have been sent to every camp and fort in Massachusetts, to every New England State, to New York, New Jersey, North Carolina, Virginia, Texas, and Halifax, N. S.; also to French sailors on convoys in our harbors and our boys in France.

Twenty-five hundred certificates have been awarded for services rendered, going to nearly every State, to Washington, to Paris, to London, and Australia. Jellies, books, periodicals, and felt slippers have been sent to hospitals. Gloves, sweaters, wristers, mufflers, socks, helmets, comfort bags, games, and graphophone records have been sent to the soldiers. Medicine, stationery, and typewriting machines have been furnished to camps. Legal advice, dentistry, and chiropody supplied free, and through co-operation of Washington representatives, delayed payments have been secured for soldiers and dependents.

Membership April 15, 1918		586

The growth of this Society in Michigan has been greatly stimulated by a campaign for membership carried on by the Secretary, who procured a list of eligibles from the local Chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution throughout the State and from other sources, and to these eligibles, nine hundred in number, sent letters inviting them to become members. The effect of the above action may be noted in the fact that the increase in membership during the year has been 120, originating as follows: Detroit Chapter, 55; Kent Chapter (Grand Rapids), 24; St. Clair Chapter, 10; Houghton County, 5; Lenawee County (Adrian), 4; Calhoun County, 3; Jackson, 2; Sault Ste. Marie, 2; Pontiac, 2; Foster City, 2; and one each from Ann Arbor, Bay City, Howell, Mt. Clemens, Niles, Onaway, Petoskey, Utica, Menominee, Alpha, and Crystal Falls. Of these, 111 are new members; 5 were received by transfer from other State Societies, and 4 are old members reinstated. The loss of membership during the year was 6 deceased, 1 demitted to another State Society, and 2 dropped, making the net increase during the year 111, and the total membership belonging 586 on April 15, 1918.

Of the new membership, 24 are sons of members, 2 are grandsons, and 35 are in the service in the army or the navy. The total number of members of Michigan Society serving in the army and navy is 70. Of these, Detroit Chapter furnished 43, Kent Chapter 8, Washtenaw Chapter 2, Kalamazoo Chapter 2, and St. Clair Chapter 2.

Membership by Chapters April 1, 1918, was as follows: Detroit Chapter, 312; Wayne County (outside Detroit Chapter), 23; Kent Chapter, 82; Washtenaw Chapter, 21; St. Clair Chapter, 18; Kalamazoo Chapter, 13; Mt. Pleasant Chapter, 8; Calhoun County, 8; Macomb County, 7; Livingston County, 6; Oakland County, 6; Houghton County, 5; Jackson County, 5; Lenawee County, 5; 24 other counties, 41; members of Michigan Society in other States, 26; total, 586.

The annual banquet and election was held by the State Society at the Detroit Club May 14, 1918. The guests of honor and speakers were Mayor Templeton, British Army; Ensign Hale G. Knight, U. S. N.; E. G. Pipp, foreign war representative of Detroit News; Edgar Guest, of Detroit Free Press. Retiring President, George H. Barbour, was toastmaster. A most interesting account of his recent observations at the front was given by Mr. Pipp; personal experiences in the naval convoy service were related by Ensign Knight, and Mr. Guest gave a reading of original patriotic poems.

The total number of members serving in the army and navy is 70, out of a State membership of 586.

Detroit Chapter.

The Detroit Chapter held it annual meeting and election of officers, June 1, 1917, at the Board of Commerce. President Dr. Stephen H. Knight told of the support of the Society to the Red Cross campaign and of its material assistance extended to members of the naval militia by raising a fund for their relief and comfort. The report of the Secretary, Raymond E. Van Syckle, showed an increase in membership of 25 during the year and loss by death of two. The Historian's annual report, presented by William Stocking, stated that the year was an especially eventful one for Detroit Chapter, its meetings having been dominated by the national needs arising from the European war. The activities of the Membership Committee were described by Carl F. Clarke, chairman; Entertainment Committee, Julius E. Thatcher, chairman; Patriotic Education, Benjamin F. Comfort, who described the military units in the high schools and credited the Sons of the American Revolution with having been largely instrumental in bringing about the increased activity in the education of aliens in the municipality; National Defense, Gen. Charles A. Coolidge; Patriotic Legislation, Walter M. Trevor; Historical, Frank D. Taylor; George W. Bates, chairman of the Flag Committee, gave an interesting account of the flag law and violations, illustrating same with posters. The report of the Memorial Committee was made by Charles M. Woodruff. The report of the Public Welfare Committee was presented by Dr. Walter P. Manton, illustrated with stereopticon views of the conditions in the alleys in the outlying districts of Detroit.

The Detroit Chapter held its first meeting of the present season on November 16, 1917, at the University Club, when a narrative was given by Captain Baxter, Canadian Expeditionary Forces, of his experiences at the front in command of a company. The Committee for the Relief and Comfort of the Michigan Naval Militia reported collection and disbursement of $205.67 in its behalf. The Surgical Dressings Committee reported $830.77 collected from members and disbursed. On January 19, 1918, at the University Club, an address was given by Rev. M. S. Rice on observations at the front during his recent visit to the Allies' lines. On February 16, 1918, a reception to the Chapter was tendered by Dr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Knight at their home. The guest and speaker was Sous-lieutenant Jean Becker, French Army, stationed at Camp Custer, who told what the American Army would experience in France. The officers of the Daughters of the American Revolution assisted in receiving. Reports of the progress made by the Yarn Committee were made by Regent Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Knight. The Committee of the Detroit Chapter, S. A. R., to solicit funds for the purchase of yarn, reported that it had obtained and turned over to the Daughters $1,000.

St. Clair Chapter.

The St. Clair Chapter, located at Port Huron, was organized on March 11 with 17 members, including Milton R. Purdy, an actual son of a Revolutionary soldier. The officers of the Chapter are as follows: President, Burt D. Cady; Vice-President, Sydney E. McLouth; Secretary, William R. Chadwick; Treasurer, Albert D. Bennett; Historian, William L. Jenks; Chaplain, A. L. Chamberlain.

Kent Chapter.

Kent Chapter held its annual meeting in Grand Rapids on January 11. The officers elected were: President, Charles N. Remington; Vice-President, Charles M. Alden; Secretary, W. T. P. Spooner; Treasurer, T. J. Barker.

The serving of refreshments at meetings of the Chapter has been discontinued during the war as a patriotic effort to assist in the conservation of food.

The Secretary's report showed a membership at the beginning of the year of 52 and at the end of 78—a net gain of 26.

During his incumbency of the office of Secretary, Mr. Remington, by searching the records of the State and National Societies and the files of the daily newspapers, together with such information as he was able to gather from the later members of the Chapter, has compiled a comparatively complete history of this Chapter, and also a complete genealogical record of all present and former members of the Chapter. He has also placed copies of both the history and the genealogies in the Grand Rapids library.

Respectfully submitted,

Raymond E. Van Sickle,
Secretary.

Please accept the following as the annual report of the New Jersey Society of the Sons of the American Revolution:

During the last year the New Jersey Society has kept up its previous record of always being ready to meet any patriotic emergency that might arise. We are exceptionally proud, and justly so, of our record this year. If the patriotic work of the Chapters of this Society were to be written in detail, it would require more space than can be allotted to us at this time; but suffice it to say that invariably the chairmen of the Red Cross, the Liberty Loans, and Y. M. C. A. drives were always members of this Society, and that in no instance did they fall short of reaching their quotas, and in most cases they oversubscribed. Patriotic work as taken up by the New Jersey Society, through its Board, is given in more or less detail.

On February 5, after a stirring Board meeting, the following telegram was sent to the President of the United States:

"The 1,200 members of the New Jersey Society, Sons of the American Revolution, stand to a man back of you and your administration in the crisis now facing our country.

"CHESTER N. JONES, President."

At the suggestion of the President of the New Jersey Society and after consultation with the military authorities at Washington, the matter of presenting all the Sons of the American Revolution serving in the military or naval service of this country with a suitable and distinctive decoration was referred to the President General, and the service bar, which now is worn by all compatriots in the service, was selected as being the most suitable and appropriate decoration that could be worn by these compatriots. On June 19 it was the privilege of this Society to present to Major Lord, a fellow-compatriot, the first service bar to be presented to any of our members in the service. At the same time a storm flag was presented to his battalion—the 1st Battalion of the 5th Regiment, New Jersey.

In September a Red Cross ambulance of standard make and fully equipped was presented to the Newark Chapter of the American Red Cross and was assigned to Ambulance Unit No. 33 of the United States Army, one member of which is a fellow-compatriot.

In October the matter of remitting dues of all compatriots in the military or naval service of the United States or of our Allies was presented to the Board of Managers and was then referred to the National Society.

In November, through the courtesy of four of our compatriots—J. Thornley Neff, Thomas W. Williams, Samuel Clark, and David L. Pierson—the New Jersey Society was enabled to present to the Y. M. C. A. division at Camp Dix an American flag for each one of their nine buildings, and several worthy original prints, suitably framed, were also presented at this time for each one of these huts.

In December a committee was appointed to send to each one of our members in the service a Christmas remembrance in the form of a man's box containing tobacco, candy, toilet accessories, etc., nearly all of which arrived at their destination in time to be a real Christmas surprise to each one of those fellow-compatriots.

During the first Liberty Loan drive the New Jersey Society purchased two $500 bonds.

In order to stimulate the increase in the membership of this Society, insignia were offered to the members securing the largest number of new candidates and next to the largest number of candidates. These insignia were awarded at the annual meeting to Compatriot E. O. Cyphers, M. D., having secured twelve members, and Richard L. Riker, who secured nine members. We might add at this point that all officers and members of the State Board were excluded from competition for these insignia.

The annual meeting of the New Jersey Society, Sons of the American Revolution, was held on April 20, 1918. Rev. Lyman Whitney Allen, D. D., First Vice-President, in the absence of the President, Chester N. Jones, presided, as the latter is serving on the United States Shipping Board and was unable to be present.

Reports of the various officers were read and approved and the following resolution adopted:

"WHEREAS the present war has demonstrated anew that the soldier is as necessary for the safety of the State in the present as he has always been in the past, and has also proved that our government cannot furnish an army within a reasonable length of time; and

"WHEREAS military training is beneficial for both the individual and the State, making the one a better man and giving better security to the other; therefore be it

"Resolved, That Congress should enact a law without delay that will call for universal military training for every male inhabitant between the age of 18 and 45 that may be found fit for service, thereby providing a reserve that will furnish an army without loss of time or waste of money and insure the future peace, safety, and honor of our country:

"Resolved, That the New Jersey Society, Sons of the American Revolution, indorse the foregoing, and the President and Secretary of said Society send copies of same to the President, the Hon. Geo. E. Chamberlain, of the United States Senate; Senators Joseph S. Frelinghuysen and David Baird and Hon. Julius Kahn, House of Representatives, and each member of Congress from New Jersey."

The various officers of this Society have represented us at nearly all patriotic gatherings of similar societies that have been held during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

S. ALBERT CLARK,
Secretary.

OHIO SOCIETY.

The past year has been quite prosperous, and a majority of the Chapters held monthly meetings during the fall and winter months. Two new Chapters have been organized and sixty-six members have been recruited during the year.

Several of the Chapters observed Washington's birthday anniversary by holding patriotic services, joining with the D. A. R. and other patriotic societies.

One of the most interesting meetings held on that date was by the newly organized "Tarhe" Chapter, at Lancaster, Ohio, joining with the D. A. R.

The principal address was delivered by Rev. I. L. Dungan, who has just joined the Chapter. A fine musical program was rendered and the meeting was pronounced one of the most successful patriotic meetings ever held in that historic city.

The other newly organized John Stark Chapter, of Massillon, Ohio, held an interesting meeting February 26, completing their organization and arranging for regular monthly gatherings.

Members throughout the State have been very active in patriotic work in connection with the Red Cross and war service with other societies.

In response to a circular sent out by the State Society suggesting teaching the "proper display of the flag," and other patriotic services, many of our members have been active along that line.

The following extract from the circular has received very favorable comment as being appropriate at this time:

"In these critical days of our country's history every citizen, whether native or foreign born, should always be glad to say of America, 'this is my country,' and his proudest boast should be, 'I am an American citizen.' He should look upon the Stars and Stripes as the dearest flag that floats, and that he will ever be ready to toil, endure hardship, make sacrifices, face danger for the preservation of our land and defend it with life and honor against any and all foes. He should believe in America first, last, and all the time. He should do this as a duty to the living, that the generations rising up may be made to feel that the noblest act of man is to love his country better than himself or kindred and be willing, if need be, to die for her safety and well being, as have thousands of our soldiers in former wars."

We have sent out to members of the Society now in the United States Army the "Service Bar" and ribbon of the Society, which they are entitled to wear, to quite a number of soldiers, and are making an effort to locate all of our members now in the military or naval service.

We are still continuing the location of graves of Revolutionary soldiers buried in Ohio.

W. L. CURRY,
Secretary.

UTAH SOCIETY.

The Utah Society has had a most successful year and promises a continuation of its activities.

The Society was represented at the Newark Congress by a full delegation, consisting of Hon. George Albert Smith, Prof. Levi Edgar Young, Col. George H. Penrose, and Fred A. Hale.

The Society is represented on the Executive Committee of the Third Liberty Loan, in the State of Utah, by the President, Hon. George Albert Smith, and the Society has purchased a $500 bond.

The Twenty-fourth Annual Banquet was held at the Hotel Utah, Salt Lake City, February 22, with an attendance of 137 members and guests, including lady guests.

The guests of honor were former United States Senator, George Sutherland, who came from Washington to address the banquet, and the Governor and the former governors of the State.

Medals for patriotic oratory have been presented during the year, by the Society, at the Agricultural College, Logan, Salt Lake City High School, and the University of Utah, handsome gold medals being given in each case, and the events were most successful.

The Society was represented at the business meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Society, held at the Hotel Martinique, New York, May 24, 1917, by former President, Hon. Chauncey P. Overfield.

The Society has forty-five members, or 22 per cent of its total membership, in the service of the war, which is, without doubt, the highest record of any of the Societies comprising the organization.

G. L. HUTCHINS,
Secretary.

PATRIOTIC STATUETTE.

The CHAIR: Compatriot Parks, of Washington, desires to speak a few minutes; I give him one minute.

Mr. PARKS: I want you to see this statuette. It is the product of one of the most distinguished sculptors in the United States, Mr. Henry K.

Bush-Brown. He offered copies of this for sale to the State Societies in order that they may present them, if they wish, to the various schools throughout the country. It is typical of peace. When you consider the standing of Mr. Brown as a sculptor and examples of his work in almost all the large cities of the United States, I hope you will pay attention when you receive the circular in regard to this statuette. It is not an advertisement, but something that appeals in a patriotic way to the Society, just as the Statue of Liberty at the entrance to New York Harbor appeals, and it is with the intention of promoting patriotism by some occult object which the children and aliens can understand. It will be fully described and the membership in the Societies throughout the country will have full directions in regard to it. I have exceeded my minute. Thank you. (Applause.)

AWARD OF TRAVELING BANNER.

The CHAIR: Now, gentlemen, the next important business before the house is the presentation of the traveling banner. Your Secretary and Registrar General advises that the State of Virginia, which had it last year, will yield it to the State of Wisconsin, which, through its numerical increase in membership on the percentage basis, wins the banner for this year. I will ask Mr. Clarke, the President of the Virginia Society, and Mr. Sands, of the Wisconsin Society, to get ready immediately for that presentation. Come forward, please.

Mr. CLARKE (Va.): Mr. President General and Compatriots, this flag was provided by the Colorado Society. I think it is a beautiful piece of needle-work, a superb flag. This flag is presented to the Society of 100 or more members making the greatest percentage of net increase of membership during the year.

Very unexpectedly the Virginia Society was notified that they had been awarded this flag last year. It came as a great surprise to us; although we had done good, hard work, we did not know that we had won the flag until the Secretary General so advised us. We had it at our last meeting, on the 22d of February, and are very sorry to hear that we are not going to retain it. This flag has been won by a number of Societies, and on the flag-pole it says, "The traveling banner, presented by the Colorado Society, Sons of the American Revolution; won by Societies as follows: Iowa Society, Maryland Society, New Jersey Society, Kentucky Society, Maryland Society, Nebraska Society, New Jersey Society, Washington State Society, New Jersey Society," and now Virginia passes it over to the Wisconsin Society. I hope it will be an inspiration to your Society. (Applause.)

Mr. SANDS (Wis.): I am indeed proud, as a Son of the American Revolution, representing the Wisconsin Society, to receive this beautiful banner, and I am sorry to say that the man who did so much to earn it cannot be here today, our President, Walter H. Wright, one of the noblest men in the State, who lost his dear wife recently. It put him behind with his work, so that he could not possibly be here. Mr. Walter

Wright has spent lots of valuable time helping people look up their genealogy. You all know it requires a whole lot of work, and he has certainly been a wonder at the work, and it is through him largely, in fact mostly, that we have this banner today. I thank you. (Applause.) I want to ask for the key to the box.

The CHAIR: That will be given you later, and the key to the city too. I am very sure there was never a better act of retributive justice than to send that flag of the American Revolution to the State misrepresented by Bob La Follette, and I hope to God you will see to it that he sees the flag and knows it is there. (Applause.) The next thing is the presentation of the Syracuse Banner to the State that has enrolled the greatest number of new members during the year. I will ask President Vail, of New Jersey, and President Read, of Massachusetts, to come forward.

AWARD OF SYRACUSE BANNER.

President VAIL: We have held this flag ever since it was offered by Syracuse and we had hoped to have it again this year, but the good State of Massachusetts outbid us, and I do not know of any State we are gladder to give it to, since we cannot retain it. I take pleasure in handing you the flag for enrolling the greatest number of new members.

Mr. READ (Mass.): Mr. President General and Delegates to this Congress, it is a great pleasure, as President of the Massachusetts Society, to receive at your hands this beautiful flag, which tells us that Massachusetts has added the largest number of any State during the present year. The fourteen delegates from Massachusetts will carry this flag home with them. We shall guard it, during the coming year, sacredly. We will exhibit it at all possible meetings of our Society. We shall carry it back to the Old Bay State, which embraces within its borders Plymouth and Lexington, Concord and Bunker Hill, and the Old State House in Boston, of which John Adams said in his later years, "Here the child Independence was born." It was the home, as you know, in Revolutionary days, of Samuel Adams, father of the Revolution, and of John Hancock, who was the first to sign the immortal Declaration of Independence; and now, in the more modern days, it has been the home of Samuel Francis Smith, who wrote that splendid national hymn, "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." Within ten minutes I have heard the strains of that hymn resounding in this hotel. And then it has been the home, in later days, of Julia Ward Howe, who wrote that other magnificent hymn, "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory of the Coming of the Lord." I want to say just one word about the principles we have followed in the last two or three years, which have brought to us this splendid banner, and perhaps you may remember, Mr. President, that we almost captured it two years ago. We have now what we call a Committee on Increase of Membership. I am not going into the details of the workings of that committee, but I will honestly say that if the various States will do their part, as we have done in Massachusetts, or if, in a larger sense, the National Society will take up that work, the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution five years from now will not number fifteen thousand, but thirty thousand. And so, Mr. President, I close. (Applause.)

INVITATIONS FOR 1919 CONGRESS.

The CHAIR: Compatriots, an opportunity will now be offered, in accordance with our usual and regular custom, of listening to invitations, if there be such, for the entertainment of the next Annual Congress of the Sons of the American Revolution. I have in my hand a telegram addressed to the Sons of the American Revolution.

DETROIT, MICH., May 20, 1918.

President General of Sons of the American Revolution, in Congress Assembled, at Rochester, N. Y.:

Detroit extends greetings and best wishes for a most successful convention, coupled with an urgent invitation to hold your next meeting in Detroit. A number of Detroit delegates expressed the wish to be honored with the next Society meeting, and your Michigan State membership, including former Governor Chas. Osborne, urge the acceptance of Detroit's invitation.

J. LEE BARRETT.

The CHAIR: I recognize Mr. Robertson, of Baltimore.

Mr. ROBERTSON (Md.): The Maryland Society sends to the National Society an invitation to come to Baltimore next year, and if you will accept it, we will certainly make you comfortable and give you as good a time as possible. That is for 1919 or the next Congress held of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Mr. BARBOUR (Mich.): I am more than pleased to hear the words of that telegram. Detroit is known to all of you; at the recent date, we think it is nationally known, and we believe we can take the best of care of you. We have the best of hotel accommodations. We have a lot of people that we did not formerly have. We have a lot of automobile institutions, and besides that, while many of you think that the automobile business is all we have got in Detroit, it is only 15 per cent of our manufacturing interests, and we can show you a good time and make your stay there very pleasant, I know. (Applause.)

The CHAIR: The invitations that have been extended will be referred to the Board of Trustees for action.

Mr. READ (Mass.): Three years ago it was my privilege to extend an invitation to the Congress to meet in Massachusetts in 1920 and I merely wish to reaffirm that invitation. We shall certainly hope to have you with us in 1920, the tercentenary of the Pilgrims landing in Plymouth.

Mr. SANDS (Wis.): Wisconsin Society, at its Board meeting, instructed me to ask the delegates to meet with us in Milwaukee next year. I know we could give you a splendid time in Milwaukee. Come to Milwaukee and we will throw the doors wide open to you. We have a beautiful city on Lake Michigan. We have beautiful farms, we have one of the finest museums in the country, and one of the best zoos. We have some of the largest manufacturing plants in the whole country and we have all good wishes for Detroit and Baltimore—the city of my ancestry—I'd like to go there. Milwaukee is the most central of any city that has been named. Many of the delegates go at their own expense. I came here at my own expense, and I think to have the meeting place as central as possible would be a good idea, and I invite you, on behalf of the Wisconsin Society, to come to Milwaukee next year.

The CHAIR: That will also be referred to the Board of Trustees.

The CHAIR: I desire to say, in supplementing the statement of Mr. Barbour, that Michigan is more nearly surrounded by water than any other State in the country. (Laughter and applause.)

Mr. BARBOUR: That reminds me of the statement made by ex-Governor Bagley, when he was Governor of the State. In receiving a body of gentlemen, he said: "Gentlemen, you notice what a beautiful river we have; fine water. But I want to caution you not to take too much of it in your stomach." Now I want to say that while we are a prohibition State some of you may get sick; somebody may not feel well, and we have it all provided for you. (Laughter and applause.) Don't let that have any effect on you in coming to Detroit. We will take good care of you.

Mr. HILL (Mich.): I wish to add to that a cordial invitation to Detroit. Anybody who has ever been to Detroit knows our record in entertaining strangers. We have made it a business there for a number of years. We have opportunities that very few cities have for giving you a great time on the water, and we can either hold our meetings on board of a vessel that will accommodate not only ourselves, but four or five times as many, and if it is warm weather we can enjoy that with a band on board, if you so desire, and I can assure you that Detroit knows how to entertain strangers. On the other hand, if it happens to turn cold, the gentleman who just took his seat can keep us warm, because he manufactures more stoves than any other institution in the world.

The CHAIR: I just wish to add one word. The man who has extended the invitation from Michigan is a wholesale druggist. (Laughter and applause.) I think there is collusion.

Judge REMINGTON: I think we ought to hear from a pickle manufacturer from Detroit.

Mr. BARBOUR: We have got them.

Mr. COLE (Iowa): I want to second the motion of Mr. Sands that we go to Milwaukee. I know of no place on earth where a little leavening will do more good than it will in Milwaukee.

The CHAIR: As the Chair has stated, it will be referred to the Board of Trustees. Kindly consider that everything that can be said that is good of all three of the cities has been said, and there is nothing bad that can be said about any of them, and leave it to the Board of Trustees.

Mr. ARNOLD (R. I.): I wish to second the nomination of Baltimore for the Convention for 1919.

ELECTION OF GENERAL OFFICERS.

The CHAIR: The next thing is the election of officers. First in order is the nomination of a President General. Do I hear a nomination for President General of the Sons of the American Revolution for the ensuing year?

A MEMBER: Would it not be in order to appoint tellers, in the first place, to canvass the vote? I move you that we proceed to the election of officers and that the Chair appoint three tellers to count the vote.

The CHAIR: That is a very proper suggestion. The President General will take it for granted that that is the wish of the Society, and without going through all the routine will, unless objection is offered, appoint three tellers. They will be Compatriots Clarke, of Virginia; Sands, of Wisconsin, and Turner, of Maine. And now are there any nominations for President General? If so, the Congress will listen.

Past President General PUGSLEY (N. Y.): Mr. President General, Ladies and Compatriots, in taking the platform to make an impromptu nomination for President General, I do not know but what I feel very much like the versatile Shakespeare when he put into the mouth of Falstaff the words:

> "Would it were bedtime, Hal,
> And all well."

The Sons of American Revolution at this particular time have a very important task before them. We need at this time men who have visions of the past in this country; men who stand for the ideals of liberty and who will ever stand for those ideals; men who, I believe, will ever have true Americanism in their lives and in their hearts. We want in this country not hyphenated Americanism, but true-blooded Americanism. (Applause.) We need men who will stand like men of steel for that which our forefathers won, and I believe that we need the type of man who has graced the President General's chair during the last two years (applause) in the person of Elmer Wentworth, of Iowa (applause)—a man of splendid character and ability and 100 per cent American. (Applause.) I had hoped that we could have prevailed upon him to have continued in office for another term, but I understand that he feels that he should be placed among the modest Past President Generals. Now I believe that in this great Society there are numbers of men thoroughly fitted for President General. I am sure that the State of New York would have been glad to have cast their vote for that splendid citizen of Connecticut, Lewis B. Curtis (applause), and also Dr. George C. F. Williams, of Connecticut (applause), and also for John L. Merrill, of our old State of New Jersey (applause), and our old compatriot, Mr. Henry, of Michigan. (Applause.) And there are many others, but compatriots of other States have drafted a man from New York and have asked me to place him in nomination. He is a man most thoroughly equipped by executive ability, by a splendid character, by a true patriotism, for in city, in State, and in our national life he has been a potent force in the upbuilding of true Americanism. (Applause.) Some one in poetic vein has said that:

"There are two kinds of people
In this world, I ween,
The people who lift
And the people who lean."

The man whom I wish to present to this Congress is a man who lifts every time and who does not lean, and it gives me very great pleasure to present to the Congress a man whom we, of New York, love because of the work and the service that he has rendered in the interests of the Empire State Society as its President for a number of years, and it gives me pleasure now to present to the Convention the name of Louis Annin Ames, President of the Empire State Society of the S. A. R., for President General. (Applause.)

(The nomination of Mr. Ames was seconded by delegates from ten States, and he was unanimously elected.)

Vice-Presidents General were then unanimously elected as follows: For New England District, Charles French Read of Massachusetts; for Middle and Coast District, Thomas W. Williams of New Jersey; for Mississippi Valley, East District, Albert M. Henry of Michigan; for Mississippi Valley, West District, C. Robert Churchill of Louisiana; for Mountain and Pacific District, Thomas A. Perkins.

For Secretary General and Registrar General Mr. A. Howard Clark was duly elected and Mr. John H. Burroughs was duly elected for Treasurer General.

The CHAIR: Compatriots, it is an honor and a pleasure that is always conferred upon the retiring President General to introduce the newly elected President General. It is a pleasure as well for him to introduce to the Congress his successor, and I have that pleasure, at the present time, of introducing to you one of the strong, active, earnest, and energetic men of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, Louis Annin Ames, of the Empire State Society, your President General elect. (Applause.)

President General AMES: It is not necessary for me to confess that it is impossible for me to express my inmost feelings at this time. I deeply appreciate the fact that you have bestowed upon me the highest honor within the gift of the Sons of the American Revolution. I sincerely recognize the grave responsibilities that accompany that honor. I am deeply touched by the gracious tribute you have paid me in the manner in which I have been elected. I did not know, until midnight last night, that my name would come before this Congress for this honor, when the suggestion was made to my own State Society by the delegates from other Societies. Then how can I say more than, like Coriolanus, "I thank you, I thank you." In accepting this office, I desire that you should know that I consider it more than an honor, I consider it a call to intensive service for the ideals for which this organization stands, and I pledge you all that I possess in power and energy, the best of my ability, to further the interests of our beloved Society. (Applause.)

The CHAIR: The President General desires to call Vice-President General Turner to the Chair for a moment.

(Vice-President General Turner takes the Chair.)

President General WENTWORTH: Compatriots, when I was elected President General of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, I determined to use, in every way possible, the privileges and abilities of the Vice-Presidents General. Present at this Congress are Mr. Thomas Wright Williams, of New Jersey, and Mr. Philip Foster Turner, of Maine. It was my pleasure and privilege yesterday to leave the Chair so that the senior of the two gentlemen present could occupy the Chair and preside over the Congress for a brief interval which the time and our business permitted. I now have equal pleasure in retiring, so that my friend and your Vice-President General, Philip Foster Turner, of Maine, may have the honor of presiding over the most distinguished body of men that gathers in the United States in the course of one year. (Applause.)

Chairman TURNER: Compatriots, it is unnecessary for me to say anything at this late hour in response to what your President General has said. The next order of business, as I understand it, is the election of Historian General.

(Mr. George Carpenter Arnold of Rhode Island was thereupon duly elected as Historian General and Rev. Lee S. McCollester, D. D., as Chaplain General.)

(President General Wentworth takes the chair.)

ELECTION OF TRUSTEES.

The CHAIR: Next in order is the election of the Board of Trustees of the National Society for the ensuing year.

The SECRETARY GENERAL: These are elected on nomination of the State Societies. Where they fail to nominate, the President of the State Society becomes ex officio a member of the Board.

The CHAIR: Will you read the names of those who have been reported to you as nominees of the State Societies?

(The Secretary General reads the list of nominees.)

The CHAIR: Gentlemen, you have heard the recommendations of the various State Societies for Trustees from the various State Societies to the National Society. The Chair will be glad to entertain a motion that the rules be suspended and the Secretary General cast the ballot for the list of names recommended by the various State Societies for Trustees for the ensuing year.

(A motion in accordance with the chairman's suggestion was made and adopted.)

The CHAIR: The motion is adopted, the ballot has been cast by the Secretary General for the names as read, and I will declare them all elected. In cases where no Trustee was nominated by the State Society, the President of that Society will be the Trustee ex officio and his name will be added to the list.

PATRIOTIC MEETING AT RICHMOND.

Mr. CLARKE (Va.): May I say a word? The presence of this French officer here today brings to my mind a splendid meeting we held in Richmond on the 22d of February. Our Society, the Virginia Society of the S. A. R., and the Sons of the Revolution had a joint meeting. We invited French officers, British officers, and American officers at Camp Lee to be with us and had addresses. We had two of the French lieutenants, a major, and captain of the British Army and three generals of the American Army, besides lesser officers of the British and American armies, and we had the Belgian Consul present and the British Consul, with their flags, and had a most inspiring meeting. Now I want to suggest, not as a motion, but as a suggestion, if in your meetings you can get some of these foreign officers to be present it will add very much interest to your meeting, and get them to make speeches. Major Dunlap, of the British service, and Lieutenant Bosh, of the French, made some superb addresses at that meeting. The next meeting we have will be in July, when we will celebrate the 300th anniversary of the first Legislative Assembly that ever met in America, July 30, 1619, at Jamestown. I have a full copy of the proceedings of that general assembly. There were eleven settlements then in Virginia, and each one of them elected two burgesses to the assembly, which met in the church at Jamestown, and in July next year we will celebrate the meeting of the first Legislative Assembly that ever met on the American Continent. (Applause.)

ADJOURNMENT.

The CHAIR: And now, compatriots, in laying down the duties of this office, I wish to give to each and every one of you my hearty pledge for future service, in so far as ability lies in me, in the work of the S. A. R. I want to thank you for the splendid co-operation that you have given that has made the past two years in the S. A. R. such a signal success. It was due to the individual efforts of you as much as it was to the individual efforts of me. I thank you from the bottom of my heart, and I now resign the collar and the insignia of the National Society of the President General of the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution and hang it round the neck of the man than whom none is more worthy to wear it. (Applause.)

A MEMBER: I would like to make a motion that we give a rising vote of thanks and three cheers for President General Wentworth. (This was done.)

(President General Ames takes the chair.)

President General AMES: I am very happy to announce, as the first business of your newly elected President General, that the vote of thanks to Past President General Wentworth was unanimous. Before announcing the close of the Congress, I wish to give notice that there will be a meeting of the Trustees here in this room immediately after adjournment, and I will ask Brig. Gen. Philip A. Reade, of the U. S. Army, retired, to blow taps.

(This was done.)

There being no further business, the Congress thereupon adjourned sine die.

A. HOWARD CLARK,
Secretary General.

SOCIAL FUNCTIONS.

The social functions connected with the Congress included (1) a luncheon on Monday noon at the Hotel Seneca, given to delegates and ladies by the members of the Irondequoit Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, when addresses were made by Mrs. Frank F. Dow, Regent; President General Wentworth, Mrs. A. Howard Clark, Mayor Preston, of Baltimore; Colonel Vrooman, and others; (2) a reception on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Yates; (3) an automobile ride on Tuesday afternoon through the city parks; (4) a banquet on Tuesday evening at the Hotel Seneca in honor of delegates and ladies, when addresses were made by the retiring President General and the President General elect, by Lieutenant Dewierzbicki, of the French High Commission, and by Hon. James T. Du Bois, former Ambassador to Colombia.

Religious patriotic services were held in the Central Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, May 19, at 7.30 o'clock. Delegates marched from the Hotel Seneca to the church, escorted by Company 3, Rochester Home Defense League. The sermon was preached by Rev. C. Waldo Cherry.

MEETINGS OF TRUSTEES AND EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

(Minutes of meetings of Executive Committee in May and November, 1917, are printed in the Official Bulletin of June and December.)

MINUTES OF MEETING OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, MAY 20, 1918.

A conference of the Executive Committee, duly called by order of the President General, was held at the Hotel Seneca, Rochester, N. Y., on the afternoon of May 19, and the proceedings were formally ratified at a meeting at 9 a. m., May 20. Present at the conference were the President General, Past President General Woodworth, Mr. Curtis, Mr. Ames, Mr. Henry, and Mr. Merrill of the committee; also Secretary General Clark, Historian General Pierson, Chaplain General Foster, Gen. Philip Reade, Past President General Beardsley, and Mr. Williams.

The minutes of the meeting of the committee on November 14, 1917, as published in the December BULLETIN, and action taken since that day by correspondence were approved.

It was voted to accept with gratitude a bequest of $2,000 from late Compatriot Zebina Moses as an addition to the Permanent Fund and to ratify the action of the President General in authorizing the investment of the bequest in Liberty Bonds.

Mr. Curtis was requested to prepare a tribute to Compatriot Moses for presentation to the Congress.

After some discussion of the feasibility of establishing a grade of junior membership in the Society, Mr. Woodworth, Mr. Ames, and Mr. Nevins were appointed to submit a recommendation on the subject to the Congress for its consideration.

The President General announced that Judge Beardsley, Mr. Henry, and Mr. Foster would be appointed the Committee on Resolutions offered at the Congress.

There was informal discussion of various matters to come before the Congress.

There being no further business, the meeting then adjourned.

A. HOWARD CLARK,
Secretary General.

MINUTES OF MEETING OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES, MAY 20, 1918.

A meeting of the Board of Trustees, duly called by order of the President General, was held at the Hotel Seneca, Rochester, N. Y., at 9.30 a. m., May 20, 1918. Present, President General Wentworth, Secretary General Clark, President Fred A. Smith of Illinois, Colonel Houk of Ohio, President Read of Massachusetts, Vice-President General

Turner of Maine, President George A. Smith of Utah, Chaplain General Foster, Vice-President General Williams, Philip F. Larner of the District of Columbia, and Mr. Pettengill of Maine.

The minutes of the Trustees' meeting on May 16, 1916, as published in the National Year Book for 1916, were approved.

It was voted that the action of the Executive Committee in carrying on the business and activities of the Society since May 16, 1916, be approved.

Amendments to Article IV and Article XI of the By-Laws were announced for action at the next meeting of the Board.

There being no further business, the meeting then adjourned.

A. HOWARD CLARK,
Secretary General.

MINUTES OF MEETING OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES, MAY 21, 1918.

A meeting of the Trustees elected at the Rochester Congress was held at the Hotel Seneca, on call of the President General, immediately after the adjournment of the Congress. Present, President General Ames, Mr. Wentworth of Iowa, Mr. Clarke of Virginia, Mr. Smith of Utah, Colonel Elliott of Delaware, Mr. Henry of Michigan, Mr. Read of Massachusetts, Colonel Houk of Ohio, Historian General Arnold of Rhode Island, Secretary General Clark, Mr. Pugsley of New York, and others.

The following nominations by the President General for members of the Executive Committee were approved: President General Ames, chairman; Elmer M. Wentworth of Iowa, Chancellor L. Jenks of Illinois, Lewis B. Curtis of Connecticut, John Lenord Merrill of New Jersey, John M. Reifsnider of Maryland, George E. Pomeroy of Ohio.

Mr. Henry recommended that the Executive Committee prepare a map defining the boundaries of the Vice-Presidential districts.

Invitations for the entertainment of the 1919 Congress were received from Detroit, Baltimore, and Milwaukee. After consideration, it was voted to accept the Detroit invitation and to thank the Societies in Maryland and Wisconsin for their courteous offers of hospitality.

It was voted that the Executive Committee be, and is hereby, empowered to make appropriations for such expenses as may be proper to be incurred in furthering the work of the Society.

It was voted that the Executive Committee be, and is hereby, empowered to act on such matters referred to the Board of Trustees by the Congress, or such new business as in the judgment of the President General may not require the action of a meeting of the Board.

The following amendments to the By-Laws recommended by the Connecticut Society and the National Executive Committee, notice thereof having been given at a meeting of the Trustees on May 20, were unanimously adopted:

Amend Article IV so as to read:

The Vice-Presidents General shall, in each of their respective districts, seek in every manner to promote the interest and activities of the National Society and of the State Societies within their jurisdiction; encourage the formation of new chapters and the enrollment of new members. They shall represent the National Society in the absence of the President General on any proper occasion, but acting at all times under his direction and control.

Amend Article XI by eliminating present Section 3 and renumbering present Sections 4 and 5.

There being no further business, the meeting of the Trustees was then adjourned.

A. Howard Clark,
Secretary General.

MINUTES OF MEETING OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, MAY 21, 1918.

A meeting of the Executive Committee, duly called by the President General, was held at Rochester, N. Y., on the afternoon of May 21, 1918. Present, President General Ames, Mr. Wentworth, Mr. Curtis, and Mr. Pomeroy, of the committee, Secretary General Clark, and Vice-President General Williams.

Appropriations were voted for carrying on the affairs of the Society during the year, including $500 toward expenses of the Detroit Congress; $500 for expenses of office of President General; salary of Secretary General and Registrar General and necessary office expenses, including clerical assistance, as during the past year, and for necessary traveling expenses of the Secretary General in attendance at the Annual Congress and meetings of the Executive Committee and Trustees, and for traveling expenses of Treasurer General in attendance at the Annual Congress.

It was voted that during the period of the war the October issue of the Official Bulletin be omitted, and the Secretary General was authorized to reduce the expense of the issues for June, December, and March as much as he deemed advisable.

It was voted that the National Year Book for 1918 be published in a limited edition, free distribution to be made only to the General Officers, Executive Committee, Trustees, two copies to each State Society, one to each Chapter, one to each delegate at Rochester, and to the usual list of libraries. Such additional copies as may be available may be sold at cost price.

The Secretary General was instructed to edit the contents of the Year Book by condensing debates and omitting unimportant matter. Such amount as may be necessary was voted for printing and distributing the Year Book.

The President General was authorized, at any time when he shall so desire, to submit by mail or telegraph any matter requiring the action of the Executive Committee to the several members thereof, and that any vote so taken by mail or telegraph shall have the same force and effect as if the Executive Committee had been convened in special session and action taken at such specially called meeting.

The Secretary General was instructed to ascertain and report to the committee what arrangements could be made for the manufacture and sale of the grave-marker adopted by the Congress for general use by the National Society.

There being no further business, the committee then adjourned.

A. HOWARD CLARK,

meritorious or otherwise, I think we should ask ourselves whether we have lived up to the responsibilities which such inheritance entails, whether we shall escape the ignominy that inevitably comes to those who hold and enjoy a precious treasure that has been given them, without realizing the duty of transmitting it to their descendants not only intact from injury, but broadened and developed into a still richer legacy.

It is indeed fitting that I should speak to you of our forefathers of the Revolution, themselves descended from those strong sons of a mighty mother, who without casting off their allegiance to the government of Great Britain, separated themselves as far as possible from immediate contact with rulers who had set at naught the principles of justice, mercy, and truth and succumbed to the evil influences of material success achieved, of power established and extended, and the corruption that follows after both. Needless to point out to you, sons and daughters and students of the Revolution, that the basic qualities of the men of the last half of the eighteenth century were an inheritance from those expatriates of the first quarter of the century before, to deride whose frailties rather than to acclaim their virtues, has long been the fashion in a succeeding and in some respects a decadent age. No stronger testimony to their sterling worth, it seems to me, was ever given than the unconscious tribute which lies concealed in the sneering witticism of the brilliant essayist of the last century, who said: "They (the Puritans) hated bear-baiting, not because it gave pain to the bear, but because it gave pleasure to the spectator." Clever and learned and cultivated as Macaulay was, he failed to see that the encouragement of the instinct of cruelty in the character of man, which caused him to find enjoyment in witnessing the sufferings of others, was infinitely more to be deplored than the effect of that cruelty upon the lower animals. And the ennobling of human character was the key-note of their enterprise. Their conduct was based on a peculiar intimacy (as they believed) with a Superior Being; to know and to do His will during a period of probation, and so fit themselves for the enjoyment of an eternity in His presence, was the mainspring of their lives; all earthly distinctions were as naught when compared with their heavenly ambitions. This God whom they worshiped was the very personification of justice, wisdom, and truth, so that to serve Him and to justify their hope of an everlasting habitation in the sunlight of His presence they must at all times deal justly and walk righteously. This sincere belief gave a special dignity to their character. Their conception of liberty was a narrow one, as a more enlightened and more tolerant age now regards it; but it was circumscribed only by what they deemed a divine law, and, mistaken as they may have been, it were infinitely better for the human race if virtuous liberty, by reason of its disregard of law (under which alone true freedom may be found), had not to some extent at least degenerated into vicious and destructive license. The conditions existing in the Colonies during the period immediately preceding the Revo-
